Petroleum Industry Faces Light Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has voted to impose a relatively light new tax bite on the petroleum industry for the immediate future.

The tax-writing panel, climaxing a marathon meeting Tuesday night, tentatively agreed to impose a new windfall profits levy. But the proposal would raise virtually no additional revenue from American oilmen who would be exempt from the provision if they pump their energy crisis-generated profits back into the hunt for new energy sources.

The committee also gave temporary approval to a partial phase-out of the petroleum industry's 22 per cent depletion allowance. The allowance is worth about $2 billion annually to petroleum companies.

This phase-out plan is expected to bring in about $150 million next year, when it would take effect. However, by 1981, if fully effective, it could raise some $2.8 billion.

Under the current allowance, 22 per cent of gross income from oil and natural gas property can be deducted from taxable income up to a top of 50 per cent of taxable net income.

The committee also tentatively agreed to several changes in the tax treatment of domestic petroleum company income earned abroad, but these also are expected to yield relatively little new revenue.

The committee decided to use a sliding scale, based on rising oil prices, to phase out the depletion allowance over five years — but agreed that the allowance could not drop below 15 per cent for the first 3,000 barrels of oil daily per producer.

Following that five-year period, however, the allowance could disappear when 75 per cent of all oil is not eligible for the allowance over a year's time.

The committee essentially went along with the administration's proposal for a windfall profits tax.

But the committee then added its so-called plowback feature, by which oilmen could escape paying this levy if they plow back their profits into exploration and development of new energy sources.

Ohio Farm Bureau Spokesmen Visit Washington, D.C.

By STEVE JONES
Editor, The Herald

The Ohio Farm Bureau invaded Washington D. C. Monday and Tuesday on the annual Congressional Spokesmen's Trip. Dale Bower, a Pickaway County grain farmer, was the Ohio Sixth Congressional District spokesman.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform Ohio Congressmen on how the Farm Bureau and Ohio farmers stood on proposed legislation effecting the agriculture community.

The five main points which they discussed with Congressmen were:

1. Opposition to the extension of wage and price controls for another year;
2. A balanced budget for the coming year (President Nixon's Budget projects a $9.4 billion deficit spokesmen were told at one of their briefings);
3. Opposition to government held reserves of agricultural commodities;
4. Support of some form of federal land use planning legislation that would encourage planning on a local level;
5. Opposition to abandoment of rail lines that serve the agricultural community.

The itinerary, after arrival in Washington, included: on Monday, a luncheon at the Skyline Inn where Congressmen John Seiberling of Ohio's 14th Districh spoke on land use planning legislation and its application in the states; a meeting at the State Department where they were briefed on the significance of agriculture in establishing and maintaining international relations; a supper at the Skyline Inn with John Datt and other members of the American Farm Bureau Federation Washington Staff; on Tuesday a breakfast with Ohio Congressmen in the Rayburn House Office Building; individual visits with congressmen and finally a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Butz at the United States Department of Agriculture building.

At the meeting with Congressman William Harsha, the Sixth District Representative informed Bower that he was opposed to a wholesale abandoment of railroads not only because of the economic impact but also because of the social effect it could have on communities.

The congressman told the Sixth District contingent which included Richard Burch, Tri County Organizational Director; Nelson Embry of radio station WNRE and myself, that congress has been "legislating by crisis the last couple of years" and the proposed railroad cutback and reorganization is just such an action.

It was the congressman's belief that what has been initially proposed and the final bill will be a great deal different. For Pickaway County, it has been proposed that the Penn Central Line west from Circleville through Williamsport, Atlanta and New Holland to Washington C.H. be abandoned. The Penn Central east through Stoutsville and Amanda to Lancaster while not definitely proposed to be abandoned at this point is not considered essential according to the proposal.

Harsha said the current energy crisis will definitely have an effect on the railroad reorganization, making it much less drastic than originally proposed.

In response to the Farm Bureau's stand on wage and price controls, Harsha was in complete agreement. "I don't like price controls. We must let them drop and allow the law of supply and demand to take over again. We must realize that we are in a world market and the world market controls our supplies and prices."

On Land Use Planning legislation, Harsha said, "I don't want a federal zoning law because of the diversification of the needs of the many states." The congressman indicated he would like to see legislation that encourages local communities to enact their own land use planning regulations.

Harsha commented very little on balancing the budget but left the contingent with the feeling that it is impossible.

In the Tuesday afternoon meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Butz, the Ohio Farm Bureau congressional spokesmen were told their most important job was "to educate the people in their congressional districts on the basic factors effecting food prices." He said there is tremendous pressure on the Administration in Washington to do something about food prices.

ROUNDTOWN

THROUGH the graciousness of the Pickaway County and Ohio Farm Bureau Federation we were guests on the annual Farm Bureau's Congressional Spokesman trip to Washington, D. C. . . . It was exciting and educational and gave us a better insight on how the Farm Bureau Federation gets its message through to Congress and the Administration . . .

We were impressed with Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz and when we left a meeting with him we felt that here was a man not afraid to express his opinion nor to fight for his beliefs . . . We were unimpressed with a spokesman for the State Department who spoke on the significance of agriculture in establishing and maintaining international relations . . . We left that meeting knowing little more than when we went in . . .

We were delighted with a visit to the prestigious Washington Press Club where our hostess was Linda Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance of Derby . . . The Washington Press Club has opened its membership to women reporters only since 1971 and Linda is a vice president of the organization . . . A graduate of Ohio State in agriculture communications, Linda is affiliated with Commodity News Service which keeps its ear tuned to the agricultural economic scene and those national and world happenings which will have an effect on the prices of farm commodities . . .

We enjoyed a visit with Ohio Sixth District Representative William Harsha and left feeling that here was a man with a sympathetic ear who would do his best for his constituents . . .

The only disappointing part of the entire trip was the menu for the breakfast with Ohio Congressmen where we were served "soft boiled bacon and scrambled eggs sunnyside up" . . . We know that bacon wasn't from Pickaway County hogs nor those eggs from Pickaway County hens.

DID you know that Circleville was supplied with mail service at a very early stage of the town's development . . . The first mails were carried between Columbus and Chillicothe thus coming through Circleville with early mail delivery . . . One of the earliest postmasters was Caleb Atwater who was succeeded in January, 1822 by George Wolfley . . . Rural free delivery from the Circleville post office was established in 1901 with one carrier, John W. Lewis . . . The following year, six more carriers were added to the staff.

Major Changes Approved In Ohio Probate Court Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State representatives turn their attention to campaign financing reforms today following their approval Tuesday of a major bill changing Ohio's probate court laws.

The House scheduled a 1:30 p.m. vote on a bill that sets limits on amounts candidates may spend seeking public office and establishes an Ohio Elections Commission to serve as a watchdog for potential campaign abuses.

In other business, a second attempt is expected—in as many days— to spring the so-called "Saturday night special" gun control bill out of the House Rules Committee.

The main sponsor, Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, said his measure failed to get out of the committee for assignment to a floor vote Tuesday by a single vote. "There was one absentee, and he's going to vote for it," Galbraith said.

The Lucas County lawmaker's bill would outlaw the manufacture and sale of cheap handguns defined in the legislation as those which warp or melt at 800 degrees Fahrenheit. Expert testimony given the House Judiciary Committee said the definition would cover most easily obtainable weapons that sell for about $20 or $25.

Galbraith's bill is seen as a compromise between those who tried unsuccessfully to get an outright ban of pistols placed on a statewide ballot along with sportsmen and others concerned about their rights.

Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, won 91-0 House approval of the probate bill which goes mostly to the area of inheritances by a spouse or close relative of a deceased person.

He said the measure, which now goes to the Senate, increases the rights and benefits of surviving spouses and eliminates certain complicated legal requirements. Wilkowski called present laws "archaic."

Although the bill makes more than 100 changes in the existing statutes, some of its major provisions would:

—Assure a spouse of the first $10,000 of an estate plus a $5,000 allowance, in cases where no will was left. Present law requires the spouse to share 50-50 if there is one child or to collect one-third if there was more than one child.

—Provide that a decedent's automobile could be turned over without being considered part of the estate for taxation purposes.

—Allow a "mansion house," or homestead, and one acre of ground to be turned over to a spouse with only one-half interest being subject to the estate tax.

—Eliminate a requirement for a surviving spouse to post bond.

—Permit non-residents to serve as administrators and executors.

—Allow a surviving spouse to receive immediately any wages or income due the decedent up to $1,000. The present limit is $300, accompanied by a 30-day waiting period.

—Permit waiver of appraisals if an asset's value is "readily attainable."

In other business, the House approved and sent to the Senate bills permitting speed limits on municipal streets outside downtown areas to be lowered from 35 to 25 miles an hour, defining the southern shore line of Lake Erie, and requiring the state to share with local governments the cost of primary and special elections called by the state in non-election years.

Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, won 55-21 approval of the Lake Erie bill after explaining that the state needs to define "where the lake ends and the river begins." He said lake waters that "intrude" into rivers and streams flowing into the lake would set a boundary at the furthermost point of their intrusion, under the bill.

The Senate passed two bills but the major action of the day was in the Senate Ways and Means Committee, which recommended confirmation of five Ohio Lottery Commission members appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

It killed, however, a bill that would have changed the site of the lottery headquarters from Cleveland to Columbus. The site was picked by the commission on a 3-2 vote.

Ways and Means Chairman Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said he disagreed with the commission's choice but noted the General Assembly had given it authority to select a site.

"If this bill is to move," he said of the measure authored by Sens. Donald Woodland and Robert O'Shaughnessy, both of Columbus, "it will set a precedent for someone who disagrees with any organization charged to make a decision."

Reps. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, and Harry Turner, R-76 Mount Vernon, introduced a bill in the House that would make Mansfield the lottery headquarters.

Rep. Arthur Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, also put in a House bill to earmark the lottery revenues for school construction. They are scheduled to go into the state's general funds.

The Senate passed two bills by 31-0 votes. Both now go to the House.

One would allow county boards of education to be their own fiscal officers and hire their own clerk. The other would permit Ohio University to give back to Belmont County a building and land it used for a branch until it constructed its own.

A bill regulating private and commercial fishing in Lake Erie which resulted from a study commission appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan. It was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Marigene Valuquette, D-11 Toledo.

Gasoline Shortage Not Going Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American motorist will continue to face a gasoline shortage and he'll pay higher prices for the fuel, despite the end of the Arab oil embargo, President Nixon and his energy chief have said.

Nixon, opening a news conference with the National Association of Broadcasters in Houston Tuesday night, said, "We still have an anticipated shortage of perhaps 5 to 8 per cent in the United States."

Earlier, federal energy chief William E. Simon told newsmen here, "Gasoline is going to cost more and so is heating oil."

A shortage such as that mentioned by Nixon means Americans would have about the same gasoline supply as during the first week of March, when long lines at gasoline stations seemed to vanish suddenly. A 5 to 8 per cent shortage would be a great improvement over the 14 to 20 per cent shortages of February, when motorists waited in line for hours.

The return of Arab oil, Nixon said, would not close the gap completely, although he said it would rule out rationing and mean the end of the Sunday ban on gasoline sales.

"... It will be necessary to continue our voluntary program of car-pooling and also of slower driving," Nixon said of the anticipated shortage.

Simon had explained earlier in the day that as the higherpriced Arab oil returns to the U.S. market, it will raise the average U.S. cost of oil, creating increases in fuel prices to the consumer.

Neither Simon nor Nixon estimated the extent of the price impact but Simon's deputy, John C. Sawhill, has guessed the price of gasoline could hit 70 to 80 cents per gallon at the pump this summer.

Energy officials hope these high prices will at least take the sting out of the remaining shortage by causing motorists to voluntarily reduce their gasoline use.

Simon and Nixon also said that energy problems, in general, would not disappear with the shipments of Arab oil.

The mandatory federal petroleum allocation program would continue, but industry and agriculture would be able to operate "at full capacity," Nixon said.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP)—The counterbalancing influences of more plentiful fuel and more expensive money left the stock market virtually at a standstill today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.68 at 871.25, but losers led gainers by a small margin in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said Wall Street was welcoming President Nixon's announcement Tuesday night of increased fuel allocations. However, they said, the enthusiasm was dampened by a quarterpoint increase in the prime lending rate posted by New York's Bankers Trust.

A 100-000-share block trade at 10 helped push CNA Financial down 5/8 at 9 7/8, to the top of the Big Board's most-active list.

1974 Appropriation Adopted By LE Board

The Logan Elm board of Education met Tuesday night in an extended session of the regular monthly meeting. Among the resolutions passed was the adoption of the appropriation measure for 1974 on a permanent basis.

One resignation was accepted by the board. Mrs. Mariam Hood, a teacher at Pickaway Township School, submitted her resignation so that she may accompany her husband to New Guinea. The board approved the employment of Patricia Faulk to fill the position as of March 29.

Several policies were approved pertaining to the students, the clerk of the board and severence pay. A policy was passed on excessive absenteeism on the part of students. Any student missing 30 days or more of a school year shall receive no credit for the courses he is taking unless a written recommendation by the building principal is placed in the student's permanent file explaining the extenuating circumstances.

According to state officials, each board of education must adopt a written policy covering the vacation time for the clerk. The board approved the policy granting ten working days or two weeks vacation to the clerk on the first anniversary of employment or on Jan. 1, whichever is appropriate. After the fourth year of employment, the clerk will be granted 15 working days or three weeks vacation. Any vacation time not used by Dec. 31, may accumulate to a maximum of 20 working days.

Working in mutual cooperation with the Logan Elm Teachers, a severence pay and confidentiality form policy was adopted to become effective April 1.

A report was given to the board granting the approval to purchase five new replacement buses by the transportation department of the state of Ohio. It is definitely established that a critical need for replacement buses exists, however, the board order is dependent upon passage of the operating levy which will be voted upon in May.

In other business, the varsity basketball coaching position was discussed with the head coach, David Little. Action was then taken not to re-employ him in the coaching position. The meeting was adjourned with the resolution to continue the unfinished business on March 26 at 8 p.m.

Ashville Annexation Hearing Held Today

A hearing on the annexation of approximately 133 acres into the village of Ashville was heard before the Pickaway County Commissioners this morning. Wayne Hines, Robert Liston Jr. and Dick T. Tootle heard arguments both for and against the proposed annexation in the common pleas courtroom 10 a.m. until noon.

Spokesmen for the land developers and architects were present to explain the character of the annexation and to answer questions from the roomful of interested parties.

Guy Leatherwood, petitioner for the annexation, said that the growth of the Ashville area would occur anyway either because of its relationship to the metropolitan area of Columbus or in spite of it.

Phillip Martin of the firm working with Leatherwood on the development of the project explained the possibilities of the area and the proposed land development. He said they were trying to develop the land to the betterment of the community. The project includes 176 one-family homes on the north side of Route 752, very light industry along the railroad and multiple-family units and shopping facilities near Route 316.

Plans for the homes have gone through FHA for insurance purposes but will be financed through commercial banks and conventional loan companies. Martin said several of the businesses of the Ashville area have shown interest in the shopping center and four to five stores have written letters of intent to establish themselves in the new center.

He did agree that the biggest problem to encounter was the sanitary sewer system and an adequate water supply.

Bob Brant from the architectural firm in Columbus which has been working on the plans for the development presented sketches of the proposed shopping center and the apartment buildings. The development of the area will be done in three phases. The proposed shopping center will start in the first phase with approximately 50,000 square feet and four to five stores. Brant said the center would be in a market type environment and would be developed approximately one mile from the center of the village.

Houses proposed by the plan would range in cost from $28,000 to $33,000 and would be completely landscaped. They would be approximately 1400 square feet plus full basements. One of the arguments for the annexation was the fact that the housing was needed and it would attract the young people to stay in the community. The shopping facilities would also attract those who come into the area to make their money and leave the area to spend it.

Kynn Kreuzer, an owner of part of the property proposed for development, said a loan for over $500,000 had already been approved for five apartment buildings in the area. The buildings would include all two-bedroom units.

Major questions from Ashville residents included the assurance of the completion of the project, influx of students into the already crowded schools, water problems and the condition of the present streets, sidewalks and sewers in Ashville.

A spokesman in favor of the annexation said the project would add approximately 300 additional children into the schools but reminded the project would take up to four years to get underway. He also pointed out that a performance bond would assure the completion of the area.

An additional argument against the annexation was the people buying these $30,000 home could not afford to vote for a levy for the schools. William Pritchard, an Ashville resident, said that the village could not take care of the streets and sidewalks they had already without adding more to the town. He said at his home, he did not have sanitary or storm sewers but would be assessed for them when they were installed. Many of the residents were hesitant to accept the proposed annexation.

The county commissioners will announce their decision as to the annexation after they have considered all the argument presented at today's hearing.

Booth Sees Nixon Out Before 1977

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Odds are less than 50-50 that President Nixon will complete his second term in office, the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says.

Arch Booth offered the forecast Tuesday, the day before the annual meeting of the Ohio State Chamber of Commerce. Booth was the scheduled keynote speaker.

Booth said the chances President Nixon will resign or be impeached appear to be growing daily. But he said he's against such a move—unless Nixon is guilty of criminal offense.

Resignation, in particular, would "weaken our government," he declared. Instead, constitutional procedures for the removal of the President should be followed.

Booth added he presumes the President is innocent, until proven guilty.

The chamber, meeting in a business session, elected 14 new members to its board of directors and re-elected 25 others.

Kidnaping Attempt Bungled

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A gunman forced himself into a Decatur residence in an apparent kidnap attempt, only to find out he had the wrong victim, police have disclosed.

Police and FBI agents said Tuesday they were looking for a man who appeared Monday at the home of John H. Burns, a Decatur businessman. They said the man, who identified himself as a pottery salesman, produced a gun when Mrs. Burns appeared at the door and forced his way into the home. Burns was at work at the time.

The man thought he was in the home of Charles Huthmacher, an attorney and trust officer at Citizens National Bank of Decatur, police said.

The Burnses recently moved into a home formerly occupied by the Huthmachers.

The intruder phoned Huthmacher at the bank and told him he was holding Huthmacher's wife and would kill her unless Huthmacher paid him $35,000, police said.

Huthmacher contacted police and together they went to the Huthmacher home, where they found that everything was all right.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Burns convincd the gunman that she was the wrong woman.

Amtrak Boosts Fares Effective April 16

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak says mounting fuel and labor costs as well as inflation are forcing it to raise fares nationwide by 5 per cent.

Amtrak, the National Rail Passenger Corp., announced Tuesday that the fare hike would go into effect April 16.

The rate boost is intended to produce about $12 million in additional revenue, the corporation said.

A Page Of Opinion

Coppers Days Numbered

Copper pennies have been around a long time, although they have shrunk in size from some of the earlier quarter-sized coins. But their future seems decidedly limited because of the rising prices of metals, including copper.

The U.S. Senate already had decided the penny should be made of aluminum, and the House of Representatives is waiting only for tests by the coin vending industry to follow suit. The question of conversion could become moot if many more months elapse.

Gresham's Law will come into play the moment the intrinsic value of the copper in a cent is more than a penny. At that moment the coppers will begin to disappear from circulation, joining the old silver quarters and dimes in back of bureau drawers.

A Capitol Idea

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There are now so many lawyers involved in the concentric circles of Watergate, and so many labyrinths of the law, that I'm beginning to feel sorry for the blokes who will be assigned to cover the Presidential Inauguration of January, 1977.

Dick and Pat will still be around, of course, as will the girls. Like other departing Presidents before him President Nixon will make a valiant effort to conceal his faint contempt for the man who will be succeeding him that wintry day on the steps of the Capitol. James Buchanan considered Abraham Lincoln some kind of a nut for even wanting to succeed him.

The presence of the Nixons on the Inauguration stand, along with such treasured old friends as John Ehrlichman, Bob Haldeman, John Mitchell, Maurice Stans and Rose Mary Woods, will tend to make coverage of the induction of the new President as difficult, say, as the set of circumstances that used to cause nightmares among old-time baseball writers. To wit:

Final game of the World Series . . . bottom of the ninth at Yankee Stadium . . . Cardinals leading 3-0 . . . two outs . . . bases loaded . . . Babe Ruth at bat . . . the count is two-and-three . . . Babe hits the next pitch out of the park for a record-setting home run . . . Yankees win game and series . . . pandemonium . . . but ball hits President Roosevelt on head in his open car (he had left the game early to beat the crowd) and kills him. Question: How do you start your story?

The problem of the reporter in 1977, the way legalistic things now shape up, will be how to account — in the first paragraph — for all the facets of an unprecedented Inaugural. Might go something like this:

"By John Dean III. (Ed Note: Dean, after his great acquittal in 1976, became Washington correspondent for the newly merged New York Times-News-Post-Sports Illustrated-Cosmopolitan.)

"Well, folks, here I am at the Inauguration of President George Wallace, to the best of my recollection. This could be a case of mistaken identification, of course. But I'm reasonable sure that also present on the platform are President Nixon, former Vice President Agnew, whose case is pending on the over-crowded calendar of the Supreme Court, according to Jack Anderson, Jr., and dozens of others who are close to Mr. Nixon, including process servers. It's real crowded there on that platform, folks, so crowded that President Wallace had to leave Mrs. Wallace home in Montgomery, and old Chief Justice Warren Burger will be forced to administer the oath on an Avon paperback Bible. There's Martha Mitchell in the first row, holding hands with John. The $20,000,000 movie about their romantic reunion, starring Robert Redford as John and Raquel Welch as Martha, opens tonight at Madison Square Garden. Mr. Nixon and Vice President Ford won warm applause from the crowd of nearly a thousand onlookers as they marched arm-in-arm to the stand. It was a mighty popular move they made at ten o'clock this morning, their joint statement that they would yield the Executive Office to Mr.Wallaceand his Vice President, Mrs. Wallace, even though the language of the 22nd Amendment— 'No person shall be elected to the office of President more than twice' — is deliberately vague and open to partisan interpretations by unfriendlies, as good gray Ron Ziegler put it so wisely last night on the Gerry Warren 7 o'clock news, formerly the Walter Cronkite Show.

"Conspicuous by their absences today are member of the House Judiciary Subcommittee, still busy studying whether to submit an impeachment report on President Nixon to the full House. Also missing today is the dean of House Democrats, Wilbur Mills, who issued a famous statement 'way back in March of 1974 that Mr. Nixon would resign within a month or so after the release of a report on his situation. Mr. Nixon will answer that today on the TV networks, which have given him equal time to first answer President Wallace Inaugural Address. It is believed that Mr. Nixon will reveal that he has received a Congressional apology from the income tax subcommittee, and a refund check for $594,601. 37 from the I. R. S. It will pay for new guttering at his several estates, where he plans to write his award-winning 'My 12 Crises.'

"Now a hush settles over the throng as the first of the four benedictions— Greek, Jewish, Catholic-Lutheran, Protestant, and Zen-Buddhist — begins. This will be followed by the new National Anthem: 'Hail to the Chiefs,' written last night as a substitute, in case today's ceremony is ordered by Judge Sirica to show cause why there can't be two Chiefs. The matter is now before the Appellate Court, and both Evans and Novak have split up over that, and which has legal rights to the word 'however.' Also pending in other courts: the question of the missing tapes, and the plea by Dr. Fielding that the plumbers ruined his couch. Dr. Elsberg has his own attorney in this long-running legal case: Prof. Archibald Cox . . ."

And so on.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity and problems, a questioning of basic economic assumptions and less involvement by the federal government are among the projections being used by a major bank in planning for the year 1985.

Bankers have a tendency to count years before they occur, but usually their most serious projections are confined to the very immediate future. But for its own internal use, the Continental Illinois National Bank went further.

It foresees the Gross National Product, or the total of all goods and produced and services provided, as rising from about $1.3 trillion in 1973 to nearly $2 trillion in 1985 — and that's after discounting for inflation.

Yes, they expect inflation to continue, at a rate averaging close to 3 per cent between now and 1985. Otherwise that GNP figure would come out to something like $2.85 trillion.

Measured in constant dollars, nearly 60 per cent of all families are expected to be earning $10,000 or more in 1985 — the percentage was about half that in 1970 — and the median income is foreseen rising to $12,-000 from $8,600.

But just as inflation and higher than usual interest rates are likely to persist, the bank's forecasters told its staff, so will it be more difficult in the future to achieve a jobless rate near or below 4 per cent.

The savings rate, which during the past three years topped 8 per cent briefly, is foreseen as averaging around 6 per cent, or only slightly lower than average of the decades of the 1950s and 1960s.

The cult of youth is expected to fade as the birth rate declines to two children per woman, but the percentage in the 25-44 age bracket is projected to rise significantly. And that means more housing — nearly double the 1960s rate.

Women will be in the ascendancy in job markets, income, influence, power. Over the past 20 years female employment grew by about 70 per cent, while male employment rose 20 per cent. That trend is expected to continue.

Continuing another trend, the economy is expected to become even more service-than product-oriented, meaning the majority of jobs will be in trade, transportation, finance, the professions and the like rather than in manufacturing.

Expectations of changes in society's attitudes and values toward business, the quality of life, work, income, living standards and the like conceivably could present some touchy problems.

The forecasters seemed convinced that the federal government will be less a factor in individual lives than during recent decades, at least in regard to the spending of public revenues.

Internationally, the report concludes that "on a relative basis, the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer." This, it said, "is not a problem that can be ignored by the managers of multinational firms and financial institutions."

Especially as world trade accelerates, the forecasters said, there will be increasing attention focused on the issue of world income distribution."

Ex-School Chief Wins Lawsuit In Athens County

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A judge here has ordered the reinstatement of George Christman as superintendent of schools in Athens County.

Common Pleas Court Judge Lowell Howard ruled Monday the board of education didn't have sufficient cause to fire Christman last year.

Howard ruled in addition Christman should be paid for the year he was off the job.

The judge decided there was not sufficient evidence to support charges of gross inefficiency and wilful and persistent violation of district regulations.

3 Million Horses In U.S. Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — As World War I neared, when the horseless carriage was still as backfiring curiosity, Americans owned some 25 million horses — or about one to every four people.

By World War II, there were between four and five million horses in America. Today's estimate is around three million — and probably increasing, thanks to a new interest in suburban and countryside pleasure riding.

A person caught throwing refuse into Hargus Creek would be prosecuted, according to a warning issued by Mayor W. B. Cady. The CWA had cleaned the stream and it was described as being in "splendid condition."

The County Auditor's office noted that with 80 per cent of real estate tax duplicates reported, a total of $200,000 had been collected.

CWA officials approved plans for the construction of the Circleville Municipal Airport on land owned by S. C. Elsea of Tarlton. The 79.93 acres was located north of the city limits and was to be leased by the city for $1 a year plus taxes.

Members of Rev. R. D. Grant's family of Maplewood Ave. and two friends became ill after eating poisonous "poke root" which had been mistaken for horse-radish.

A new high was struck in cattle price at Pickaway Livestock Coop yards when a herd of 35 cattle fed by Leroy Cromley, Walnut Twp., brought $7 per 100 weight.

Sheep Gets Her Share

LONDON (AP) — A fully grown sheep found wandering near London's Euston Station has created a host of woolly problems for police. Frank Pawlowski claims ownership of the animal and says he wants to sacrifice it to a sun god in a religious ritual. The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says this is illegal.

While the dispute rages, the 3-year-old ewe has eaten all the roses around the police station where she is detained.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Many readers have expressed wonder how doctors without benefit of laboratory reports can come to a conclusion about a medical problem.

The art and science of medical diagnosis depends on special perceptive qualities acquired by training.

The general appearance of a patient, the color and texture of the skin, the clouding of the eyes, a spiritless expression, weakness in speech patterns, how a patient walks, are all meaningful in the preliminary pursuit of a diagnosis.

The color of the fingernail beds, the moisture of the mouth can be signficant, too.

The stethoscope reveals the regularity of the heart, the presence or absence of murmurs, and the clear breath sounds of the normal lungs.

These and similar findings make up the clinical judgment that is so often referred to in these columns. A physician comes to a tentative conclusion and then proceeds to verify it.

There are some general classifications of disease that categorize most illnesses.

Infections caused by bacteria, viruses, and molds are always considered. Allergy to food, drugs, inhalants and contactants is a major cause of many body disorders.

Tumors are carefully inspected and suspicious ones that suggest cancer are further investigated.

Injuries, of course, are readily recognized.

Degenerative changes due to advancing age, with narrowing of the blood vessels and weakening of the muscles and joints, are of special diagnostic importance in the doctor's office.

Nutritional disturbances, vitamin deficiencies give tell-tale evidence, even on first examination.

The modern physician's sensitivity to emotional factors plays an important part in his total evaluation of the patient.

It is firmly established that the emotions are vitally involved in every phase of the body, in health and disease.

In this frenetic, highly geared civilization it is virtually impossible to practice medicine without a constant awareness of the close interplay between the emotions and all physical illness.

The practice of medicine is, indeed, an artistic endeavor. In this age of specialization, the family physician is still the bulwark of the nation's health.

Very Brave Lady

By JIM BISHOP

When I make a mistake, it is a thing of beauty. Recently—and rather carelessly, I thought — I wrote a column about my personal dislikes. One of the readers who took umbrage was Mrs. Charles Sittig of 350 Fairview Avenue, Canfield, Ohio. This lady can write. Listen:

"I'm sitting in my warm fuzzy robe with the many-colored Afghan Grandma made thrown over my shoulders, but I'm shivering. It is 7:30 in the evening and I'm sipping a vanilla milkshake my youngest, Carol, 13 (and a queen in the kitchen), has lovingly blended for me.

"I pick up the paper, turning quickly past the energy crisis and the gasoline tactics which takes me to the second section. I can scarcely swallow the thin, sweet milk mixture. I've just come from the office of the gentle Chinese-American surgeon, Dr. Y. T. Chiu.

"He has gingerly sliced off another length down the edge of my tongue, stitched it and asked me to return Friday when the biopsy will be back from Columbus. I've waited lots of times before in the period which has slowly clicked off three-and-a-half years since the day when he said softly, 'If it is cancer, I will excise most of the tongue . . .'

"Dear God, I am a public school teacher of vocal music and I love my work. 'I sing,' I whispered. A few moments of silence. Then my mind encompassed the faces of my dear husband and our four growing children.

"'Go home,' he said, 'and I will call when we have a room at the hospital.' That was on Friday. The two days until he phoned were two years. Have you ever walked around a house looking at a picture, touching a lovely vase, petting the family dog—wondering if you will ever see them again?

"I knew. My loved ones kept saying that the little ulcer on the tongue was just a little ulcer: 'you'll be home in a few days.' But I knew. I remembered the fate of friends like Jean, Pat and Julie, also my precious adoptive father, my own mother.

"After surgery, Dr. Chiu told my husband, 'A very fast spreading type of cancer.' My husband had never seen a doctor with real tears tumbling down his cheeks. Next I saw a sign: 'Radiation Therapy.' Behind the door, a tall, blue-eyed Irish doctor, Barry Sheridan, looked at my tongue.

"'We find this frequently in countries where there is poor oral care. Do you smoke?' 'No.' 'Well, there is a more elegant way in which we can treat this.' More elegant than what? Cutting it out?

"The second trip to surgery was to implant 16 beads of radium, each one sewed into the tongue. They were attached by wires to the outside of the mouth and held to the cheek with tape. Then 12 days of isolation.

"I read the cheery get-well cards. I read the new English Bible. I remembered the words, 'No atheists in foxholes,' and felt guilty. The third trip on a cart was to remove the implants and the wires. A mahogany complexioned man stopped. He was the anesthesiologist, the man from India who had asked about allergies, drug reactions.

"'How is nice lady today?' he said. 'Nice lady is scared,' I said. He held my arm and said, 'Why afraid?' He took time to calm my shaking. In spite of my fears, everything went well.

"I was home again. Happy. Then a big, round lump sat up on my neck. Out-patient. Thirty trips to lie under a mysterious super-voltage machine called 'Magna.' Each day I went to therapy, then on to teach my choir.

"We gave our concerts, and I stopped trying to cover the big, black X-marks placed on my skin to guide the technician. We sang. We performed.

"It isn't over, Mr. Bishop. It is what Stewart Alsop calls, 'Coming to terms with death.' In his book, 'Stay of Execution,' he writes: 'There is a time to live, but there is also a time to die. That time has not come for me. But it will. It will come for all of us.'

"Yes, I have even come to the point where I can pray what Catherine Marshall calls the 'Prayer of Relinquishment,' which I could not bring myself to say three-and-a-half years ago. And yet I am not unwilling to teach. I love to sing. I love to watch my family grow.

'I love your work, Jim Bishop. I have a desk drawer full of your columns I deem too precious to throw out. But now the principle of my letter to you. You said: 'They spend billions on a cure for cancer; science can't cure a cold.' My dear Jim Bishop, how many people do you know who have died of a common cold?"

As I said, when I pull a boner it is a thing of beauty.

P. S. I phoned Mrs. Sittig. The latest biopsy is negative . . .

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Pick Up Broken Pieces

DEAR ABBY: My experience may help some married man avoid a tragic mistake. This is a true letter. If you find it column worthy, you may print it, but please do not use my name:

Past 70 years of age and married to a faithful wife for 35 years I fell madly in love with a music teacher 20 years my junior. I courted her magnificently, gave her gifts of jewelry, clothing, appliances for her home, weekend trips-even a beautiful piano.

I divorced a faithful wife and gave up a highly respected position to marry this lady in Las Vegas.

Now, after a few months of marriage, a divorce is being processed, and I now find myself with a completely loused up life. My "bride" got as much as she could out of me and is seeking her freedom.

A lifetime reputation has gone down the drain. I have broken my first wife's heart, and my children have lost their respect for me. My health is failing, my heart is heavy, and I am living proof that there is no fool like an old fool.

LOVED AND LOST

DEAR LOVED: Regret is the cancer of life. It may not be too late to pick up the pieces. Why not try?

DEAR ABBY: My mom counts calories and she doesn't like to see any high-calorie food on her own plate, so she takes a little bit from me, a little bit from my sister, and a little bit from my father, and all those little bits add up.

If she gains a pound she is very unhappy and yells at us.

Please publish your advice before we all die of malnutrition and Mom chews our heads off.

HER FAMILY

DEAR FAMILY: Next time Mom reaches for something on your plate remind her that it's in her mouth for a moment-and on her hips for the rest of her life. That should help.

DEAR ABBY: This is my third letter to you, and it will be my last if you do not answer it. My problem is a lot more serious than some of the junk I read in your column, and I want to know why I have not received an answer. I asked you for a personal reply.

MY LAST LETTER

DEAR LAST: If your newspaper doesn't run a line indicating that for a personal reply you should write to Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope, they should. Everyone who follows the above instructions receives an answer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGO: To mispronounce a word is ignorance. To correct one in the presence of others for having mispronounced a word is cruelty. In my book cruelty is a far more serious offense than ignorance.

Fuel Oil Stored At Closed Stations

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Fuel oil is being stored in underground tanks at closed-down gasoline stations in what officials say is a legal and practical move.

A Hamilton Journal-News survey showed that at least 15 stations that no longer are in business in the Hamilton-Fairfield area are renting for $25 to $50 a month for storage purposes.

The Federal Energy Office in Columbus and the Internal Revenue Service in Cincinnati said the storage is legal.

One trucking firm occasionally delivers the fuel to the abandoned station is F. J. Egner & Son Inc. of Hamilton. Egner is a subsidiary of Coast Tank Lines Inc. of Akron.

A Coast spokesman said the practice is common and is done by the customer purchasing the fuel. He said there are several reasons for the storage.

—When a gasoline station closes its empty underground storage tanks can float up through the ground unless anchored.

If the tank is anchored by filling it with water it can rust, the spokesman said.

"If they're ever going to use that station again they might store fuel oil for use by another station. This gives the other station a greater storage capacity and keeps the tank anchored and usable," he said.

—If a municipality needs storage space, "the most obvious place to rent would be closed service stations," the spokesman said.

The fuel oil coming to Hamilton for storage could be coming from 20 different states serviced by Coast and its subsidiaries, he said.

One major oil company executive who asked not to be identified was quoted by the FEO and IRS as saying he was storing fuel oil for some of his industrial customers.

One former station owner now renting his underground tanks told the Journal-News the fuel oil being stored at his station was for a "big local industrial company."

Several truck drivers bringing fuel oil in told the Journal-News they came from the Toledo-Akron area.

Robert Spiro of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in Columbus said there has been no fuel oil supply problem in Ohio. Local fire officials said the stored oil underground presented no fire hazard.

Federal Controls Apparently Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's attempt to retain partial wage and price controls after April 30 may be dead in the House, according to House Banking Chairman Wright Patman.

"Any hope for passage or even committee action appears to be dim, if not dead," the Texas Democrat told the House Monday.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., the ranking Republican on the committee, declined to introduce the administration's bill.

In the Senate, three members of the Banking stabilization subcommittee have agreed on a compromise bill that would extend controls temporarily and establish a mechanism by which controls may be reimposed only if criteria establishing "serious inflation" are established.

Sens. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., and Joseph Biden, D-Del., agreed on the compromise and will meet Wednesday with the committee to begin close scrutiny of it.

No legislation is being marked up in the House.

As Patman noted in his House speech Monday, the administration hasn't even found someone to introduce its bill.

It calls for retention of the Cost of Living Council to monitor existing wage and price agreements and extension of mandatory controls over the health and construction industries.

CAB Orders Air Fare Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline fares should be increased on short flights and decreased on long-distance trips, the Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled.

The board on Monday also ordered the nation's airlines to increase the difference in price between first-class and coach travel and to lower the charge passengers pay when their trip requires flights on more than one airline.

The board, calling the present system of domestic air fares unjust and discriminatory, ordered the changes in effect in 120 days unless appealed by the airlines.

Jay Clevenger Speaker For Scioto Chapel Women

Scioto Chapel Women's Society met Thursday afternoon at the Robtown Parish Hall for its monthly meeting.

Mrs. Howard Koch conducted devotions, reading scripture from first Corrinthians 15:41. She also read a collection of poems including "Tempo," "The Tunnel Of Life," "Angels Weep" and "No God."

Mrs. Cecil Ward, president, presided at the business meeting. A letter of appreciation from Children's Hospital was read for wheel-chair lap robes received, which were made by Mrs. Ned Walker. Special thanks were conveyed to the society from Wendell Neff, Mrs. James Holbrook, Mrs. Robert Drummond and Mrs. Elzie Brooks for flowers received during illness.

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet will be held at the Good Shepherd UM Church Service Center in Circleville in May. Also a rummage sale will be held at the Robtown Church in May. These dates will be announced later.

It was voted to send a box of clothing to the Red Bird Mission in Kentucky. Mrs. Brooks was appointed to conduct memorial services at the April meeting. Mrs. Ned Walker was appointed news reporter. Clean-up day in the Parish Hall will be held in the near future.

Mrs. Brooks, program chairman, read three poems, "Wonderful World," "The Magic Of Love," and "Give Abundently." She conducted a contest taken from the Hollywood Squares. The prize winner was Mrs. Frank Noggle.

For the program Mrs. Brooks introduced Jay Clevenger administrator of the Brooks-Yates School and Workshop of Pickaway County.

Mr. Clevenger defined in detail mental retardation, the causes of which are numerous. The development of the mind is slowed before adolescence, leaving the child below average in mental powers. The moderately retarded can generally learn to care for themselves and do semi productive work. The mildly retarded are sometimes hard to distinguish from normal persons. Severly retarded are unable to care for themselves and require constant supervision.

In the workshop, which is separate from the school, workers receive additional training and are paid wages for work contracted. Ceramics are also made and sold here.

Other branches of the school include a home training service for children unable to get out, which is conducted in the home by Mrs. Leora Sayre. Preschool for unusual children is held in the Williamsport church.

Mr. Clevenger also showed colored slides, of the pre-school, the children receiving home training and activities at the Brooks-Yates School. A question and answer period followed.

At the close of the program, the hostesses in charge, Mrs. Lee Downs, Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Mary Besanson and Mrs. Howard Koch served refreshments to 16 members and Mr. Clevenger.

The candlelight table was decorated predominately in green in accordance with St. Patrick's observance and centered with a blooming begonia plant.

Therapy Program Conducted By Garden Club

Monrovian Garden Club conducted a therapy program recently at Orient State School for 35 residents.

Miss Laura Long, chairman of the project "Plant And Grow," with the help of Mabel Stoer and Helen Armentrout taught the class how to plant seeds.

Seed starting containers of peat pots were given each student with enough soil and vermiculite in which to plant Marigold seeds.

The seeds were watered thoroughly and placed on trays in plastic bags where they will remain until the seeds sprout. When the plants are about six inches high they will be transplanted in the pots to the playground flower beds.

Women's Civic Club Conducts Election

The March meeting of The Ashville Women's Civic Club was held recently at The First English Lutheran Church in Ashville. Virginia Irwin, president-presiding, called the meeting to order. Jean Michelfelder gave devotions with the club collect recited by all members present.

Beverly Hoover read the correspondence which included the resignation from Isabel Fischer and a thank you from Mary Knode. Gretchen Featheringham made a motion that the club continue with the Heart Fund Drive as a yearly service project.

The club also voted to make the departmental chairmen a two year term, same as the presiding officers.

Jo Bowers presented the following slate of officers for the 1974-1976 term: president, Bettie Featheringham; vice president, Sue Toole; secretary, Beverly Hoover, corresponding secretary, Linda Hoffis, treasurer, Gay Henson; program chairman, Barbara Hopper; program committee, Evelyn Bastian, Carol Blaney and Jean Michelfelder. The slate of officers was approved as presented.

Bettie Featheringham and Gay Henson were nominated as delegates to the OFWC's Convention, to be held at the Commodore Perry Motor Inn, Toledo, April 22-25.

Mrs. Robert Agler presented a film and narrative on "Still Life," a creative living film showing severely handicapped persons and how they are being helped to continue on with their life.

Keep two recipe files, one for recipes you have clipped, tried and found good; one for recipes you plan to try. A cluttered recipe file is discouraging to any cook!

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Afternoon Coffee

Prune tea loaf, coffee.

Prune Tea Loaf

It's at its best served the same day it's baked.

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
Grated rind of medium orange
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
¾cup slivered packaged pitted prunes
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Thoroughly stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and orange rind; beat in eggs one at a time. Stir in flour mixture in 4 additions, alternately with milk, until smooth each time. Fold in prunes and nuts. Turn into a 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan that has had the bottom lined with wax paper and the paper greased. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 1 hour. With a small metal spatula loosen edges and turn out on wire rack; remove paper; turn right side up; cool completely before slicing. Good with cream cheese.

LENTEN FARE

Dilled shrimp soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, fruit and beverage.

DILLED SHRIMP SOUP

Simple but delicious way to vary a canned soup.

Milk
¼ teaspoon dill weed

Empty soup into a 1-quart saucepan and stir; fill soup can with milk and stir, a little at a time, into soup. Add dill weed. Slowly heat to boiling, stirring often. Makes 3 servings.

Veterans Feted By Auxiliary

Twenty-six patients of Ward 211C Chillicothe Veterans Hospital were served chocolate cake, ice cream, punch and cheese curls during the monthly visit of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary. Games and visiting completed the evening.

Mary Stephens, veterans affairs and rehabilitation chairman, was assisted during the evening by Roseann Stinson, Maggie Mavis and Mrs. Harry Walsh, American Legion Auxiliary hospital representative.

The men were given St. Patrick Day mint filled favors made by Betty Woods.

Courts, Prisons Meeting Topic Of Circle 1

"Courts, Prisons And Need For Reform" was the program topic for the recent meeting of Circle 1, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, attended by 13 members in the Service Center.

Sue Roan asked for assistance at the Clothing Center on April 24. Announcement was made of the Columbus South District meeting on April 20 at Lancaster Campgrounds and the Mother and Daughter banquet on May 9.

Blanche Kerns read "At Day's End" and asked members to remember to use Thank Offering boxes and prayer calendars.

Mary E. Radcliffe was in charge of the program begun with singing "Brightly Beams Our Father's Mercy." Elizabeth Valentine read Scripture from John 8-11.

Participating in a playlet were: Delores Bennington, Sue Roan, Sue Steele, Elaine Bowman, Patty Kirkwood and Luana Frank. It concerned a boy who had problems and was taken to prison. There he completed his high school requirements. It showed how people should care and try to help people in trouble and be a friend and listen as they need friends and employment.

Discussion groups used as subjects: Should exconvicts be accepted into the church? What should be the purpose of penal systems. Does probation help? How do adults view the police?

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mary Radcliffe. The April meeting will be in the home of Lynn Mundy and Elaine Bowman will present the program.

Add dill seed to drained sauerkraut and use as a relish with corned beef sandwiches. Or if you like, the dilled sauerkraut may be used along with the corned beef as the sandwich filling.

Shaul-Rhodes Collision Builds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes claims he never used his controversial real estate broker's license, but "I'll fight all the way before I ever give it up."

Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, who questions the legality of the way Rhodes got his license, is just as determined to fight all the way to make him return it.

For a year the battle has raged. There still is no answer.

Rhodes has been told the license will be revoked if he doesn't agree to a hearing on the issue within the month.

"I'll go to court," vowed Rhodes.

Shaul began the battle when he learned that Rhodes received the license from his own appointees on the Ohio Real Estate Commission four days before he left office in 1971.

Rhodes took an oral examination in governor's office. He said the commission and its executive secretary felt that giving the governor a written examination with 200 others would have been disruptive.

The former Republican governor claims the inquiry into his license began only after he announced he would be a candidate for office again.

Rhodes attempted to file Jan. 24, 1973, but his candidacy initially was disallowed on constitutional grounds. The Ohio Supreme Court ruled he could run and he filed again June 6.

Shaul, ex-officio member of the Real Estate Commission, tried to conduct a hearing on the affair March 23, 1973.

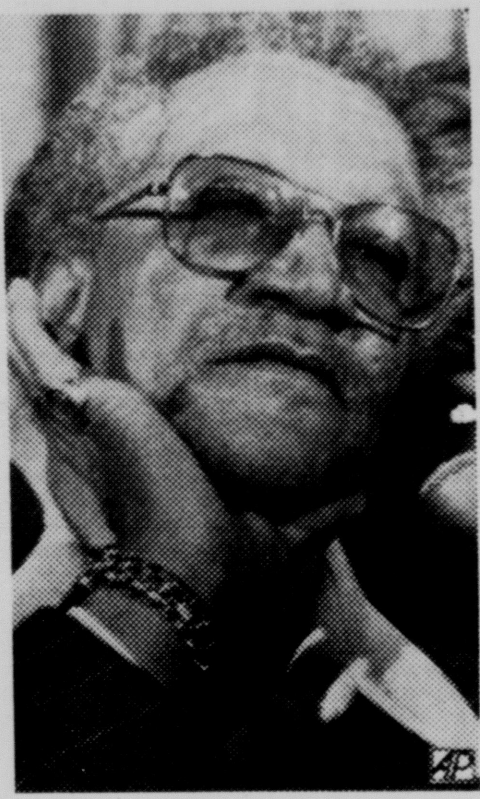
The hearing bogged down when Paul Everson of Euclid, a Republican holdover on the commission, refused to testify. Shaul threatened him with a court order, but Everson didn't budge.

The board, now made up entirely of appointees of Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan and with a new executive secretary, Robert Gippin, has discovered some others holding licenses it considers to be given in an unusual manner.

Among those is one held by Gerald Wedren, acting commerce director under Gilligan before Shaul received permanent appointment to the post.

In a letter to Gippin, Wedren said he thought his successor was "attempting to publicly embarrass people on technicalities which are totally erroneous."

Rhodes adopted much the same attitude with some politics thrown in. "I welcome the opportunity to go to court and settle this matter," said Rhodes. "Gov. Gilligan should stop hiding behind the political propaganda of Dennis Shaul."



AIRS HIS GRIPES—Comedian Redd Foxx rests his head in his hand as he tells a news conference in New York about a pain in his back. He told newsmen he would return to the TV show "Sanford and Son," if NBC corrects certain conditions—including the show's depiction of black life. Foxx's doctor, who was at the news briefing, said the actor suffered a calcium deposit in the spinal column that caused acute pain when he turned his head.

Board Questions Power Site Pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board will ask Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to determine if awarding a state contract to a member of the Power Siting Commission violates Ohio's ethics law.

The board Monday deferred action on granting a $120,000 consulting contract without competitive bidding to L. S. Preston and Associates.

Preston, highway director in the administration of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, has already done about $65,000 of work for the Transportation Research Center near Bellefontaine.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, bought up the possible conflict and Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, suggested an opinion from Brown as well as the Ethics Commission.

Action on the request to hire Preston was deferred at least two weeks. Preston is chief officer of the firm bearing his name.

The Power Siting Commission on which he sits is a state agency that polices the expansion of power facilities throughout the state. He is paid $5,000 a year for his services.

The board agreed to pay $193,550 for 161.88 acres of land in Warren County as part of the Little Miami Scenic River project. But Maloney questioned why the price was 12 times the appraised value of the farm, owned by Corwin J. Fred's South Lebanon Compost Co.

A Department of Natural Resources spokesman said he understood Fred wanted to sell all of the land at the same time, and the price was considered cheaper than costs of taking it by condemnation.

In other action, the board approved:—$1875,750 for a shore protection project at Crane State Park in Lucas County.

—$9.5 million to the Ohio Water Development Authority for sewage treatment facilities in Medina County.

—$81,290 to the Environmental Protection Agency to enter into a contract without competitive bidding for development and evaluation of a compliance schedule for the iron and steel industry.

—$64.6 million to the Ohio Department of Education for the school foundation subsidy for March, a routine release made monthly.

—$432,846 to the Department of Education for the state's share of reimbursement for the purchase of 113 school buses.

—$12 million to the Department of Education for vocational education in Columbus and $12.5 million for vocational education in Toledo.

—$1 million to the Administrative Services Department to buy, without competitive bidding, bond, mimeograph, ledger and recycled papers. The costs is for two years, but the contract can be renewed at the end of the year.

—$534,000 to the University of Cincinnati and $150,000 to Miami University for a joint computer center to be located on the UC campus.

—$164,000 to Wright State University for planning funds for their medical college.

Vandals Ruin Stone Carvings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ike Eastvold, who has a contract with the Bureau of Land Management to inventory stone carvings made by ancient men in the California desert, thinks that most of the petroglyphs will have been destroyed within 15 years by vandals unless drastic protective measures are taken.

There has been a surge in destruction as the result of the use of off-track vehicles in recent years. Not only do people shoot at the rock drawings and hack them up carelessly, but they rip them out to decorate their homes or back yards. If preserved, Eastvold think, they would have great value as tourist attractions as well as scientific exhibits.

In 1845, Congress passed a law setting the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as presidential election day. "Harvesting is over then and winter has not yet made roads impassable," said Ohio Representative Alexander Duncan in writing the law.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Once again, the subject of amnesty has surfaced in the Congress and the House Judiciary Committee is conducting hearings on this controversial subject.

For two years, amnesty supporters have tried unsuccessfully to work proposals pardoning Vietnam draft dodgers through the Congress. Each year, however, with the passage of more time, they believe that opinions against amnesty will soften and that, particularly with U.S. troops and prisioners of war home from Vietnam for almost a year, the time is now right to push for amnesty.

There are many people, however, who have not forgotten about the draft dodgers; more importantly, they have not forgotten about the 56,000 men who did not shirk their patriotic duty and who died fighting for the country they loved. I certainly have not forgotten. I am as unequivocally opposed to amnesty as I have been since its inception.

Amnesty for draft dodgers is inherently unfair. Those who fled had a very clear cut choice: obey the military conscription laws or break them. It was also the same choice facing all young men then. It was the same controversial and unpopular war. Most chose to serve and many who did were killed or wounded. The same cannot be said about those who fled the country and their patriotic responsibility. These few thousand should not, and must not, be allowed to return with impunity.

In addition to this very important consideration, granting amnesty now or at any time for Vietnam draft dodgers would dangerously impair any future draft, undermine military justice and damage military morale and discipline. In a future conflict, for example, service members would certainly be less hesitant to desert if they felt that they could do so with reasonable confidence that once the conflict was over they would be granted immunity.

I am even opposed to some of the more modest proposals which would permit a case by case examination of deserters and bestow amnesty to men willing to serve two years in either military or civilian services. I don't believe the U.S. armed forces want or need draft dodgers in their ranks. What would they do if another armed conflict erupted which involved American troops? How reliable would they be then? Why should the draft dodgers be allowed to serve only at their convenience when so many others answered their country's call when they were needed. This, too, is totally unfair to those who served and made the necessary sacrifices.

The only answer I can see to all of these questions is "no amnesty".

While military conditions have changed in many ares outside of this amnesty issue and even the draft itself has ended, I would also like to take this opportunity to remind the young men of the Sixth District that federal law requires that upon reaching age 18, they must still register with the Selective Service office nearest them.

With the ending of the draft and the institution of the lottery system, the army is operating on a "stand-by" posture. While no one is actually inducted with our new "zero draft" policy, each year a lottery is still held and numbers and classifications are assigned to each registrant. Only if there were a national emergency would these men be called to service in the armed forces, and only then on a basis of need according to their lottery number. This is a mechanism designed to ensure the country would be able to rapidly mobilize her manpower in a crisis situation.

While registering with the army is clearly important for our national defense, it is also doubly important for each young man. The Selective Service system is not only charged with maintaining a pool of available manpower but also with referring to the United States Attorney those who fail to register late.

For residents of Adams, Brown, Highland, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton Counties, the place to register is at the Selective Service Area Office No. 19, College Building, 815 Gallia Street, Portsmouth. For those in Clermont, Clinton and Warren, it is Area Office No. 18, 8033 Federal Building, Cincinnati. For those in Fayette and Pickaway, registration is at the Selective Service State Headquarters, 127 Federal Building, Columbus.

I believe that the maintenance of a strong defense system is not a matter of war mongering, but one of practical common sense. Having a readily mobile army is vitally important and many of the recent revisions in the military are designed to make service to the country as productive and as least disruptive to the individual as possible. Registration, however, is not induction in today's peacetime army.

Park Of Roses Seeks Maiden Contestants

The Columbus Park of Roses is again seeking a young lady who is a senior in high school to represent the Park of Roses this coming year as the Maiden of Roses. Up to $1,000 as a scholarship awaits the chosen one. The contest is sponsored in the seven Central Ohio counties and will be held on June 15 and 16 at the Park of Roses.

All senior girls are eligible to enter if they graduate this year and plan to enter an accredited school of advance education. High Schools now have application blanks, or an interested girl may write Park of Roses, City Hall, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Members of the selection committee also come from the seven counties. The girls are interviewed by each judge and judging is done on a point system which included credit for community service, school service, poise and personality, and natural beauty.

The program has been expanded this year to include a Saturday evening dance for the contestants, their parents and guests. This dance will also honor former maidens and special awards will be made to the contestants for community and school service.

On Sunday, activities will begin with a 2:30 parade. The pageant is scheduled for 5:30 at the Park of Roses. There is no admission charge.

Modified School Plan Turned Down

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Federation of Teachers (CFT), to the surprise of their president, Tuesday night unanimously rejected a modified school board plan for integrating the city's teaching staffs.

CFT President Roger Stephens indicated prior to the 50-member turnout that he was confident that changes announced by the school board Monday would be acceptable to his group.

After the meeting he said the CFT would push for integration by redistricting the city's 105 public schools.

Stephens said a threatened lawsuit would be withheld, but his group had another plan "to get the message across."

He said a teachers action committee will be formed to work with a number of organizations including the AFL-CIO, with which CFT has strong ties.

CFT members charged the board with stalling for time in its battle over integration.

Parents Hopeful For Son's Life

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "If we can just keep Stephen, we want nothing else," said Miami, Fla., policeman Raymond Southerland, who fears his third son has been stricken with a deadly form of cancer.

The agonizing wait continued today for Southerland and his wife, Sara. Word is expected soon whether Stephen, 13, must lose his left leg.

If it is bone cancer, as doctors fear, the boy is given a 30 per cent chance of survival.

"You have to hope," Mrs. Southerland said Tuesday while at the bedside of her oldest son.

The Southerland's lost their youngest son, Jeffrey, to lymphatic leukemia five years ago. The day before Jeffrey's death, doctors discovered a rare malignancy in the spine of a second brother, Michael, now 9. He has apparently overcome the disease through lengthy treatment.

Despite the series of tragedies, Stephen "took this all a great deal better than his mom and dad," said the boy's father.

"I'm really not worried," said Stephen, who turns 14 in May. "It's really an experience you have to put up with. I think I can face it.

"We're a strong family," he added.

A growth on his leg was discovered last week by doctors in Miami. Doctors said odds are it is bone cancer, but officials confirmation has not yet been made by attending physicians at Cincinnati Children's Hospital, where Stephen was transferred last week.

One doctor said Tuesday it might be one of several cancer forms or an infection that could be treated with antibiotics.

If confirmed as bone cancer, the doctor said chemotherapy or amputation would be needed.

The only other trace of cancer in the family was Southerland's mother, who was cured of breast cancer.

Stephen was always considered the healthiest of the three boys, according to Mrs. Southerland. "He never had any sickness."

When he complained of pain in his leg last December, his parents thought he pulled a muscle riding a bicycle.

While the Southerland's await the decision, Stephen fidgets, fighting boredom and a "hard as a rock" bed.

Stephen said the leg amputation performed on Edward Kennedy Jr., son of U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., "gives me more hope that I can make it and makes me feel it's not really that big a thing."

Body Recovered

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)— The body of Al Bojanowski of Elyria was recovered Tuesday from Salt Fork Lake. Bojanowski disappeared Monday night after he went to the lake to do some night fishing.

Chrysler Hikes Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced a retail price increase averaging $28 on its 1974 model cars.

The increase, effective Monday, is the first since price controls were lifted last December. It is the second increase by Chrysler since it introduced its 1974 cars last fall.

The increase averages seven-tenths of a per cent per unit and ranges from $15 for the Dodge Dart and Plymouth Valiant to $67 for the Plymouth Fury, Dodge Monaco, Chrysler and Imperial, Chrysler said.

In the announcement Tuesday, Chrysler said the price increase is necessary to offset "rapidly increasing costs of both labor and materials."

General Motors and American Motors would not comment Tuesday on Chrysler's latest increases. Both Ford and GM have hinted they may raise their prices before the 1975 model year.

James Dickerson Top Lottery Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— James Dickerson, 41, executive director of operations for the City of Cleveland, was named Tuesday as deputy director of the Ohio Lottery Commission.

The appointment to the $25,600-a-year job was announced by Director John Kirkland, who said Dickerson will take the post April 1.

Bizarre Threat By Group Foiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three Wooster residents charged with extortion after allegedly demanding free radio time with a threat to kill a mysterious hostage formed a nonprofit public service corporation last month, The Associated Press learned today.

The Alternative Political Action Committee Inc., chartered by the state of Ohio Feb. 5 to be a "problem solving" organization, would "establish an economic institution that employs those unemployed . . . care for those unemployable and educate those uneducated."

Larry N. Cooper, 26, one of those arrested by FBI agents Saturday for allegedly telling New York City radio station WABC they would kill a hostage if they weren't permitted four hours on the air, was acting president and agent for the corporation.

Gwendolyn Y. McCutcheon, 21, and Carol Holmes, a 19-year-old Wooster College sophomore, signed as cocharterers.

The FBI arrested the three without resistance Saturday after agents surrounded their Wooster apartment. The trio telephoned the radio station several times Saturday to demand the broadcast of a taped statement, or they would take the life of a hostage and commit suicide, the FBI said.

Agents did not find a hostage, and still refuse to disclose if there was an intended victim.

Cooper and Miss McCutcheon chartered two other corporations Feb. 20 with Wooster resident Peter Rosemond providing the third partner, the state minimum to form a corporation.

The other firms, Project 76-An American Affair Inc. and Larry N. Cooper Inc., had similar purposes and by-laws.

"They have very idealistic motives. They are not in any sense violent-type people. They are talking about reforming society," said The Rev. J. Barrie Shepherd, a minister on campus.

He spoke with Miss McCutcheon after she was arrested. He said she asked him to explain their intentions.

"They believe the system can work for the poor by working through the system," The Rev. Mr. Shepherd said. "Their hostage was the U.S. Constitution in an abstract sense.

"She felt that if the people in this country were forced to commit suicide if things were so bad, this very fact would prove the constitution was in grave danger.

"They don't share a commitment to violent solutions. It's not in any sense talk of the typical radical stuff like the Symbionese Liberation Army."

The SLA claims to have kidnaped 20-year-old Patricia Hearst, a day before the three formed their first corporation. The SLA has demanded a free food distribution program for the poor in San Francisco as a step toward the release of the daughter of Randolph Hearst, a West Coast newspaper publisher.

Nixon Recalls Saxbe Jab

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Nixon referred to a statement once made by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe while still a senator when he pointed out Tuesday night how even his supporters criticized him over unpopular decisions.

Answering questions before the National Association of Broadcasters, Nixon was saying a President should not think of resigning every time his popularity goes down in the polls.

He noted newspapers that had supported him and many senators and public figures criticized his decision to resume bombing of North Vietnam after peace negotiations broke down in 1972. And he added:

"As a matter of fact, one senator said the President has taken leave of his senses. I had no hard feelings about that, I made him attorney general."

Saxbe made the remark while serving as a Republican senator from Ohio.

Class A Ohio Cagers Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Larry Harris, Lorain Clearview's all-stater in football and basketball, was selected today as The Associated Press Ohio Class A Basketball Player of the Year.

The 6-foot-7, 200-pound Harris, a senior who averaged 29.5 points, 20 rebounds and six blocked shots, also made the All-Ohio first team in football as an offensive end.

The Class A state coaching title went to Gary Vaughn of Fostoria St. Wendelin, who lost all of his regulars from a 17-3 team last year. Despite losing six of his first seven players, Vaughn molded a 16-2 record this season.

The selections were based strictly on regular season competition and were made on recommendations from a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Harris, sought by nearly all of the nation's major college basketball powers, made 60 per cent of his floor shots and 76 per cent of his free throws this season.

He was promoted from the second team in 1973.

Starring with Harris on the first unit were 6-4 Frank Monterosso of Cincinnati St. Bernard and 6-3½ Mike Cross of Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe.

The two high-scoring seniors were the only players to make the Class A first unit for the second straight campaign. Monterosso, who scored 70 points in one game, averaged 34.7 and Cross 27.0.

Dan Zarlingo, 6-4 Lowellville guard with a 25-point average, moved from the 1973 third team to the first team this season.

Also named to the first team were 6-7 Mark Haymore of Cleveland Lutheran East, with a 25.9-point average; 6-7 Tom Kramb of Greenwich South Central, 22.9; 6-2 Greg Dulkoski of Adena Buckeye West, 28.0, and 6-1 Scott Ballinger of Marion Pleasant, 19.1.

Ballinger also made the second team all-state in football last fall as a quarterback.

On the second team were Mark Swain of Mercerville Hannan Trace, Ron Austin of Granville, Bill Marks of JewettScio, Mick Shoemaker of Bainbridge Paint Valley, Greg Spitnale of Continental, Greg Givens of Mansfield St. Peter's, Joe Ryan of Peebles, Charles Loewendick of Newark Catholic and Brian Hamsher of Sugarcreek Garaway.

Third team selections were Mike Hausfeld of Columbus St. Charles, Jeff Black of Canal Winchester, Larry Fortner of Lorain Clearview, Jack Wolfe of Frontier, Tim Seevers of Trimble, Tim Whetsel of Ridgemont, Doug Reynolds of Elmwood and Portsmouth Clay's Jeff Justus.

Small Schools Start Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Class A coaches are optimistic about their team's chances in the 52nd Ohio High School Basketball Tournament except Charlie Huggins, the most feared mentor in the field.

"We have no talent," said Huggins about his Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South squad, the 1972 champion and the 1973 runnerup.

The Rebels, 20-4, will face 22-2 Lorain Clearview in the 9:30 nightcap Thursday as the small schools launch the three-day classic in Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Mount Blanchard Riverdale, 21-3, goes against Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe, 24-3, in the other Class A game at 7:30 p.m.

The Class AAA and Class AA semifinalists wait until Friday to begin their showdowns.

In Class AA, 24-0 Akron Manchester plays 19-6 Cincinnati McNicholas at 11 a.m. and Genoa, 22-1, faces Columbus Hartley, 19-5, at 2:30 p.m.

In Class AAA, defending champion Cincinnati Elder, 21-3, takes on Mount Vernon, 19-4, at 6 p.m. and No. 1 Canton McKinley, 24-0, plays Toledo Scott, 22-2, at 9:30 p.m.

The championship games all are Saturday.

Indian Valley South has been a remarkable team under Huggins this year. The Rebels had no regulars back from last year and are using a lineup with three players 5-foot-9 or shorter.

"We haven't been out-rebounded yet," Huggins said of his Tuscarawas County team, "but we haven't faced any Larry Harrises either."

Harris, 6-7 Ohio Class A Player of the Year who averaged almost 30 points and 20 rebounds a game, leads Clearview.

"I think we have a good chance because of the schedule we played," said Lorain Coach Bob Walsh. "We played seven AAA teams and 10 in AA. The only A team we faced was Mansfield St. Peter's."

Franklin-Monroe, from Darke County, also has an All-Ohio player in two-time first team selection Mike Cross, a 6-4 senior with a 27-point average.

The Darke County team lost in the Dayton Regional finals last year to Marion Pleasant, the eventual small school state champion.

"We got beat by Pleasant in the last 15 seconds," Franklin-Monroe Coach Phil Dubbs recalled, "and we have three starters back from that team." His team whipped Pleasant 64-52 in a tournament rematch this year.

Mark Smith, the coach of Riverdale, is unsure of his Hancock County team's chances.

"Since it's our first trip," he said, "I don't know. But this is the kind of team that can handle the pressure. It's unemotional."

The Thursday night Class A victors return for the title game at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Cleveland Now Has 2 Perrys

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry is happy to have brother Jim Perry aboard as a fellow member of the Cleveland pitching staff, but he has no intention of relinquishing his status as the Indians' top gun.

"Brother or no brother, Jim will have to fight me for No. 1," Gaylord said after the Indians acquired Jim from the Detroit Tigers Tuesday in a three-way deal that also involved the New York Yankees.

The Tigers sent Jim Perry to Cleveland and pitcher Ed Farmer to New York. The Indians shipped outfielder Walt Williams and rookie pitcher Rich Sawyer to New York while the Yankees dealt catcher Jerry Moses to Detroit.

In other spring training swaps, the Chicago Cubs traded catcher Ken Rudolph to the San Francisco Giants for rookie pitcher Willie Prall and the Cincinnati Reds purchased first baseman-outfielder Terry Crowley from the Texas Rangers.

The three-way trade put the Perry brothers — both former Cy Young Award winners — on the same team for the first time since Jim, 37, was a junior and Gaylord, 35, was a freshman in high school at Williamston, N.C.

Meanwhile, Dave Duncan, who will be catching the Perry boys, celebrated by driving in four runs with a homer and double in the Indians' 8-6 exhibition victory over the Oakland A's. Cleveland pounded Rollie Fingers for six runs in the sixth inning and two in the seventh, off setting Oakland homers by Vic Davalillo, Pat Bourque and Bert Campaneris.

Elsewhere on the exhibition trail, two-run homers by Richie Zisk and Willie Stargell powered the Pittsburgh Pirates past the Montreal Expos 4-1. In a rematch of last fall's National League playoff rivals, the New York Mets trounced the Cincinnati Reds 7-1 as rookie Bennie Ayala drove in three runs and Ted Martinez hit a two-run homer.

The New York Yankees pounded Luke Walker for three runs in the sixth inning and two in the ninth and beat their former manager Ralph Houk and his Detroit Tigers 6-2. The Minnesota Twins lost for the 12th time in 13 spring games, bowing to the Atlanta Braves 3-1 on rookie pitcher Jamie Easterly's three-run double.

Jim Barr hurled five shutout innings in the San Francisco Giants' 8-3 triumph over the San Diego Padres and Houston's Dave Roberts blanked the Kansas City Royals for six in the Astros' 4-1 victory.

Rookie Mike Reinbach's RBI double and a sacrifice fly by designated hitter Tommy Davis accounted for two eighth-inning runs that lifted the Baltimore Orioles past the Texas Rangers 6-5.

The St. Louis Cardinals used four unearned runs and Reggie Smith's homer to edge the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5. Ron Santo drove in two runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Chicago White Sox over the Boston Red Sox 8-4 and five California pitchers limited the Chicago Cubs to five hits and the Angels won 5-1.

Anglers Converge For Walleye Run

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Assoiciated Press

Hundreds of fishermen from around Ohio are converging on Fremont for the annual spring run of walleyes in the Sandusky River.

If the weather is right and the river isn't high, most will catch fish, although many will consider it a bittersweet experience.

Tales of fabulous fishing, mostly true, have spread far and wide in recent years.

In late March and through much of April, walleyes by the thousands migrate from Lake Erie into the Sandusky River and on to Fremont where their run upstream to spawn is blocked by a hydroelectric dam south of the city.

Fish are so thick in the river at times that wading anglers are not surprised to feel walleyes glancing off their boots.

But, if this all sounds too good to be true, it is—at least, so far as the serious sportsman is concerned.

For one thing, at the peak of the run, fishermen cast elbow-to-elbow in the most productive stretch of river in downtown Fremont. Add to that crowd up to 100 boats anchored in midstream and you get some impression of conditions that prevail, particularly on weekends.

What aggravates many firsttime visitors to the river, however, is discovering that the vast majority of walleyes—at least, eight in 10—are illegally caught by snagging.

Heavily weighted leadhead jibs retrieved in jerks across the rock bottom account for most fish taken.

The number of arrests has risen dramatically in recent years as the Ohio Division of Wildlife tries to cope with the situation. Last year as many as 21 game protectors from throughout the area patrolled the river over one weekend.

Dressed in plain clothes and posing as fishermen, they arrested nearly 50 snaggers in a two-day period in 1973 and about 100 over several weeks.

There was a move by some wildlife officials to close the river to fishing during the run, especially at night when the nosnag law is most difficult to enforce.

Other views prevailed and regulations will be unchanged from last year.

Heavy patrols are promised again over the next few weeks and numerous arrests seem inevitable.

The official World Series record book has Reggie Jackson of the Oakland As on the cover.

Despite trouble with his hands, Rusty Staub of the New York Mets batted .423 in the 1973 World Series.

Mets Hammer Reds, 7-1

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson had an ice pack on his head even before Tuesday's baseball game with the New York Mets. He felt worse by the time the game was over.

Tom Seaver and the Mets romped past the Reds 7-1 in a rematch of last October's National League playoffs.

What was to be a grudge match, turned into a dull mismatch as the Reds absorbed their fourth loss in five games.

And Pete Rose was a noshow.

The league's Most Valuable Player last season, Rose was a principal in the donnybrook which shook Shea Stadium. His collision with Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson triggered mayhem.

Instead of showing up for the first on-field reunion since then, Rose remained at the Reds' camp for a workout with pitcher Don Gullett.

"I'll wait until we play 'em at home, before the friendly folks," said Rose.

Harrelson shrugged off Rose's absence and, instead, wondered why no one had thought of hiring the two rivals for a commercial.

"Somebody missed the boat," said Harrelson.

His teammate Seaver wasn't missing much however, as the Cy Young Award winner of 1973 gave up one run in five innings.

Reds' starter Roger Nelson opened with three scoreless innings before allowing two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Anderson's headache worsened in the eighth when the Mets pushed over four runs.

"The Mets always give you a headache," said Tony Perez to Anderson.

One of the few brights spots in the loss was the continued hitting streak by catcher Johnny Bench, who lifted his spring average to .500 with two hits. And shortstop Darrell Chaney snapped an 0-for-19 slump with three hits.

The Reds travel to Vero Beach today to face the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Billie Jean Wins 2 Rounds

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Billie Jean King has moved into the third round of the $50,000 Women's Professional Tennis tournament with two easy victories.

Miss King ousted Ceci Martinez of San Francisco 7-5 6-2 in Tuesday night's second round.

Purdue Defeats Hawaii, 85-72

NEW YORK (AP) — "We like to go to these types of tournaments and to be among the top-ranked," said Purdue's Coach Fred Schaus. "It helps people to know we're still alive."

Hawaii got a reminder Tuesday night that Purdue was still very much alive and kicking as the Boilermakers coasted to an easy 85-72 victory and advanced to the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

The Boilermakers, who in the opening round knocked off top-seeded and seventh-ranked North Carolina, will play Saturday against Jacksonville, which won a run-and-shoot battle with Maryland-Eastern Shore 85-83 on two free throws by George Scholz with 25 seconds remaining.

The Boilermaker effort in Madison Square Garden was in contrast to a 76-67 loss to the Rainbows earlier this season in Hawaii.

The Boilermakers rattled off 10 straight points to start the game and had another flurry of 12 straight later in the first half. By halftime, they led by 13 and had a 15-point bulge early in the second half, before Hawaii began to battle back behind Tom Henderson, who finished with a career-high 33 points.

Purdue, now 20-9, did lose Jerry Nichols. who was taken to the hospital for X-rays on his left knee after he fell hard in the second half. Frank Kendrick led the Boilermakers scoring attack with 22 points.

Jacksonville found itself in a running battle with Maryland-Eastern Shore hitting 50 per cent and the Dolphins nearly 49 in the first half half which ended with the Dolphis ahead 51-50.

Butch Taylor was in foul trouble much of the second half and fouled out midway through the period after scoring 20 points and grabbing 14 rebounds.

Maryland-Eastern Shore, paced by Bill Gordon, who finished with 24 and Talvin Skinner, who had 20, came back to briefly take the lead and then Joe Pace tied the game 83-83 before Scholz sank his two free throws.

NIT quarter-final action continues Thursday night with Memphis State meeting Utah and Connecticut facing Boston College. Semifinals are Saturday afternoon with the championship and consolation contests Sunday.

Crusaders Top Cougars In WHA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A goaltender in pro hockey has enough to put up with. He's constantly assaulted by the puck and opposing players, not to mention the abuse of the fans after every mistake.

Gerry Cheevers of the Cleveland Crusaders reached his breaking point Tuesday night.

"I was just tired of getting hit all the time," the normally reserved goaltender said after the Crusaders 7-4 World Hockey Association victory over the Chicago Cougars.

So, when Chicago's Rosaire Paiement bumped into Cheevers with 9:49 remaining in the game, the goalie lost his cool.

In a flash, the two were fighting — an uncommon sight in the sport where the netminder is burdened with so much bulky equipment.

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Vancouver Blazers trimmed the Minnesota Fighting Saints 5-4. In the National Hockey League, the New York Islanders topped the St. Louis Blues 5-1, the Minnesota North Stars tripped the California Seals 6-3, while the Toronto Maple Leafs and Los Angeles Kings played to a 1-1 tie.

The fracas, which came with the score tied 4-4, earned Paiement and Cheevers double minor penalties and brought Grant Erickson a 10-minute misconduct for coming to the aid of his goaltender.

Blazers 5, Fighting Saints 4

Danny Lawson's goal with 1:25 left in the game ruined a third-period comeback by Minnesota and carried Vancouver to victory.

Circleville Sets Banquet

Circleville Athletic Booster Club will sponsor a winter sports banquet 6:30 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

Members of the varsity and reserve basketball teams, wrestling team, girl's basketball team and cheerleaders will be honored at the affair.

It will be a carry in dinner and everyone is requested to provide their own table service.

Terry Crowley Joins Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Terry Crowley, a short-termer with baseball's cellar-dwelling Texas Rangers, finds himself with a pennant contender today. The Cincinnati Reds acquired him Tuesday for waiver price.

The former Baltimore Oriole rejoins his former roommate Merv Rettenmund in a move the Reds hope will provide them a backup at first base.

Bucks Beat Golden State

OAKLAND (AP) — George Johnson of the Golden State Warriors had a seven-game crash course before his test against Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

"I had a game plan, and it didn't work," the Warriors' young fill-in center said Tuesday night after Abdul-Jabbar scored 31 points in the Milwaukee Bucks' 111-100 National Basketball Association victory over Golden State.

"He's the best," added the 6-foot-11 Johnson, outclassed for the first time in his eight starting assignments since regular center Nate Thurmond was sidelined by a foot injury.

The Bucks clinched another Midwest Division crown with the victory, while the Warriors dropped into a virtual first place tie with Los Angeles in the tight Pacific Division race. Milwaukee is at Los Angeles tonight, Golden State at Seattle.

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, the Chicago Bulls whipped the Philadelphia 76ers 103-94, the Boston Celtics shaded the Houston Rockets 110-107 and the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Portland Trail Blazers 107-103.

In the only action in the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars clinched first place in the West Division by trouncing the Memphis Tams 118-103.

Johnson said his game plan was "to run and try to get Kareem tired."

Instead, the kingpin of NBA centers seemed to have an almost leisurely time of it as he tossed in 13 of 20 field goal attempts, mostly hook shots, grabbed 10 rebounds and blocked four shots. Johnson was limited to four points but got 11 rebounds.

Bill To Abolish Mayors' Courts Postponed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has postponed until next week a vote on a big bill that creates more than three dozen new judgeships and abolishes mayors' courts in Ohio.

Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, switched signals Tuesday night when the vote had been planned, saying the committee may want to hear additional testimony.

The abolition of mayors' courts has been proposed at least the last four legislative sessions, but unable to muster the necessary support in the face of political pressure on lawmakers.

Wilkowski and others wanting to do away with the so-called "speed traps" revived their efforts after the U.S. Supreme Court took away most of the mayors' courts' authority.

As a result of the 1972 ruling, the estimated 500 mayors' courts in Ohio have been limited to hearing only those cases in which the defendant pleads guilty. If he pleads innocent, his case has to be transferred to a county court or another court of record.

Wilkowski came up with the idea of putting the abolition in with the omnibus bill creating new judgeships, hoping to coax would-be opponents into supporting the entire package for other reasons.

The bill proposes to add three judges each to state appellate courts in the eighth (Cleveland) and first (Cincinnati) districts. Nineteen common pleas judgeships would be created, along with 14 municipal judgeships.

In other business Tuesday night, the Senate-House subcommittee labored over proposed amendments to a bill that would establish a state energy board which could declare states of emergency and make specific legislative recommendations to the General Assembly.

Chairman Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said, "We expect to have a substitute bill ready by next week."

He said the proposal would go back to the respective standing committees of the two chambers for their consideration, since the "ad hoc" panel lacks authority to act on measures officially.

The joint subcommittee had expected to hear from Michael Scanlon, director of intergovernmental relations for the Federal Energy Office, but his trip to Ohio had to be canceled.

Maloney said the federal official cited "some kind of minor crisis" in Louisiana as the cause of a schedule change, but offered to appear before the committee at a later date.

Carlton Dargusch Jr., counsel for the Ohio Association of Broadcasters, and William Oertel, executive director of the Ohio Newspaper Association, urged the energy panel to approve an amendment assuring that the proposed bill will not curtail the rights of industries and their other advertisers.

The measure, as written, would ban all advertising that suggested more use of electricity and other energy sources.

Dargusch said that to put such a restriction into the law would be wrong, since "it would be interfering with freedom of speech." He indicated his organization had no objection for a state energy board to have the power to impose such a restriction if a real crisis did arise.

In other developments, the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee finished hearing testimony on an embattled proposal to require a five-cent deposit on beverage containers. Manufacturers and big labor in Ohio both oppose the measure on grounds it would cost jobs and otherwise have an adverse effect on the state's economy.

Adding their voices to the chorus of opposition sounded on the bill last week were representatives of the Ohio AFL-CIO, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and a spokesman for an Ohio Glass Bottle Blowers Association.

The Senate Education & Health committee rejected 5-2 a bill that would take away a requirement for the teaching of oral language in schools for the deaf. Present law enables a teacher to switch to sign language after unsuccessful experimentation with the oral system.

No Charges In Shooting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police said Tuesday no charges will be filed in an unusual car-ramming and shooting incident on Interstate 75 in downtown Dayton.

They said the Monday incident began when James Burchett, 28, of Dayton suffered a seizure and his auto began ramming the rear of a car driven by Donald Rosenberger of Flint, Mich.

The Rosenberger car was forced into a rear-end collision with a truck, injuring the Michigan man's wife and 11-monthold daughter.

Rosenberger then pulled out a gun and fired four shots through the left side of Burchett's car, wounding the man in the neck and shoulder, police said.

Officers said Burchett told them he had no recollection of the incident.

SEC Chairman To Take Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman William J. Casey's name appears on eight pages of the criminal conspiracy indictment against John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans. Only the defendants are mentioned more often.

Thus it was as a crucial prosecution witness that Casey was expected to take the witness stand today at the trial of former Atty. Gen. Mitchell and one-time Commerce Secretary Stans. The trial is midway in its fifth week.

The indictment defines Casey as a prime target in a conspiracy by Mitchell and Stans to impede an SEC fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco, in return for the latter's secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign.

Casey, whose name also figures in perjury counts against both defendants, resigned as SEC chairman early last year to become undersecretary of state for economic affairs. He is now president of the Export-Import Bank.

Two former secretaries of Vesco closed out Tuesday's trial testimony. They were Shirley Bailey and Helen Force.

Each testified that she played a part in the transfer of the $200,000 contribution to a Vesco associate, Laurence Richardson, who in turn paid the money to Stans April 10, 1972.

The government claims it was this information that Vesco, Mitchell and Stans sought to conceal from the SEC, thus obstructing justice. The two women eventually were subpoenaed to tell SEC investigators about the money.

The prosecution said the device hit upon by the defendants was to obtain a lawyer for the two women, who would tell them to take the Fifth Amendment before the SEC.

The late Walter Van Riper, one-time attorney general of New Jersey, was the attorney selected by a Vesco associate, according to the two women. They said the first and last time they ever saw him was the morning of their SEC appearance.

The witnesses said Van Riper asked for an adjournment, pleading that he needed more time to familiarize himself with the case. When the request was denied, he replied that he must reluctantly direct the two women to take the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify, the witness stand account continued.

The government contends that under a smokescreen over adjournment, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Force were able to withhold testimony about the $200,000.

LaFatch Faces Bribery Trial In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Anthony P. LaFatch, 67, a retired Akron real estate developer, is scheduled to go on trial in U.S. District Court here Monday on charges in connection with an alleged $50,000 bribery attempt.

LaFatch was indicted on six counts by a federal grand jury last fall.

He is accused of demanding a payoff from John Vogel, chairman of Realty National Corp., to assure that the Ohio Commerce Department would approve a $10 million stock sale.

The Commerce Department has denied that LaFatch influenced approval of the stock sale, although Commerce Director Dennis Shaul has admitted giving LaFatch information about the sale.

Tank Car Blazes In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A stream of fire poured out of the ruptured railroad tank car and into a 15-foot pool of flame to form a blazing, billowing column 40 feet high.

Firemen stood 1,000 feet away, helpless except for their efforts to keep the car cool by pouring water onto it from stationary hoses.

Officials, fearing the car, which contained 32,000 gallons of ethylene would exploded, evacuated 3,500 workers from nearby industries.

But as flames continued to consume the liquid, a petroleum derivative used in the production of gasoline, the chances of an explosion lessened.

Firemen from Columbus and townships near the accident, just outside the western city limits, remained on the scene overnight.

Officials said the fire was expected to have burned itself out by 4 or 5 a.m. today.

The trouble began Tuesday afternoon when the Union Carbide Co. tank car en route from Columbus to Charleston, W. Va., derailed at the Penn Central-Phillipi Road crossing.

A valve broke off in the derailment and a spark apparently ignited the spilling liquid, Franklin County sheriff's deputies said. Several hours later a seam in the tank car ruptured, causing a much larger fire.

The tanker was the only car to leave the tracks. Other cars, some of them also tankers, were pulled away from the burning car.

Officials said there was no means of extinguishing the fire.

Firemen placed hoses on tripods to continuously spray water on the tank car and moved back a safe distance from the fire.

The water kept the car's temperature down so pressure wouldn't build up, officials said.

Police evacuated workers from about 10 industries in the area, including a Westinghouse plant where employes on the second and third shifts Tuesday and first shift today lost work.

There are no homes in the area.

Also worrying officials was the presence nearby of a tank farm where the Marathon and Texaco had eight million gallons of refined petroleum products stored.

Traffic was detoured a halfmile in each direction of the accident.

Power in the area was turned off, but that generally affected only the industries which had shut down.

Later in the evening, an explosion expert brought here from Toledo by the Penn Central Railroad used meters to read the gas content of the air around the tanker.

"We're getting zero on our explosion meters," Larry Baggerly, a division superintendent for the railroad, said late Tuesday night.

The cause of the derailment was not determined immediately. No one was injured.

Morgan State Top Team

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Nat Frazier of Morgan State will beat the bushes a little later this year in search of basketball talent, but he figures the delay will prove profitable.

Now when he goes recruiting, Frazier has a couple of new selling points to offer prospects.

The Bears last week won the National Collegiate Athletic Association's College Division tournament, and Tuesday they were voted the nation's No. 1 small college team in the final Associated Press poll.

Frazier was told of the balloting in New York, where he went to watch intrastate rival Maryland-Eastern Shore play Jacksonville in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night.

"Now if they can win the NIT, it would really be something," Frazier said in a telephone interview from the hotel room of John Bates, coach of Maryland-Eastern Shore. "It's too bad that Lefty lost."

He referred to Lefty Driesell, coach of the University of Maryland's fourth-ranked major college team, which dropped a 103-100 overtime decision to No. 1 North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference title game and failed to reach the NCAA playoffs.

Maryland-Eastern Shore, a predominantly black branch of the university, finished first in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics poll, and lost only to Morgan State prior to being invited to the NIT.

Morgan State, led by 7-foot Marvin "The Human Eraser" Webster, posted a 28-5 record this season. The Bears dropped two 15-point decisions to UMES, one in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference championship game.

In the final AP poll, Morgan received 23 first-place votes and finished with 636 points to easily outdistance runnerup West Georgia, the NAIA champion with a 29-4 record, which had eight first-place votes and 496 points.

Kentucky State, 28-5, won four of its five games last week and retained third place while Alcorn State — formerly Alcorn A&M — with a 29-6 log, jumped to fourth.

Fairmont State, 28-3 and last week's leader, slipped to fifth after splitting two games. Fairmont State and sixth-ranked Tennessee-Chattanooga, 21-5, were the only other schools to receive first-place votes.

Gardner-Webb, 25-3, slipped three notches to seventh after losing to West Georgia. Southwest Missouri, 21-9, Tennessee State, 22-6, and St. Mary's, Tex., 24-9, rounded out the Top Ten.

Assumption, 22-7, held No. 11, followed by Augustana, Kentucky Wesleyan, Old Dominion and New Orleans.

WFL Draft Has Variety

NEW YORK (AP) — Monday's World Football League professional player draft had a little bit of everything: one team selected a priest, another took a former pro basketball player, and a third chose the sport's greatest active rusher — in the 39th round.

It seemed almost like a boxing match — each of the 40 rounds lasted about three minutes, followed by a one-minute rest. There were murmurs when teams took heavy-hitting pros like Larry Csonka, Bubba Smith and Alan Page, and there were laughs when former National Basketball Association star guard Richie Guerin was chosen in the last round by the Birmingham Americans.

Mostly, there was the frantic, business-like atmosphere of Wall Street at noon. The floor of the giant hotel ballroom was littered with cigarette butts, torn papers and, possibly, turned hopes. Men who had entered the room attired nattily in the most fashionable suits had shed their jackets and ties before the first round had concluded.

By the time Buffalo Bills star O.J. Simpson was selected by the Southern California Sun — after some five hours of dickering and 463 choices — giant urns of coffee had long since been emptied. Nearly hidden in the clutter of brief cases and press releases, the assemblage of a football league had begun.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Not everyone will say what he really means or make his best impression now, so give others the benefit of the doubt and most will do the same for you.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You are always ambitious, and this day will open new areas for you to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, so be patient.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): What you want and what you actually need may be widely different. Be realistic about your affairs and don't put the cart before the horse, falling witlessly into traps.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): In a defensive position, be circumspect in voicing opinions, in your approach to others. On the offensive, be gently persuasive rather than argumentative.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Superior quality of workmanship and tact in all matters advised. Balance things; gear endeavors in keeping with high hopes. Results can be gratifying.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Organize your program so as to eliminate time-wasting confusion. A good activity day for those born under this Sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your capabilities may not need improvement as much as they need the right exposure. Try to discuss the situation with interested persons.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Others are watching your example now. Some may be uncertain until YOU act, so be fully aware, and determined to present the proper image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may receive several suggestions. Accept only those worth their salt. But be careful not to overlook the helpful through miscalculation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Poor scheduling could distract, send you completely off the tract in some cases. A favorable period for capitalizing on new ideas, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good Uranus influences favor innovations and clever strategies. A fine period in which to put over unusual ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Opponents of your ideas may have a point or two. Try for clarification. Some differences can be avoided, others ironed out.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a great spirit of enterprise, a gregarious personality and outstanding ingenuity. You are ambitious and strive hard to attain your goals, but sometimes are too materialistic in your aims. For you, the reward for effort is more important than the effort itself. Try to find more joy in the means of achievement. You would make an excellent business leader, educator, musician or politician. Birthdate of: Johann S. Bach, composer.

Sponsors Bring Art Works

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A plan which will enable a small but important art museum in Southeast Florida to import six outstanding exhibitions of world-famous art, was announced here.

The plan was developed by J. James Akston, who serves on the boards of museums in New York, Washington and Palm Beach. He is also a trustee of the Norton Gallery and School of Art in West Palm Beach.

He formed a group, the Palm Beach Sponsors Committee Inc., recruited from prominent local art patrons and collectors, businessmen and socialites. They are providing funds for a three-year program of exhibitions, to be capped by a giant sculpture show in 1976. Akston donated $100,000 through the Ziuta and Joseph James Akston Foundation. NEW YORK (AP) — Mileage charts and detailed area maps are turning out to be the best friend of the "gasless-Sunday" driver, according to veteran road atlas publisher Rand McNally. The company's 1974 road atlas includes point-to-point mileage charts for the United States, Mexico and Canada. It also details historic, educational and recreational sites to help careful drivers plan their trips and pick their gasless Sunday destinations in advance.

Views On Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should cable-TV operators pay broadcasters and others copyright fees for TV shows the operators pick off the air? It's a question that's been kicking around in Congress since 1971.

It's still there today, despite a Supreme Court decision this month that cable-TV companies don't have to pay such fees for TV shows they import from distant cities and provide subscribers in their own communities for a monthly charge.

The ruling was viewed in the cable-TV industry as a major victory. And you'd think the major industry group — the National Cable Television Association (NCTA) — would be more than happy to let the ruling answer the copyright question for good.

But NCTA president David Foster says otherwise. On the day the ruling came, he allowed himself a brief cheer, then insisted his group still wants Congress to make cableTV operators pay copyright fees, even though it'll cost them hundreds of thousand of dollars annually. "We have always felt that as a matter of qualifying cable to become a first-class member of the communications fraternity, we should accept this responsibility," says Foster, whose group represents 1,300 of the nation's 3,000 cableTV systems.

"This has been a difficult position for the cable industry to come to," he noted. "There are still many cable operators who don't feel they should pay copyright fees."

However, he added, "quite candidly, a whole lot of our regulatory problems, I think, will either go away or be minimized once we've got the copyright issue behind us."

In 1971, the National Association of Broadcasters, NCTA and copyright owners came to an agreement — sponsored by the White House Office of Tele-communications Policy — to jointly support legislation that would, among other things, make cable-TV liable for copyright fees.

"We still feel that's the way to do it," said NAB president Vincent Wasilewski, referring to the three-way effort.

But Wasilewski, whose group represents 531 commercial TV stations, was skeptical about how hard Foster's association would press Congress for copyright legislation in the wake of the Supreme Court ruling.

But he conceded the NAB's pursuit of the legislation wouldn't be all that vigorous, either, because "this would not be our top-priority legislation." The big push, he said, is for pending legislation to increase the number of years a broadcast license can be held.

The cable-TV legislation — contained in an omnibus bill to update the nation's 65-year-old copyright law — currently is being considered by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee chaired by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Draft Lottery Held Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born Feb. 28 drew No. 1 in today's draft lottery for the nearly two million young men born in 1955.

The prime number was not picked out of the plastics drums holding the numbers until the standby lottery was almost completed.

Before that the young students had picked Jan. 5 as the No. 2, Feb. 16 as No. 3, Sept. 24 as No. 4, June 27 as No. 5, March 13 as No. 6, March 6 as No. 7, March 24 as No. 8, and Oct. 22 as No. 9.

About two-thirds of the way through the drawing the highest number, 365, was assigned to April 29.

The lottery was being held as usual in case it becomes necessary to resume inducting Americans into the Armed forces.

In remarks prepared for the second annual standby lottery to assign the numbers, John D. Dewhurst, deputy director of Selective Service said the purpose is "insurance — plain and simple."

Dewhurst, substituting for draft Director Byron V. Pepitone, who underwent heart surgery Friday, noted that no one had been drafted for 18 months as the military was being transformed into an all-volunteer force.

"The great experiment of maintaining a military force in peacetime of 2.2 million by volunteer means alone shows signs of achieving success," Dewhurst said.

All of the draft law remains in force, except for one sentence that gave the president authority to induct men. That sentence expired last June 30.

The only men involved in today's lottery are those who turn 19 this year. Most of them registered last year at their 18th birthday, as required by law, and were placed in a holding classification.

Only those who are assigned numbers 1 through 95 will be reclassified according to their current civilian status, to provide a standby pool of "readily inductible" men during 1975. None, however, will be given physical and mental exams or otherwise processed.

Those with numbers over 95 will remain in the holding classification and not hear from their draft boards again unless there is a national emergency requiring a change.

All men are in the prime callup group during their 20th year and drop into a lower classification each year until they reach age 26, when their exposure to draft liability normally expires.

Killing Of Brothers Pondered By Jury

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)— The killings of brothers Gary Collins, 11, and Larry Collins, 9, will be investigated by a special Scioto County Grand Jury that convenes Friday, Prosecutor Everett Burton said.

Franklin Broughton, 23, of Portsmouth, has been charged with aggravated murder and arson in the case.

The boys were found strangled and bound with wire in a deserted house that had been set afire.

U.S. Balance Of Payments In Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the United States had a 1973 surplus of $1.2 billion in its basic balance of payments with other countries, an improvement of $11 billion over a year earlier and the first surplus in the history of the basic balance index.

The country had a deficit of $9.8 billion in its basic balance in 1972, meaning substantially more U.S. dollars flowed out of the country that year than were returned to U.S. shores.

The Commerce Department said the biggest single improvement in the country's payments position was in the nation's foreign trade and exchange of services, which were in surplus by $6.9 million, compared with a deficit of $4.6 billion a year earlier.

The over-all surplus of $1.2 billion in the basic balance of payments was the first surplus since the government began computing the basic index in 1960. The best previous year was a $15-million deficit in 1961.

The two devaluations of the U.S. dollar — in 1971 and 1973 — have been the major factors in the improvement in U.S. trade with other countries because they have made U.S. goods cheaper abroad and foreign goods more expensive in this country.

But the devaluations also have had an adverse impact on inflation in this country, since Americans have found they must pay more for domestically produced goods, such as agricultural products, to keep them from flowing overseas to meet foreign demand.

Soviet Copter Held By China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today one of its helicopters made an emergency landing in China last week and the craft and its three-man crew have not been returned.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the Chinese had been asked to "see to it that the crew and the helicopter be found and returned to the Soviet side.

"But the Chinese authorities have not so far produced any reply to the statement," Tass said.

The Soviet Union and China are locked in an ideological war and disputes about their common border, where one million Russian troops are stationed.

Tass said the landing was made March 14 and the incident was reported to a Chinese frontier representative the same day.

Tass said the Soviet "frontier helicopter" flew into an area south of Beleshi in the Altai region to pick up a sick serviceman but lost its bearings in rough weather.

Nixon Takes Easier Stance On Relations With Europe

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Nixon says he believes the United States and its European allies will "work out the differences that we have in the economic and political fields."

Nixon's tone at his Tuesday night news conference was more conciliatory than his warning last Friday that transAtlantic cooperation "is not a one-way street."

The President said he would continue to oppose unilateral U.S. troop cutbacks in Europe, which he had posed as a possible threat during his Friday appearance in Chicago.

Speaking at a convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, Nixon also made an indirect appeal for Soviet help in settling tensions in the Middle East.

"There cannot be permanent peace in the Middle East if the Soviet Union is against it," the President said.

Earlier Tuesday, it was announced in Washington that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will reopen his drive for a military disengagement between Israel and Syria March 29 in Washington.

The disengagement talks are to resume with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan after Kissinger returns from a trip to Moscow to discuss strategic arms limitation negotiations.

The American secretary plans to deal with the Syrians separately later in trying to bridge the "very wide gap" that U.S. officials say divides the October war foes on how much captured territory Israel should yield in the Golan Heights.

At the news conference, Nixon said the United States will remain Israel's friend but that he believes "it is much better to have the United States as a friend of Israel's neighbors and thereby able to influence and perhaps restrain their policies."

Nixon said he is optimistic the Arab oil embargo will not be renewed, even though the Arabs said they would review June 1 their decision to lift the embargo.

On the U.S.-European cooperation issue, Nixon said he was happy with the initial response of French officials to his criticism of lack of progress in adopting a common set of economic and political principles with the United States.

The President last week ruled out going to any summit meeting with the Europeans unless there is agreement on new declarations of cooperation.

Urge Change In Miranda Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is urging the Supreme Court to permit use of some evidence gathered from suspects who have not been fully advised of their rights.

The issue, to be argued before the justices today, involves a facet of the court's controversial 1966 Miranda decision requiring police to inform suspects of their right to remain silent and their right to a lawyer, without cost if necessary.

If the full warning is not given, no statements made by a suspect may be used at his trial.

But if police are led to evidence by those statements, it should be used, the administration has argued in a friend-of-the-court brief submitted by U.S. Solicitor General Robert H. Bork.

Today's argument comes in a case from Michigan in which the state is trying to preserve the 1966 rape conviction of Thomas W. Tucker.

When arrested, Tucker was advised of his rights to silence and counsel but not of the avaiability of free legal help.

Tucker denied the rape, saying that he was with an acquaintance at the time it occurred. The acquaintance not only failed to support the alibi but offered damaging testimony for the prosecution.

Lower federal courts voided Tucker's conviction. Police found their witness only through Tucker's statement and therefore the testimony should be excluded, the courts ruled.

Bork's brief argued that neither the Constitution's protection against self-incrimination nor the need to guard against "third degree" interrogations by police require such a stringent rule of exclusion.

Instead, Bork urged adoption of an "intermediate rule" that would ban use of statements made by those not fully advised of their rights while allowing prosecutors to use otherwise legitimate evidence stemming from those statements.

Snow Falls On Final Day Of Winter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and freezing temperatures rolled over the central Rockies and adjacent Plains today, the last day of winter.

Spring begins at 8:07 p.m. EDT, but the message was misplaced in Lander, Wyo., where 4 inches of snow covered the ground. Valentine and Scottsbluff, Neb., both measured 2 inches of snow.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for the mountains of Colorado and Wyoming and for northeastern Colorado.

Stockmen's advisories were issued for the central high Plains because of snow and cold winds. Winds gusting to 40 miles per hour lashed Rapid City, S.D., before dawn.

Thundershowers spread from the lower Mississippi Valley to the southern Appalachians with more than an inch at Greenwood and Columbus, Miss., and Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Hail the size of marbles pelted an area near Birmingham, Ala., and winds damaged a cotton gin at Delhi, La.

Light rain sprinkled the southern Rockies and the middle Atlantic coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 7 at Butte, Mont., to 75 at Brownsville, Tex.

Teens Credited With Capture

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police have credited three Cincinnati teenagers with the capture of a 17-year-old robbery suspect.

Police said Terry Adams and Wayne Sturgill, 14, began chasing the suspect after he allegedly held up a north side drugstore. The pair was joined by Adams' brother, Jimmy.

When the suspect dashed down an alley and into the Adams' home, Jimmy followed him in and kept him cornered with a pool cue until police arrived.

Nuns Operate Bar In Hospital

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A community of nuns is managing Ireland's newest bar. It's also the country's first bar in a hospital.

"Medically, I think it is a good thing to have a bar in the house," said Sister Theophane Collins, the spiritual director of the new 150-bed hospital near Newmarket-on-Fergus, in County Clare.

The hospital is operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

Kiwanians Hear How To Prevent Injuries

SAFETY OFF THE JOB—Charles Brackett, right, safety supervisor at DuPont, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis meeting Monday. Brackett commented, in his speech concerning Safety Off The Job, that all injuries can be prevented. He was introduced by Doyle Painter, left, program chairman.

The Circleville Kiwanis Club met 6:30 p.m. Monday at Pickaway Arms with Fred Bower, president, presiding.

Guest speaker for the program was Charles Brackett, safety supervisor at DuPont. Speaking on the topic of 'Safety Off the Job', Brackett showed a movie entitled "You and Office Safety" stressing that it is the little things that cause injury.

"At DuPont," Brackett commented, "the philosophy is that all injuries can be prevented." "This can only be accomplished by safety training, establishing safety rules and recognizing safety hazards," continued Brackett. The local DuPont plant has not had a lost time injury since October 1969, yet 118 off plant injuries have occurred during that same period.

To improve off-plant safety, the company is working by a distribution of a family safety magazine, persuading employes to take safety training, literature, discussions at safety meetings, awarding employees with no off plant injuries and an open house at the plant regarding safety information.

The Rev. Eugene Flowers, pastor of the Good Shepherd United Methodist, presented a five minute Lenten message.

Other business included the election of Mike Wilson to the Board of Directors and Fred Bower for the Fastest Gun Contest.

Plans were announced for members to attend the Country Dinner Playhouse May 14 to see "Sunday in New York." Those wishing to go should contact Gene Dowler.

Plant Fruit Trees; Lower Food Budget

Your own apples, pears, peaches, cherries, citrus, plums, fruits of any kinds—all in beautiful, bountiful, healthful harvest from your own trees: this is the miracle that can keep happening for you year after year because trees you can plant now are perpetual food producers, permanent inflation fighters.

Since this is the time to add fruit trees to your landscape plan, authorities from the American Association of Nurseymen offer a few planting tips. The garden center or mail-order nurseryman who provides your trees will have valuable specific instructions, but these general suggestions will be helpful.

The first consideration, the nursery people point out, is the location of the new tree. It should be close to the home, for convenience and landscape beauty, but far enough removed from building structures to make sure limbs and roots will not interfere. Placement should be where soil drains well and where there is sufficient sun.

Once the appropriate location is determined, a hole should be dug large enough to accommodate the bare roots in their natural shape. In the case of balled and burlapped trees, the hole should be about twice the size of the ball.

Place the tree straight up in the center of the hole, making sure the soil fits snugly around the roots to avoid air spaces. Shake the tree gently up and down while backfilling the hole to help pack the soil firmly around the roots. The base of the tree should set about the same depth or slightly lower than it did in the nursery.

After planting is completed, water lightly (but don't soak). Future watering should be sufficient to moisten the root system during hot months. Avoid over-watering, because this can restrict the needed air supply for the tree.

Protect the trunk of the new tree from sun or wind damage. Strips of burlap, cloth, tree paper or foil wrapped in a spiral from the base to the lower limbs accomplish this. Loosen the wrapping as the tree grows.

While your fruit trees are feeding your family and friends and allowing savings, they help make your corner of the world a better, prettier place to be. If you have not been enjoying these very special benefits, the best of all times to begin is now.

Forestall Weeds

Not only are crabgrass preventers helpful in the lawn, but they can be applied at this time of year to shrub borders and garden areas which will not be cultivated. They should prevent the sprouting of annual weeds throughout spring.

Noise Abatement

Turf grasses and other green vegetation act as "acoustical blocks" to deflect, absorb and muffle undersirable traffic, street and community sounds.

Pollution Barriers

Lawngrasses not only look nice, but they can absorb pollutants such as toxic sulfur dioxide and ozone from the air. At the same time they release oxygen, humidify and cool their environment.

For A Promising Rose Garden

No question about it, the rose is by far and away America's favorite flower, and there are varieties to please anyone's taste. They come in all sizes, shapes and colors, and grow abundantly almost anywhere when they are properly planted and cared for.

This is a good season to put the roses in, and American Association of Nurserymen has identified seven simple steps to follow in the planting process. The nursery experts suggest that the plants be kept in a cool place out of the sun until they are put in the ground, and that they be soaked in water shortly before planting.

The first step — Clip off dead or broken roots or shoots.

Step two — Dig a hole 15 to 18 inches deep, depending on the size of the bush.

Step three — Begin to fill the center of the hole with fine soil until there is a mound on which to rest the center of the root system beneath the base of the plant.

Step four — Very carefully place the center of the roots on the top of that mound and spread the roots out over the soil. Work with the soil to form a firm packing around the roots, making sure to eliminate any air pockets.

Step five — Backfill the hole, packing it firmly against the roots. In cold climates the bud union (where the top and roots meet) should be about two inches below the ground level. In warmer areas, the bud union should be at or slightly above the ground level.

Step six — When the hole is about half full, add a little water, then complete filling the hole with soil, continuing to pack it down firmly.

Step seven — Water the bush generously.

Roses require nitrogen, phosphorous and potash as primary elements for their healthy growth, and these can be obtained from commercial fertilizers or from natural materials. Feeding should begin in early spring and be done as often as necessary. Sow the fertilizer two to three inches into the soil surrounding the plant perimeter, and water immediately afterwards.

Roses require a good soaking at least once a week, and rainfall is often not sufficient. At least an inch of water — enough to soak to the roots — should be given to the plant each week. A mulch is not a necessity for roses, but it can help protect roots from high temperatures in the summer and keep weeds at a minimum.

Further advice is readily available from AAN member garden centers or mail-order nurserymen.

Growing Lawns In Shade

Even those grasses recognized as good shade varieties find the going difficult if shade is heavy. The grass can be helped by raising the mowing height. Regular fertilization, deep watering, and avoidance of excessive wear also aid.

Fungicides should be applied if disease threatens; disease often makes greater inroads where shade keeps plants at less than full strength.

A number of the new bluegrasses are good in the shade and fine fescues have always been well regarded under trees.

University Research Yields Grass Bonus

Homeowners are now experiencing a pay-off from the rather unheralded turfgrass breeding programs conducted for many lean years at university research centers. Select varieties becoming available for home lawns include these:

From Rutgers, where Dr. Funk and his students have accomplished outstanding hybridization work, come Adelphi, Bonnieblue, Galaxy, Glade, Majestic Kentucky bluegrasses and Manhattan perennial ryegrass. The Rutgers bluegrasses are notable for resistance to disease, low-growth, and a lengthy season. Most of them have an attractive dark-green color. Manhattan, too, is low-growing for a ryegrass, a deep green, and unusually hardy.

The University of Rhode Island, in keeping with the state's diminutive size (though not its turfgrass talent), is responsible for some of the dantiest of the fine turf varieties. Kingstown is a gem-like velvet bentgrass, the "ultimate" in delicately-textured turf. Exeter is a superlatively uniform colonial bentgrass. Jamestown is the most dwarfish of the nation's Chewings fescues, and exceptionally dark green as well.

Pennsylvania State University is well known for turfgrass research. Penn State gave America its first multi-line fine fescue, Pennlawn. Later came the outstanding Penncross creeping bentgrass, a synthetic hybrid from intercrossing in the field of three parental lines.

Pennstar Kentucky bluegrass is a delightful selection in the mold of Merion (a variety also "polished up" at Penn State from a Philadelphia find). Pennstar comes from European stock.

Pennfine perennial ryegrass is Penn State's most recent release, a beautiful narrow-leaf rye that is hardy and mows neatly.

From farther west comes Sodco Kentucky bluegrass, a blend of four bloodlines painstakingly selected at Purdue University in Indiana, but utilizing some Missouri breeding stock. Sodco is quite low, slow-growing, and compatible in blends.

State universities in Oregon and Washington have developed several varieties of fescue, bentgrass and bluegrass. But perhaps most notable from the far West is Nugget Kentucky bluegrass, a release by the University of Alaska. Nugget is unusually dense and dark green, a bluegrass innovation that has become the talk of the turfgrass world.

A Hint For Hedges

This is a good time to give your hedges their annual trimming to maintain their good appearance and healthy life. One suggestion from the American Association of Nurserymen is timely.

While your personal preference as to design and shape of the finished hedge should be observed, the bottom should be wider than the top. If an attempt is made to trim the hedge to a perpendicular form or with too narrow a base, lower branches are likely to die from lack of light and air, and practically nothing can restore new branches to take their place.

Create Backyard Wildlife Refuge

Your own yard can be a stage where wild animals are the stars and people are the audience. Colorful birds feeding their youngsters, fish weaving among the water lilies, dragonflies darting above a little pool, timid little outdoor creatures picnicking on the lawn—all this and more is a most rewarding gift nature has for you.

Any yard of any size—even a window box, if that's all the space you have—can become a wildlife haven with good planning and very modest cost. The simple basic needs are food, water, and protective cover, all designed for the kinds of guests you wish as backyard neighbors.

The American Association of Nurserymen has a few pointers on the subject—and suggests that further information is available from almost any AAN member garden center or from the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, Washington, D.C. 20036, which has published an authoritative article on the subject.

To meet the feeding requirements of wildlife in you urban setting, the AAN suggests a variety of vegetation—from berries to nuts—to meet year-round needs.

The wildlife's critical need for water can be met with a simple bird bath or ground watering device. (It's a good idea to keep this type of water source elevated to protect against cats and other predators.) However, the most desirable and attractive approach is a small pool with an area large enough to support plants that grow in water as well as around the edge.

Your animal tenants will need protective cover, and this will vary depending on the different species . . . rock piles or stone walls for some, brush piles or dense shrubs for others, evergreens and other trees or bushes for some. These additions to your landscape provide a home base, a source of food in some cases, and a safe haven for the birth and raising of young. All this can be arranged to meet the needs of wildlife guests while it is pleasing to your eyes as well.

Even if space allows only the preparation of a window box, it is possible to create a wildlife refuge in miniature by including those same three elements: food, water, cover.

The important need is to restore some balance of nature to a brick and asphalt enviroment. As anthropologist Rhoda Metraux has written, "Only when man has incorporated into the urban setting all that he once gained through living in nature will he be fully and faithfully urbanized."

Spring Seeding

Damaged portions of a lawn should be spot-seeded early to make the spring growing season as lengthy as possible. Seeding grass on frost-pitted soil is often effective.

But sloppy soils, unworkable as they thaw, make a poor seedbed. Wait until the ground dries enough so that its surface can be scratched with a rake, loosening the soil enough to catch the grass seed.

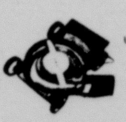
Action-Gard Features For Sentry Mowers

Action-Gard features are an integral part of the design of every Sentry mower . . . they are safety improvements made to offer efficient, long-term operation, sound investment and pleasure in ownership.



ULTRA-LIFT AUSTEMPERED BLADE

... a special design to provide maximum vacuum lift of grass and non-clogging ejection at all speeds.

INTERNAL CHUTE GARD

... near the chute opening, underneath, helps reduce wet grass "hang-up" minimizes windrowing, provides better grass distribution and guides the deflection of "foreign" objects.

EXTERNAL CHUTE COVER AND VACUUM BAG BRACKET

... a combination deflector, grass bag, deck bracket and guard for operator's protection. Cover is all steel, under spring tension to keep it down in operating position at all times. When the grass bag is set in the bracket, bag frame holds the cover up and off the bag.

REAR PROTECTIVE SHIELD

... specially designed "trailing" guard flap to cover the space between rear wheels ... helps deflect and stop thrown "foreign" objects ... positioned to remain on the ground, it will not retard mower maneuverability.

THROTTLE CONTROL

... positioned to move forward for fast ... pulls back for slow and stop.

Don't Starve Turf

Nearly all professional turf managers and researchers agree that, dollar for dollar, a good fertilization and liming program will do more toward getting and keeping a lawn to be proud of than any other single management practice, according to the Fertilizer Institute, Washington, D. C.

Liming and fertilization is an essential part of an overall management program including proper mowing, irrigation or water control, weed and thatch control and insect and disease protection.

For proper growth, grass plants require adequate supplies of many nutrients, some in minute quantities. But calcium, nitrogen, phosphorus, (phosphate) and potassium (potash) in relatively large quantities are essential.

Calcium is necessary for cell and root formation and general plant vigor. In addition, calcium in limestone increases the availability of plant nutrients and the activity of soil micro-organisms through its effect on soil reaction (acidity or alkalinity of the soil.)

Nitrogen is necessary for general growth and for good green color. Phosphorus helps develop deep, healthy roots. Potassium is vital to many plant physiological processes and promotes disease resistance and winter hardiness.

A properly limed and fertilized turf is better able to withstand drought, has less weeds, is more resistant to insect and disease injury, and has a pleasing green color.

If you have questions about the amount of nutrients your lawn needs, talk with your local lawn and garden center specialist.

Perennial Plants Pay Off

A profusion of color and beauty, from spring through autumn, with plenty of blooms for indoor arrangements or table decorations—these are the rewards in store when you add perennials to your gardening plans. Perennials keep paying off year after year without replanting and this is the time to get started.

The choice you can make is wide as to colors, sizes, blooming times, location, landscape layout, and so one, so planning your perennial plantings is a fine opportunity to exercise your own creative flair. Your garden center or mail-order nurseryman can advise you about the right selections for your particular conditions of sunlight, soil, drainage, and flowering seasons.

As a general rule, the best results will be achieved by transplanting perennials you select from a reliable source, and a few gardening suggestions have been provided by the American Association of Nurserymen.

The first step is to prepare the soil by spreading organic fertilizer generously (about two inches deep) over the planting area. Work the material into the top eight inches of soil, then rake the area evenly.

Plant the flowers about 12 to 18 inches apart to give them maximum room for healthy growth. The hole prepared for each plant should be about twice the width and depth of the roots.

Place the plants in the holes, making sure the stem parts are standing up straight. Pack the soil firmly around them, then water the planting area thoroughly.

Ohio Farm Bureau Spokesmen Visit Washington, D.C.

By STEVE JONES
Editor, The Herald

The Ohio Farm Bureau invaded Washington D. C. Monday and Tuesday on the annual Congressional Spokesmen's Trip. Dale Bower, a Pickaway County grain farmer, was the Ohio Sixth Congressional District spokesman.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform Ohio Congressmen on how the Farm Bureau and Ohio farmers stood on proposed legislation effecting the agriculture community.

The five main points which they discussed with Congressmen were:

1. Opposition to the extension of wage and price controls for another year;

2. A balanced budget for the coming year (President Nixon's Budget projects a $9.4 billion deficit spokesmen were told at one of their briefings);

3. Opposition to government held reserves of agricultural commodities;

4. Support of some form of federal land use planning legislation that would encourage planning on a local level;

5. Opposition to abandoment of rail lines that serve the agricultural community.

The itinerary, after arrival in Washington, included: on Monday, a luncheon at the Skyline Inn where Congressmen John Seiberling of Ohio's 14th Districh spoke on land use planning legislation and its application in the states; a meeting at the State Department where they were briefed on the significance of agriculture in establishing and maintaining international relations; a supper at the Skyline Inn with John Datt and other members of the American Farm Bureau Federation Washington Staff; on Tuesday a breakfast with Ohio Congressmen in the Rayburn House Office Building; individual visits with congressmen and finally a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Butz at the United States Department of Agriculture building.

At the meeting with Congressman William Harsha, the Sixth District Representative informed Bower that he was opposed to a wholesale abandoment of railroads not only because of the economic impact but also because of the social effect it could have on communities.

The congressman told the Sixth District contingent which included Richard Burch, Tri County Organizational Director; Nelson Embry of radio station WNRE and myself, that congress has been "legislating by crisis the last couple of years" and the proposed railroad cutback and reorganization is just such an action.

It was the congressman's belief that what has been initially proposed and the final bill will be a great deal different. For Pickaway County, it has been proposed that the Penn Central Line west from Circleville through Williamsport, Atlanta and New Holland to Washington C.H. be abandoned. The Penn Central east through Stoutsville and Amanda to Lancaster while not definitely proposed to be abandoned at this point is not considered essential according to the proposal.

Harsha said the current energy crisis will definitely have an effect on the railroad reorganization, making it much less drastic than originally proposed.

In response to the Farm Bureau's stand on wage and price controls, Harsha was in complete agreement. "I don't like price controls. We must let them drop and allow the law of supply and demand to take over again. We must realize that we are in a world market and the world market controls our supplies and prices."

On Land Use Planning legislation, Harsha said, "I don't want a federal zoning law because of the diversification of the needs of the many states." The congressman indicated he would like to see legislation that encourages local communities to enact their own land use planning regulations.

Harsha commented very little on balancing the budget but left the contingent with the feeling that it is impossible.

In the Tuesday afternoon meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Butz, the Ohio Farm Bureau congressional spokesmen were told their most important job was "to educate the people in their congressional districts on the basic factors effecting food prices." He said there is tremendous pressure on the Administration in Washington to do something about food prices.

Petroleum Industry Faces Light Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has voted to impose a relatively light new tax bite on the petroleum industry for the immediate future.

The tax-writing panel, climaxing a marathon meeting Tuesday night, tentatively agreed to impose a new windfall profits levy. But the proposal would raise virtually no additional revenue from American oilmen who would be exempt from the provision if they pump their energy crisis-generated profits back into the hunt for new energy sources.

The committee also gave temporary approval to a partial phase-out of the petroleum industry's 22 per cent depletion allowance. The allowance is worth about $2 billion annually to petroleum companies.

This phase-out plan is expected to bring in about $150 million next year, when it would take effect. However, by 1981, if fully effective, it could raise some $2.8 billion.

Under the current allowance, 22 per cent of gross income from oil and natural gas property can be deducted from taxable income up to a top of 50 per cent of taxable net income.

The committee also tentatively agreed to several changes in the tax treatment of domestic petroleum company income earned abroad, but these also are expected to yield relatively little new revenue.

The committee decided to use a sliding scale, based on rising oil prices, to phase out the depletion allowance over five years — but agreed that the allowance could not drop below 15 per cent for the first 3,000 barrels of oil daily per producer.

Following that five-year period, however, the allowance could disappear when 75 per cent of all oil is not eligible for the allowance over a year's time.

The committee essentially went along with the administration's proposal for a windfall profits tax.

But the committee then added its so-called plowback feature, by which oilmen could escape paying this levy if they plow back their profits into exploration and development of new energy sources.

ROUNDTOWN

THROUGH the graciousness of the Pickaway County and Ohio Farm Bureau Federation we were guests on the annual Farm Bureau's Congressional Spokesman trip to Washington, D. C. . . . It was exciting and educational and gave us a better insight on how the Farm Bureau Federation gets its message through to Congress and the Administration . . .

We were impressed with Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz and when we left a meeting with him we felt that here was a man not afraid to express his opinion nor to fight for his beliefs . . . We were unimpressed with a spokesman for the State Department who spoke on the significance of agriculture in establishing and maintaining international relations . . . We left that meeting knowing little more than when we went in . . .

We were delighted with a visit to the prestigious Washington Press Club where our hostess was Linda Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance of Derby . . . The Washington Press Club has opened its membership to women reporters only since 1971 and Linda is a vice president of the organization . . . A graduate of Ohio State in agriculture communications, Linda is affiliated with Commodity News Service which keeps its ear tuned to the agricultural economic scene and those national and world happenings which will have an effect on the prices of farm commodities . . .

We enjoyed a visit with Ohio Sixth District Representative William Harsha and left feeling that here was a man with a sympathetic ear who would do his best for his constituents . . .

The only disappointing part of the entire trip was the menu for the breakfast with Ohio Congressmen where we were served "soft boiled bacon and scrambled eggs sunny-side up" . . . We know that bacon wasn't from Pickaway County hogs nor those eggs from Pickaway County hens.

DID you know that Circleville was supplied with mail service at a very early stage of the town's development . . . The first mails were carried between Columbus and Chillicothe thus coming through Circleville with early mail delivery . . . One of the earliest postmasters was Caleb Atwater who was succeeded in January, 1822 by George Wolfley . . . Rural free delivery from the Circleville post office was established in 1901 with one carrier, John W. Lewis . . . The following year, six more carriers were added to the staff.

Major Changes Approved In Ohio Probate Court Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State representatives turn their attention to campaign financing reforms today following their approval Tuesday of a major bill changing Ohio's probate court laws.

The House scheduled a 1:30 p.m. vote on a bill that sets limits on amounts candidates may spend seeking public office and establishes an Ohio Elections Commission to serve as a watchdog for potential campaign abuses.

In other business, a second attempt is expected—in as many days— to spring the so-called "Saturday night special" gun control bill out of the House Rules Committee.

The main sponsor, Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, said his measure failed to get out of the committee for assignment to a floor vote Tuesday by a single vote. "There was one absentee, and he's going to vote for it," Galbraith said.

The Lucas County lawmaker's bill would outlaw the manufacture and sale of cheap handguns defined in the legislation as those which warp or melt at 800 degrees Fahrenheit. Expert testimony given the House Judiciary Committee said the definition would cover most easily obtainable weapons that sell for about $20 or $25.

Galbraith's bill is seen as a compromise between those who tried unsuccessfully to get an outright ban of pistols placed on a statewide ballot along with sportsmen and others concerned about their rights.

Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, won 91-0 House approval of the probate bill which goes mostly to the area of inheritances by a spouse or close relative of a deceased person.

He said the measure, which now goes to the Senate, increases the rights and benefits of surviving spouses and eliminates certain complicated legal requirements. Wilkowski called present laws "archaic."

Although the bill makes more than 100 changes in the existing statutes, some of its major provisions would:

—Assure a spouse of the first $10,000 of an estate plus a $5,000 allowance, in cases where no will was left. Present law requires the spouse to share 50-50 if there is one child or to collect one-third if there was more than one child.

—Provide that a decedent's automobile could be turned over without being considered part of the estate for taxation purposes.

—Allow a "mansion house," or homestead, and one acre of ground to be turned over to a spouse with only one-half interest being subject to the estate tax.

—Eliminate a requirement for a surviving spouse to post bond.

—Permit non-residents to serve as administrators and executors.

—Allow a surviving spouse to receive immediately any wages or income due the decedent up to $1,000. The present limit is $300, accompanied by a 30-day waiting period.

—Permit waiver of appraisals if an asset's value is "readily attainable."

In other business, the House approved and sent to the Senate bills permitting speed limits on municipal streets outside downtown areas to be lowered from 35 to 25 miles an hour, defining the southern shore line of Lake Erie, and requiring the state to share with local governments the cost of primary and special elections called by the state in non-election years.

Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, won 55-21 approval of the Lake Erie bill after explaining that the state needs to define "where the lake ends and the river begins." He said lake waters that "intrude" into rivers and streams flowing into the lake would set a boundary at the furthermost point of their intrusion, under the bill.

The Senate passed two bills but the major action of the day was in the Senate Ways and Means Committee, which recommended confirmation of five Ohio Lottery Commission members appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

It killed, however, a bill that would have changed the site of the lottery headquarters from Cleveland to Columbus. The site was picked by the commission on a 3-2 vote.

Ways and Means Chairman Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said he disagreed with the commission's choice but noted the General Assembly had given it authority to select a site.

"If this bill is to move," he said of the measure authored by Sens. Donald Woodland and Robert O'Shaughnessy, both of Columbus, "it will set a precedent for someone who disagrees with any organization charged to make a decision."

Reps. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, and Harry Turner, R-76 Mount Vernon, introduced a bill in the House that would make Mansfield the lottery headquarters.

Rep. Arthur Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, also put in a House bill to earmark the lottery revenues for school construction. They are scheduled to go into the state's general funds.

The Senate passed two bills by 31-0 votes. Both now go to the House.

One would allow county boards of education to be their own fiscal officers and hire their own clerk. The other would permit Ohio University to give back to Belmont County a building and land it used for a branch until it constructed its own.

A bill regulating private and commercial fishing in Lake Erie which resulted from a study commission appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan. It was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Marigene Valuquette, D-11 Toledo.

Gasoline Shortage Not Going Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American motorist will continue to face a gasoline shortage and he'll pay higher prices for the fuel, despite the end of the Arab oil embargo, President Nixon and his energy chief have said.

Nixon, opening a news conference with the National Association of Broadcasters in Houston Tuesday night, said, "We still have an anticipated shortage of perhaps 5 to 8 per cent in the United States."

Earlier, federal energy chief William E. Simon told newsmen here, "Gasoline is going to cost more and so is heating oil."

A shortage such as that mentioned by Nixon means Americans would have about the same gasoline supply as during the first week of March, when long lines at gasoline stations seemed to vanish suddenly. A 5 to 8 per cent shortage would be a great improvement over the 14 to 20 per cent shortages of February, when motorists waited in line for hours.

The return of Arab oil, Nixon said, would not close the gap completely, although he said it would rule out rationing and mean the end of the Sunday ban on gasoline sales.

"... It will be necessary to continue our voluntary program of car-pooling and also of slower driving," Nixon said of the anticipated shortage.

Simon had explained earlier in the day that as the higherpriced Arab oil returns to the U.S. market, it will raise the average U.S. cost of oil, creating increases in fuel prices to the consumer.

Neither Simon nor Nixon estimated the extent of the price impact but Simon's deputy, John C. Sawhill, has guessed the price of gasoline could hit 70 to 80 cents per gallon at the pump this summer.

Energy officials hope these high prices will at least take the sting out of the remaining shortage by causing motorists to voluntarily reduce their gasoline use.

Simon and Nixon also said that energy problems, in general, would not disappear with the shipments of Arab oil.

The mandatory federal petroleum allocation program would continue, but industry and agriculture would be able to operate "at full capacity," Nixon said.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A man and a woman hijacked an East African Airways plane with 35 people aboard today and airline sources said the couple was reported arrested when the plane landed in Uganda.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP)—The counterbalancing influences of more plentiful fuel and more expensive money left the stock market virtually at a standstill today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.68 at 871.25, but losers led gainers by a small margin in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said Wall Street was welcoming President Nixon's announcement Tuesday night of increased fuel allocations. However, they said, the enthusiasm was dampened by a quarterpoint increase in the prime lending rate posted by New York's Bankers Trust.

A 100-000-share block trade at 10 helped push CNA Financial down ⅝ at 9⅞, to the top of the Big Board's most-active list.

1974 Appropriation Adopted By LE Board

The Logan Elm board of Education met Tuesday night in an extended session of the regular monthly meeting. Among the resolutions passed was the adoption of the appropriation measure for 1974 on a permanent basis.

One resignation was accepted by the board. Mrs. Mariam Hood, a teacher at Pickaway Township School, submitted her resignation so that she may accompany her husband to New Guinea. The board approved the employment of Patricia Faulk to fill the position as of March 29.

Several policies were approved pertaining to the students, the clerk of the board and severence pay. A policy was passed on excessive absenteeism on the part of students. Any student missing 30 days or more of a school year shall receive no credit for the courses he is taking unless a written recommendation by the building principal is placed in the student's permanent file explaining the extenuating circumstances.

According to state officials, each board of education must adopt a written policy covering the vacation time for the clerk. The board approved the policy granting ten working days or two weeks vacation to the clerk on the first anniversary of employment or on Jan. 1, whichever is appropriate. After the fourth year of employment, the clerk will be granted 15 working days or three weeks vacation. Any vacation time not used by Dec. 31, may accumulate to a maximum of 20 working days.

Working in mutual cooperation with the Logan Elm Teachers, a severence pay and confidentiality form policy was adopted to become effective April 1.

A report was given to the board granting the approval to purchase five new replacement buses by the transportation department of the state of Ohio. It is definitely established that a critical need for replacement buses exists, however, the board order is dependent upon passage of the operating levy which will be voted upon in May.

In other business, the varsity basketball coaching position was discussed with the head coach, David Little. Action was then taken not to re-employ him in the coaching position. The meeting was adjourned with the resolution to continue the unfinished business on March 26 at 8 p.m.

Ashville Annexation Hearing Held Today

A hearing on the annexation of approximately 133 acres into the village of Ashville was heard before the Pickaway County Commissioners this morning. Wayne Hines, Robert Liston Jr. and Dick T. Tootle heard arguments both for and against the proposed annexation in the common pleas courtroom 10 a.m. until noon.

Spokesmen for the land developers and architects were present to explain the character of the annexation and to answer questions from the roomful of interested parties.

Guy Leatherwood, petitioner for the annexation, said that the growth of the Ashville area would occur anyway either because of its relationship to the metropolitan area of Columbus or in spite of it.

Phillip Martin of the firm working with Leatherwood on the development of the project explained the possibilities of the area and the proposed land development. He said they were trying to develop the land to the betterment of the community. The project includes 176 one-family homes on the north side of Route 752, very light industry along the railroad and multiple-family units and shopping facilities near Route 316.

Plans for the homes have gone through FHA for insurance purposes but will be financed through commercial banks and conventional loan companies. Martin said several of the businesses of the Ashville area have shown interest in the shopping center and four to five stores have written letters of intent to establish themselves in the new center.

He did agree that the biggest problem to encounter was the sanitary sewer system and an adequate water supply.

Bob Brant from the architectural firm in Columbus which has been working on the plans for the development presented sketches of the proposed shopping center and the apartment buildings. The development of the area will be done in three phases. The proposed shopping center will start in the first phase with approximately 50,000 square feet and four to five stores. Brant said the center would be in a market type environment and would be developed approximately one mile from the center of the village.

Houses proposed by the plan would range in cost from $28,000 to $33,000 and would be completely landscaped. They would be approximately 1400 square feet plus full basements. One of the arguments for the annexation was the fact that the housing was needed and it would attract the young people to stay in the community. The shopping facilities would also attract those who come into the area to make their money and leave the area to spend it.

Kynn Kreuzer, an owner of part of the property proposed for development, said a loan for over $500,000 had already been approved for five apartment buildings in the area. The buildings would include all two-bedroom units.

Major questions from Ashville residents included the assurance of the completion of the project, influx of students into the already crowded schools, water problems and the condition of the present streets, sidewalks and sewers in Ashville.

A spokesman in favor of the annexation said the project would add approximately 300 additional children into the schools but reminded the project would take up to four years to get underway. He also pointed out that a performance bond would assure the completion of the area.

An additional argument against the annexation was the people buying these $30,000 home could not afford to vote for a levy for the schools. William Pritchard, an Ashville resident, said that the village could not take care of the streets and sidewalks they had already without adding more to the town. He said at his home, he did not have sanitary or storm sewers but would be assessed for them when they were installed. Many of the residents were hesitant to accept the proposed annexation.

The county commissioners will announce their decision as to the annexation after they have considered all the argument presented at today's hearing.

Booth Sees Nixon Out Before 1977

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Odds are less than 50-50 that President Nixon will complete his second term in office, the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says.

Arch Booth offered the forecast Tuesday, the day before the annual meeting of the Ohio State Chamber of Commerce. Booth was the scheduled keynote speaker.

Booth said the chances President Nixon will resign or be impeached appear to be growing daily. But he said he's against such a move—unless Nixon is guilty of criminal offense.

Resignation, in particular, would "weaken our government," he declared. Instead, constitutional procedures for the removal of the President should be followed.

Booth added he presumes the President is innocent, until proven guilty.

The chamber, meeting in a business session, elected 14 new members to its board of directors and re-elected 25 others.

Elected to the board for the first time were Frank N. Bien and Charles S. White of Canton, Richard T. Dugan of Cincinnati, Richard P. Eide, Alan L. Hyde and James H. Tinsley of Cleveland, H. Roy Chope, Dr. Harold Enarson and C. Kenneth Smith of Columbus, Clifford R. Schaible of Dayton, Richard H. Holl of Logan, Keith McKenney of Toledo, Fred L. Gronvall of Youngstown and George W. Holton of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Kidnaping Attempt Bungled

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A gunman forced himself into a Decatur residence in an apparent kidnap attempt, only to find out he had the wrong victim, police have disclosed.

Police and FBI agents said Tuesday they were looking for a man who appeared Monday at the home of John H. Burns, a Decatur businessman. They said the man, who identified himself as a pottery salesman, produced a gun when Mrs. Burns appeared at the door and forced his way into the home. Burns was at work at the time.

The man thought he was in the home of Charles Huthmacher, an attorney and trust officer at Citizens National Bank of Decatur, police said.

The Burnses recently moved into a home formerly occupied by the Huthmachers.

The intruder phoned Huthmacher at the bank and told him he was holding Huthmacher's wife and would kill her unless Huthmacher paid him $35,000, police said.

Huthmacher contacted police and together they went to the Huthmacher home, where they found that everything was all right.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Burns convincd the gunman that she was the wrong woman.

Amtrak, the National Rail Passenger Corp., announced Tuesday that the fare hike would go into effect April 16.

The rate boost is intended to produce about $12 million in additional revenue, the corporation said.

A Page Of Opinion

Coppers Days Numbered

Copper pennies have been around a long time, although they have shrunk in size from some of the earlier quarter-sized coins. But their future seems decidedly limited because of the rising prices of metals, including copper.

The U.S. Senate already had decided the penny should be made of aluminum, and the House of Representatives is waiting only for tests by the coin vending industry to follow suit. The question of conversion could become moot if many more months elapse.

Gresham's Law will come into play the moment the intrinsic value of the copper in a cent is more than a penny. At that moment the coppers will begin to disappear from circulation, joining the old silver quarters and dimes in back of bureau drawers.

A Capitol Idea

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There are now so many lawyers involved in the concentric circles of Watergate, and so many labyrinths of the law, that I'm beginning to feel sorry for the blokes who will be assigned to cover the Presidential Inauguration of January, 1977.

Dick and Pat will still be around, of course, as will the girls. Like other departing Presidents before him President Nixon will make a valiant effort to conceal his faint contempt for the man who will be succeeding him that wintry day on the steps of the Capitol. James Buchanan considered Abraham Lincoln some kind of a nut for even wanting to succeed him.

The presence of the Nixons on the Inauguration stand, along with such treasured old friends as John Ehrlichman, Bob Haldeman, John Mitchell, Maurice Stans and Rose Mary Woods, will tend to make coverage of the induction of the new President as difficult, say, as the set of circumstances that used to cause nightmares among old-time baseball writers. To wit:

Final game of the World Series . . . bottom of the ninth at Yankee Stadium . . . Cardinals leading 3-0 . . . two outs . . . bases loaded . . . Babe Ruth at bat . . . the count is two-and-three . . . Babe hits the next pitch out of the park for a record-setting home run . . . Yankees win game and series . . . pandemonium . . . but ball hits President Roosevelt on head in his open car (he had left the game early to beat the crowd) and kills him. Question: How do you start your story?

The problem of the reporter in 1977, the way legalistic things now shape up, will be how to account — in the first paragraph — for all the facets of an unprecedented Inaugural. Might go something like this:

"By John Dean III. (Ed Note: Dean, after his great acquittal in 1976, became Washington correspondent for the newly merged New York Times-News-Post-Sports Illustrated-Cosmopolitan.)

"Well, folks, here I am at the Inauguration of President George Wallace, to the best of my recollection. This could be a case of mistaken identification, of course. But I'm reasonable sure that also present on the platform are President Nixon, former Vice President Agnew, whose case is pending on the over-crowded calendar of the Supreme Court, according to Jack Anderson, Jr., and dozens of others who are close to Mr. Nixon, including process servers. It's real crowded there on that platform, folks, so crowded that President Wallace had to leave Mrs. Wallace home in Montgomery, and old Chief Justice Warren Burger will be forced to administer the oath on an Avon paperback Bible. There's Martha Mitchell in the first row, holding hands with John. The $20,000,000 movie about their romantic reunion, starring Robert Redford as John and Raquel Welch as Martha, opens tonight at Madison Square Garden. Mr. Nixon and Vice President Ford won warm applause from the crowd of nearly a thousand onlookers as they marched arm-in-arm to the stand. It was a mighty popular move they made at ten o'clock this morning, their joint statement that they would yield the Executive Office to Mr.Wallaceand his Vice President, Mrs. Wallace, even though the language of the 22nd Amendment— 'No person shall be elected to the office of President more than twice' — is deliberately vague and open to partisan interpretations by unfriendlies, as good gray Ron Ziegler put it so wisely last night on the Gerry Warren 7 o'clock news, formerly the Walter Cronkite Show.

"Conspicuous by their absences today are member of the House Judiciary Subcommittee, still busy studying whether to submit an impeachment report on President Nixon to the full House. Also missing today is the dean of House Democrats, Wilbur Mills, who issued a famous statement 'way back in March of 1974 that Mr. Nixon would resign within a month or so after the release of a report on his situation. Mr. Nixon will answer that today on the TV networks, which have given him equal time to first answer President Wallace Inaugural Address. It is believed that Mr. Nixon will reveal that he has received a Congressional apology from the income tax subcommittee, and a refund check for $594,601. 37 from the I. R. S. It will pay for new guttering at his several estates, where he plans to write his award-winning 'My 12 Crises.'

"Now a hush settles over the throng as the first of the four benedictions— Greek, Jewish, Catholic-Lutheran, Protestant, and Zen-Buddhist — begins. This will be followed by the new National Anthem: 'Hail to the Chiefs,' written last night as a substitute, in case today's ceremony is ordered by Judge Sirica to show cause why there can't be two Chiefs. The matter is now before the Appellate Court, and both Evans and Novak have split up over that, and which has legal rights to the word 'however.' Also pending in other courts: the question of the missing tapes, and the plea by Dr. Fielding that the plumbers ruined his couch. Dr. Elsberg has his own attorney in this long-running legal case: Prof. Archibald Cox . . ."

And so on.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity and problems, a questioning of basic economic assumptions and less involvement by the federal government are among the projections being used by a major bank in planning for the year 1985.

Bankers have a tendency to count years before they occur, but usually their most serious projections are confined to the very immediate future. But for its own internal use, the Continental Illinois National Bank went further.

It foresees the Gross National Product, or the total of all goods and produced and services provided, as rising from about $1.3 trillion in 1973 to nearly $2 trillion in 1985 — and that's after discounting for inflation.

Yes, they expect inflation to continue, at a rate averaging close to 3 per cent between now and 1985. Otherwise that GNP figure would come out to something like $2.85 trillion.

Measured in constant dollars, nearly 60 per cent of all families are expected to be earning $10,000 or more in 1985 — the percentage was about half that in 1970 — and the median income is foreseen rising to $12,-000 from $8,600.

But just as inflation and higher than usual interest rates are likely to persist, the bank's forecasters told its staff, so will it be more difficult in the future to achieve a jobless rate near or below 4 per cent.

The savings rate, which during the past three years topped 8 per cent briefly, is foreseen as averaging around 6 per cent, or only slightly lower than average of the decades of the 1950s and 1960s.

The cult of youth is expected to fade as the birth rate declines to two children per woman, but the percentage in the 25-44 age bracket is projected to rise significantly. And that means more housing — nearly double the 1960s rate.

Women will be in the ascendancy in job markets, income, influence, power. Over the past 20 years female employment grew by about 70 per cent, while male employment rose 20 per cent. That trend is expected to continue.

Continuing another trend, the economy is expected to become even more service-than product-oriented, meaning the majority of jobs will be in trade, transportation, finance, the professions and the like rather than in manufacturing.

Expectations of changes in society's attitudes and values toward business, the quality of life, work, income, living standards and the like conceivably could present some touchy problems.

The forecasters seemed convinced that the federal government will be less a factor in individual lives than during recent decades, at least in regard to the spending of public revenues.

Internationally, the report concludes that "on a relative basis, the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer." This, it said, "is not a problem that can be ignored by the managers of multinational firms and financial institutions."

Especially as world trade accelerates, the forecasters said, there will be increasing attention focused on the issue of world income distribution."

Ex-School Chief Wins Lawsuit In Athens County

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A judge here has ordered the reinstatement of George Christman as superintendent of schools in Athens County.

Common Pleas Court Judge Lowell Howard ruled Monday the board of education didn't have sufficient cause to fire Christman last year.

Howard ruled in addition Christman should be paid for the year he was off the job.

The judge decided there was not sufficient evidence to support charges of gross inefficiency and wilful and persistent violation of district regulations.

3 Million Horses In U.S. Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — As World War I neared, when the horseless carriage was still as backfiring curiosity, Americans owned some 25 million horses — or about one to every four people.

By World War II, there were between four and five million horses in America. Today's estimate is around three million — and probably increasing, thanks to a new interest in suburban and countryside pleasure riding.

Sheep Gets Her Share

LONDON (AP) — A fully grown sheep found wandering near London's Euston Station has created a host of woolly problems for police. Frank Pawlowski claims ownership of the animal and says he wants to sacrifice it to a sun god in a religious ritual. The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says this is illegal.

While the dispute rages, the 3-year-old ewe has eaten all the roses around the police station where she is detained.

"Yes, we do do things together. We argue and we fight!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Many readers have expressed wonder how doctors without benefit of laboratory reports can come to a conclusion about a medical problem.

The art and science of medical diagnosis depends on special perceptive qualities acquired by training.

The general appearance of a patient, the color and texture of the skin, the clouding of the eyes, a spiritless expression, weakness in speech patterns, how a patient walks, are all meaningful in the preliminary pursuit of a diagnosis.

The color of the fingernail beds, the moisture of the mouth can be signficant, too.

The stethoscope reveals the regularity of the heart, the presence or absence of murmurs, and the clear breath sounds of the normal lungs.

These and similar findings make up the clinical judgment that is so often referred to in these columns. A physician comes to a tentative conclusion and then proceeds to verify it.

There are some general classifications of disease that categorize most illnesses.

Infections caused by bacteria, viruses, and molds are always considered. Allergy to food, drugs, inhalants and contactants is a major cause of many body disorders.

Tumors are carefully inspected and suspicious ones that suggest cancer are further investigated.

Injuries, of course, are readily recognized.

Degenerative changes due to advancing age, with narrowing of the blood vessels and weakening of the muscles and joints, are of special diagnostic importance in the doctor's office.

Nutritional disturbances, vitamin deficiencies give tell-tale evidence, even on first examination.

The modern physician's sensitivity to emotional factors plays an important part in his total evaluation of the patient.

It is firmly established that the emotions are vitally involved in every phase of the body, in health and disease.

In this frenetic, highly geared civilization it is virtually impossible to practice medicine without a constant awareness of the close interplay between the emotions and all physical illness.

The practice of medicine is, indeed, an artistic endeavor. In this age of specialization, the family physician is still the bulwark of the nation's health.

Very Brave Lady

By JIM BISHOP

When I make a mistake, it is a thing of beauty. Recently—and rather carelessly, I thought — I wrote a column about my personal dislikes. One of the readers who took umbrage was Mrs. Charles Sittig of 350 Fairview Avenue, Canfield, Ohio. This lady can write. Listen:

"I'm sitting in my warm fuzzy robe with the many-colored Afghan Grandma made thrown over my shoulders, but I'm shivering. It is 7:30 in the evening and I'm sipping a vanilla milkshake my youngest, Carol, 13 (and a queen in the kitchen), has lovingly blended for me.

"I pick up the paper, turning quickly past the energy crisis and the gasoline tactics which takes me to the second section. I can scarcely swallow the thin, sweet milk mixture. I've just come from the office of the gentle Chinese-American surgeon, Dr. Y. T. Chiu.

"He has gingerly sliced off another length down the edge of my tongue, stitched it and asked me to return Friday when the biopsy will be back from Columbus. I've waited lots of times before in the period which has slowly clicked off three-and-a-half years since the day when he said softly, 'If it is cancer, I will excise most of the tongue . . .'

"Dear God, I am a public school teacher of vocal music and I love my work. 'I sing,' I whispered. A few moments of silence. Then my mind encompassed the faces of my dear husband and our four growing children.

"'Go home,' he said, 'and I will call when we have a room at the hospital.' That was on Friday. The two days until he phoned were two years. Have you ever walked around a house looking at a picture, touching a lovely vase, petting the family dog—wondering if you will ever see them again?

"I knew. My loved ones kept saying that the little ulcer on the tongue was just a little ulcer: 'you'll be home in a few days.' But I knew. I remembered the fate of friends like Jean, Pat and Julie, also my precious adoptive father, my own mother.

"After surgery, Dr. Chiu told my husband, 'A very fast spreading type of cancer.' My husband had never seen a doctor with real tears tumbling down his cheeks. Next I saw a sign: 'Radiation Therapy.' Behind the door, a tall, blue-eyed Irish doctor, Barry Sheridan, looked at my tongue.

"'We find this frequently in countries where there is poor oral care. Do you smoke?' 'No.' 'Well, there is a more elegant way in which we can treat this.' More elegant than what? Cutting it out?

"The second trip to surgery was to implant 16 beads of radium, each one sewed into the tongue. They were attached by wires to the outside of the mouth and held to the cheek with tape. Then 12 days of isolation.

"I read the cheery get-well cards. I read the new English Bible. I remembered the words, 'No atheists in foxholes,' and felt guilty. The third trip on a cart was to remove the implants and the wires. A mahogany complexioned man stopped. He was the anesthesiologist, the man from India who had asked about allergies, drug reactions.

"'How is nice lady today?' he said. 'Nice lady is scared,' I said. He held my arm and said, 'Why afraid?' He took time to calm my shaking. In spite of my fears, everything went well.

"I was home again. Happy. Then a big, round lump sat up on my neck. Out-patient. Thirty trips to lie under a mysterious super-voltage machine called 'Magna.' Each day I went to therapy, then on to teach my choir.

"We gave our concerts, and I stopped trying to cover the big, black X-marks placed on my skin to guide the technician. We sang. We performed.

"It isn't over, Mr. Bishop. It is what Stewart Alsop calls, 'Coming to terms with death.' In his book, 'Stay of Execution,' he writes: 'There is a time to live, but there is also a time to die. That time has not come for me. But it will. It will come for all of us.'

"Yes, I have even come to the point where I can pray what Catherine Marshall calls the 'Prayer of Relinquishment,' which I could not bring myself to say three-and-a-half years ago. And yet I am not unwilling to teach. I love to sing. I love to watch my family grow.

'I love your work, Jim Bishop. I have a desk drawer full of your columns I deem too precious to throw out. But now the principle of my letter to you. You said: 'They spend billions on a cure for cancer; science can't cure a cold.' My dear Jim Bishop, how many people do you know who have died of a common cold?"

As I said, when I pull a boner it is a thing of beauty.

P. S. I phoned Mrs. Sittig. The latest biopsy is negative . . .

A Macedonian astronomer, Andronikos of Kyrrhos, created a weathervane in the form of the god Triton, his hand pointing the direction of the wind, for the Tower of the Winds in Athens around 50 B.C.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Pick Up Broken Pieces

DEAR ABBY: My experience may help some married man avoid a tragic mistake. This is a true letter. If you find it column worthy, you may print it, but please do not use my name:

Past 70 years of age and married to a faithful wife for 35 years I fell madly in love with a music teacher 20 years my junior. I courted her magnificently, gave her gifts of jewelry, clothing, appliances for her home, weekend trips-even a beautiful piano.

I divorced a faithful wife and gave up a highly respected position to marry this lady in Las Vegas.

Now, after a few months of marriage, a divorce is being processed, and I now find myself with a completely loused up life. My "bride" got as much as she could out of me and is seeking her freedom.

A lifetime reputation has gone down the drain. I have broken my first wife's heart, and my children have lost their respect for me. My health is failing, my heart is heavy, and I am living proof that there is no fool like an old fool.

LOVED AND LOST

DEAR LOVED: Regret is the cancer of life. It may not be too late to pick up the pieces. Why not try?

DEAR ABBY: My mom counts calories and she doesn't like to see any high-calorie food on her own plate, so she takes a little bit from me, a little bit from my sister, and a little bit from my father, and all those little bits add up.

If she gains a pound she is very unhappy and yells at us.

Please publish your advice before we all die of malnutrition and Mom chews our heads off.

HER FAMILY

DEAR FAMILY: Next time Mom reaches for something on your plate remind her that it's in her mouth for a moment-and on her hips for the rest of her life. That should help.

DEAR ABBY: This is my third letter to you, and it will be my last if you do not answer it. My problem is a lot more serious than some of the junk I read in your column, and I want to know why I have not received an answer. I asked you for a personal reply.

MY LAST LETTER

DEAR LAST: If your newspaper doesn't run a line indicating that for a personal reply you should write to Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope, they should. Everyone who follows the above instructions receives an answer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGO: To mispronounce a word is ignorance. To correct one in the presence of others for having mispronounced a word is cruelty. In my book cruelty is a far more serious offense than ignorance.

Fuel Oil Stored At Closed Stations

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Fuel oil is being stored in underground tanks at closed-down gasoline stations in what officials say is a legal and practical move.

A Hamilton Journal-News survey showed that at least 15 stations that no longer are in business in the Hamilton-Fairfield area are renting for $25 to $50 a month for storage purposes.

The Federal Energy Office in Columbus and the Internal Revenue Service in Cincinnati said the storage is legal.

One trucking firm occasionally delivers the fuel to the abandoned station is F. J. Egner & Son Inc. of Hamilton. Egner is a subsidiary of Coast Tank Lines Inc. of Akron.

A Coast spokesman said the practice is common and is done by the customer purchasing the fuel. He said there are several reasons for the storage.

—When a gasoline station closes its empty underground storage tanks can float up through the ground unless anchored.

If the tank is anchored by filling it with water it can rust, the spokesman said.

"If they're ever going to use that station again they might store fuel oil for use by another station. This gives the other station a greater storage capacity and keeps the tank anchored and usable," he said.

—If a municipality needs storage space, "the most obvious place to rent would be closed service stations," the spokesman said.

The fuel oil coming to Hamilton for storage could be coming from 20 different states serviced by Coast and its subsidiaries, he said.

One major oil company executive who asked not to be identified was quoted by the FEO and IRS as saying he was storing fuel oil for some of his industrial customers.

One former station owner now renting his underground tanks told the Journal-News the fuel oil being stored at his station was for a "big local industrial company."

Several truck drivers bringing fuel oil in told the Journal-News they came from the Toledo-Akron area.

Robert Spiro of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in Columbus said there has been no fuel oil supply problem in Ohio. Local fire officials said the stored oil underground presented no fire hazard.

Federal Controls Apparently Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's attempt to retain partial wage and price controls after April 30 may be dead in the House, according to House Banking Chairman Wright Patman.

"Any hope for passage or even committee action appears to be dim, if not dead," the Texas Democrat told the House Monday.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., the ranking Republican on the committee, declined to introduce the administration's bill.

In the Senate, three members of the Banking stabilization subcommittee have agreed on a compromise bill that would extend controls temporarily and establish a mechanism by which controls may be reimposed only if criteria establishing "serious inflation" are established.

Sens. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., and Joseph Biden, D-Del., agreed on the compromise and will meet Wednesday with the committee to begin close scrutiny of it.

No legislation is being marked up in the House.

As Patman noted in his House speech Monday, the administration hasn't even found someone to introduce its bill.

It calls for retention of the Cost of Living Council to monitor existing wage and price agreements and extension of mandatory controls over the health and construction industries.

CAB Orders Air Fare Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline fares should be increased on short flights and decreased on long-distance trips, the Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled.

The board on Monday also ordered the nation's airlines to increase the difference in price between first-class and coach travel and to lower the charge passengers pay when their trip requires flights on more than one airline.

The board, calling the present system of domestic air fares unjust and discriminatory, ordered the changes in effect in 120 days unless appealed by the airlines.

News Of Interest To Women

CAMPAIGN POSTERS—Girl Scout Troop 1051 distributed posters for the Easter Seal Society's 1974 campaign to all downtown stores on Saturday. Alys Hine is shown accepting a poster at Bingman Drugs from Marty Harman, Kim Farmer, Teresa Utt and Elizabeth Smith.

Jay Clevenger Speaker For Scioto Chapel Women

Scioto Chapel Women's Society met Thursday afternoon at the Robtown Parish Hall for its monthly meeting.

Mrs. Howard Koch conducted devotions, reading scripture from first Corrinthians 15:41. She also read a collection of poems including "Tempo," "The Tunnel Of Life," "Angels Weep" and "No God."

Mrs. Cecil Ward, president, presided at the business meeting. A letter of appreciation from Children's Hospital was read for wheel-chair lap robes received, which were made by Mrs. Ned Walker. Special thanks were conveyed to the society from Wendell Neff, Mrs. James Holbrook, Mrs. Robert Drummond and Mrs. Elzie Brooks for flowers received during illness.

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet will be held at the Good Shepherd UM Church Service Center in Circleville in May. Also a rummage sale will be held at the Robtown Church in May. These dates will be announced later.

It was voted to send a box of clothing to the Red Bird Mission in Kentucky. Mrs. Brooks was appointed to conduct memorial services at the April meeting. Mrs. Ned Walker was appointed news reporter. Clean-up day in the Parish Hall will be held in the near future.

Mrs. Brooks, program chairman, read three poems, "Wonderful World," "The Magic Of Love," and "Give Abundently." She conducted a contest taken from the Hollywood Squares. The prize winner was Mrs. Frank Noggle.

For the program Mrs. Brooks introduced Jay Clevenger administrator of the Brooks-Yates School and Workshop of Pickaway County.

Mr. Clevenger defined in detail mental retardation, the causes of which are numerous. The development of the mind is slowed before adolescence, leaving the child below average in mental powers. The moderately retarded can generally learn to care for themselves and do semi productive work. The mildly retarded are sometimes hard to distinguish from normal persons. Severly retarded are unable to care for themselves and require constant supervision.

In the workshop, which is separate from the school, workers receive additional training and are paid wages for work contracted. Ceramics are also made and sold here.

Other branches of the school include a home training service for children unable to get out, which is conducted in the home by Mrs. Leora Sayre. Preschool for unusual children is held in the Williamsport church.

Mr. Clevenger also showed colored slides, of the pre-school, the children receiving home training and activities at the Brooks-Yates School. A question and answer period followed.

At the close of the program, the hostesses in charge, Mrs. Lee Downs, Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Mary Besanson and Mrs. Howard Koch served refreshments to 16 members and Mr. Clevenger.

The candlelight table was decorated predominately in green in accordance with St. Patrick's observance and centered with a blooming begonia plant.

Therapy Program Conducted By Garden Club

Monrovian Garden Club conducted a therapy program recently at Orient State School for 35 residents.

Miss Laura Long, chairman of the project "Plant And Grow," with the help of Mabel Stoer and Helen Armentrout taught the class how to plant seeds.

Seed starting containers of peat pots were given each student with enough soil and vermiculite in which to plant Marigold seeds.

The seeds were watered thoroughly and placed on trays in plastic bags where they will remain until the seeds sprout. When the plants are about six inches high they will be transplanted in the pots to the playground flower beds.

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Afternoon Coffee

Prune tea loaf, coffee.

Prune Tea Loaf

It's at its best served the same day it's baked.

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
Grated rind of medium orange
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
¾cup slivered packaged pitted prunes
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Thoroughly stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and orange rind; beat in eggs one at a time. Stir in flour mixture in 4 additions, alternately with milk, until smooth each time. Fold in prunes and nuts. Turn into a 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan that has had the bottom lined with wax paper and the paper greased. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 1 hour. With a small metal spatula loosen edges and turn out on wire rack; remove paper; turn right side up; cool completely before slicing. Good with cream cheese.

LENTEN FARE

Dilled shrimp soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, fruit and beverage.

DILLED SHRIMP SOUP

Simple but delicious way to vary a canned soup.

10½-ounce can condensed cream of shrimp soup
Milk
¼ teaspoon dill weed

Empty soup into a 1-quart saucepan and stir; fill soup can with milk and stir, a little at a time, into soup. Add dill weed. Slowly heat to boiling, stirring often. Makes 3 servings.

Veterans Feted By Auxiliary

Twenty-six patients of Ward 211C Chillicothe Veterans Hospital were served chocolate cake, ice cream, punch and cheese curls during the monthly visit of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary. Games and visiting completed the evening.

Mary Stephens, veterans affairs and rehabilitation chairman, was assisted during the evening by Roseann Stinson, Maggie Mavis and Mrs. Harry Walsh, American Legion Auxiliary hospital representative.

The men were given St. Patrick Day mint filled favors made by Betty Woods.

Courts, Prisons Meeting Topic Of Circle 1

"Courts, Prisons And Need For Reform" was the program topic for the recent meeting of Circle 1, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, attended by 13 members in the Service Center.

Sue Roan asked for assistance at the Clothing Center on April 24. Announcement was made of the Columbus South District meeting on April 20 at Lancaster Campgrounds and the Mother and Daughter banquet on May 9.

Blanche Kerns read "At Day's End" and asked members to remember to use Thank Offering boxes and prayer calendars.

Mary E. Radcliffe was in charge of the program begun with singing "Brightly Beams Our Father's Mercy." Elizabeth Valentine read Scripture from John 8-11.

Participating in a playlet were: Delores Bennington, Sue Roan, Sue Steele, Elaine Bowman, Patty Kirkwood and Luana Frank. It concerned a boy who had problems and was taken to prison. There he completed his high school requirements. It showed how people should care and try to help people in trouble and be a friend and listen as they need friends and employment.

Discussion groups used as subjects: Should exconvicts be accepted into the church? What should be the purpose of penal systems. Does probation help? How do adults view the police?

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mary Radcliffe. The April meeting will be in the home of Lynn Mundy and Elaine Bowman will present the program.

Add dill seed to drained sauerkraut and use as a relish with corned beef sandwiches. Or if you like, the dilled sauerkraut may be used along with the corned beef as the sandwich filling.

Shaul-Rhodes Collision Builds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes claims he never used his controversial real estate broker's license, but "I'll fight all the way before I ever give it up."

Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, who questions the legality of the way Rhodes got his license, is just as determined to fight all the way to make him return it.

For a year the battle has raged. There still is no answer.

Rhodes has been told the license will be revoked if he doesn't agree to a hearing on the issue within the month.

"I'll go to court," vowed Rhodes.

Shaul began the battle when he learned that Rhodes received the license from his own appointees on the Ohio Real Estate Commission four days before he left office in 1971.

Rhodes took an oral examination in governor's office. He said the commission and its executive secretary felt that giving the governor a written examination with 200 others would have been disruptive.

The former Republican governor claims the inquiry into his license began only after he announced he would be a candidate for office again.

Rhodes attempted to file Jan. 24, 1973, but his candidacy initially was disallowed on constitutional grounds. The Ohio Supreme Court ruled he could run and he filed again June 6.

Shaul, ex-officio member of the Real Estate Commission, tried to conduct a hearing on the affair March 23, 1973.

The hearing bogged down when Paul Everson of Euclid, a Republican holdover on the commission, refused to testify. Shaul threatened him with a court order, but Everson didn't budge.

The board, now made up entirely of appointees of Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan and with a new executive secretary, Robert Gippin, has discovered some others holding licenses it considers to be given in an unusual manner.

Among those is one held by Gerald Wedren, acting commerce director under Gilligan before Shaul received permanent appointment to the post.

In a letter to Gippin, Wedren said he thought his successor was "attempting to publicly embarrass people on technicalities which are totally erroneous."

Rhodes adopted much the same attitude with some politics thrown in. "I welcome the opportunity to go to court and settle this matter," said Rhodes. "Gov. Gilligan should stop hiding behind the political propaganda of Dennis Shaul."

AIRS HIS GRIPES—Comedian Redd Foxx rests his head in his hand as he tells a news conference in New York about a pain in his back. He told newsmen he would return to the TV show "Sanford and Son," if NBC corrects certain conditions—including the show's depiction of black life. Foxx's doctor, who was at the news briefing, said the actor suffered a calcium deposit in the spinal column that caused acute pain when he turned his head.

Board Questions Power Site Pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board will ask Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to determine if awarding a state contract to a member of the Power Siting Commission violates Ohio's ethics law.

The board Monday deferred action on granting a $120,000 consulting contract without competitive bidding to L. S. Preston and Associates.

Preston, highway director in the administration of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, has already done about $65,000 of work for the Transportation Research Center near Bellefontaine.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, bought up the possible conflict and Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, suggested an opinion from Brown as well as the Ethics Commission.

Action on the request to hire Preston was deferred at least two weeks. Preston is chief officer of the firm bearing his name.

The Power Siting Commission on which he sits is a state agency that polices the expansion of power facilities throughout the state. He is paid $5,000 a year for his services.

The board agreed to pay $193,550 for 161.88 acres of land in Warren County as part of the Little Miami Scenic River project. But Maloney questioned why the price was 12 times the appraised value of the farm, owned by Corwin J. Fred's South Lebanon Compost Co.

A Department of Natural Resources spokesman said he understood Fred wanted to sell all of the land at the same time, and the price was considered cheaper than costs of taking it by condemnation.

In other action, the board approved: —$1875,750 for a shore protection project at Crane State Park in Lucas County.

—$9.5 million to the Ohio Water Development Authority for sewage treatment facilities in Medina County.

—$81,290 to the Environmental Protection Agency to enter into a contract without competitive bidding for development and evaluation of a compliance schedule for the iron and steel industry.

—$64.6 million to the Ohio Department of Education for the school foundation subsidy for March, a routine release made monthly.

—$432,846 to the Department of Education for the state's share of reimbursement for the purchase of 113 school buses.

—$12 million to the Department of Education for vocational education in Columbus and $12.5 million for vocational education in Toledo.

—$1 million to the Administrative Services Department to buy, without competitive bidding, bond, mimeograph, ledger and recycled papers. The costs is for two years, but the contract can be renewed at the end of the year.

—$534,000 to the University of Cincinnati and $150,000 to Miami University for a joint computer center to be located on the UC campus.

—$164,000 to Wright State University for planning funds for their medical college.

Vandals Ruin Stone Carvings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ike Eastvold, who has a contract with the Bureau of Land Management to inventory stone carvings made by ancient men in the California desert, thinks that most of the petroglyphs will have been destroyed within 15 years by vandals unless drastic protective measures are taken.

There has been a surge in destruction as the result of the use of off-track vehicles in recent years. Not only do people shoot at the rock drawings and hack them up carelessly, but they rip them out to decorate their homes or back yards. If preserved, Eastvold think, they would have great value as tourist attractions as well as scientific exhibits.

In 1845, Congress passed a law setting the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as presidential election day. "Harvesting is over then and winter has not yet made roads impassable," said Ohio Representative Alexander Duncan in writing the law.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Once again, the subject of amnesty has surfaced in the Congress and the House Judiciary Committee is conducting hearings on this controversial subject.

For two years, amnesty supporters have tried unsuccessfully to work proposals pardoning Vietnam draft dodgers through the Congress. Each year, however, with the passage of more time, they believe that opinions against amnesty will soften and that, particularly with U.S. troops and prisioners of war home from Vietnam for almost a year, the time is now right to push for amnesty.

There are many people, however, who have not forgotten about the draft dodgers; more importantly, they have not forgotten about the 56,000 men who did not shirk their patriotic duty and who died fighting for the country they loved. I certainly have not forgotten. I am as unequivocally opposed to amnesty as I have been since its inception.

Amnesty for draft dodgers is inherently unfair. Those who fled had a very clear cut choice: obey the military conscription laws or break them. It was also the same choice facing all young men then. It was the same controversial and unpopular war. Most chose to serve and many who did were killed or wounded. The same cannot be said about those who fled the country and their patriotic responsibility. These few thousand should not, and must not, be allowed to return with impunity.

In addition to this very important consideration, granting amnesty now or at any time for Vietnam draft dodgers would dangerously impair any future draft, undermine military justice and damage military morale and discipline. In a future conflict, for example, service members would certainly be less hesitant to desert if they felt that they could do so with reasonable confidence that once the conflict was over they would be granted immunity.

I am even opposed to some of the more modest proposals which would permit a case by case examination of deserters and bestow amnesty to men willing to serve two years in either military or civilian services. I don't believe the U.S. armed forces want or need draft dodgers in their ranks. What would they do if another armed conflict erupted which involved American troops? How reliable would they be then? Why should the draft dodgers be allowed to serve only at their convenience when so many others answered their country's call when they were needed. This, too, is totally unfair to those who served and made the necessary sacrifices.

The only answer I can see to all of these questions is "no amnesty".

While military conditions have changed in many ares outside of this amnesty issue and even the draft itself has ended, I would also like to take this opportunity to remind the young men of the Sixth District that federal law requires that upon reaching age 18, they must still register with the Selective Service office nearest them.

With the ending of the draft and the institution of the lottery system, the army is operating on a "stand-by" posture. While no one is actually inducted with our new "zero draft" policy, each year a lottery is still held and numbers and classifications are assigned to each registrant. Only if there were a national emergency would these men be called to service in the armed forces, and only then on a basis of need according to their lottery number. This is a mechanism designed to ensure the country would be able to rapidly mobilize her manpower in a crisis situation.

While registering with the army is clearly important for our national defense, it is also doubly important for each young man. The Selective Service system is not only charged with maintaining a pool of available manpower but also with referring to the United States Attorney those who fail to register late.

For residents of Adams, Brown, Highland, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton Counties, the place to register is at the Selective Service Area Office No. 19, College Building, 815 Gallia Street, Portsmouth. For those in Clermont, Clinton and Warren, it is Area Office No. 18, 8033 Federal Building, Cincinnati. For those in Fayette and Pickaway, registration is at the Selective Service State Headquarters, 127 Federal Building, Columbus.

I believe that the maintenance of a strong defense system is not a matter of war mongering, but one of practical common sense. Having a readily mobile army is vitally important and many of the recent revisions in the military are designed to make service to the country as productive and as least disruptive to the individual as possible. Registration, however, is not induction in today's peacetime army.

Park Of Roses Seeks Maiden Contestants

The Columbus Park of Roses is again seeking a young lady who is a senior in high school to represent the Park of Roses this coming year as the Maiden of Roses. Up to $1,000 as a scholarship awaits the chosen one. The contest is sponsored in the seven Central Ohio counties and will be held on June 15 and 16 at the Park of Roses.

All senior girls are eligible to enter if they graduate this year and plan to enter an accredited school of advance education. High Schools now have application blanks, or an interested girl may write Park of Roses, City Hall, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Members of the selection committee also come from the seven counties. The girls are interviewed by each judge and judging is done on a point system which included credit for community service, school service, poise and personality, and natural beauty.

The program has been expanded this year to include a Saturday evening dance for the contestants, their parents and guests. This dance will also honor former maidens and special awards will be made to the contestants for community and school service.

On Sunday, activities will begin with a 2:30 parade. The pageant is scheduled for 5:30 at the Park of Roses. There is no admission charge.

Modified School Plan Turned Down

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Federation of Teachers (CFT), to the surprise of their president, Tuesday night unanimously rejected a modified school board plan for integrating the city's teaching staffs.

CFT President Roger Stephens indicated prior to the 50-member turnout that he was confident that changes announced by the school board Monday would be acceptable to his group.

After the meeting he said the CFT would push for integration by redistricting the city's 105 public schools.

Stephens said a threatened lawsuit would be withheld, but his group had another plan "to get the message across."

He said a teachers action committee will be formed to work with a number of organizations including the AFL-CIO, with which CFT has strong ties.

CFT members charged the board with stalling for time in its battle over integration.

Parents Hopeful For Son's Life

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "If we can just keep Stephen, we want nothing else," said Miami, Fla., policeman Raymond Southerland, who fears his third son has been stricken with a deadly form of cancer.

The agonizing wait continued today for Southerland and his wife, Sara. Word is expected soon whether Stephen, 13, must lose his left leg.

If it is bone cancer, as doctors fear, the boy is given a 30 per cent chance of survival.

"You have to hope," Mrs. Southerland said Tuesday while at the bedside of her oldest son.

The Southerland's lost their youngest son, Jeffrey, to lymphatic leukemia five years ago. The day before Jeffrey's death, doctors discovered a rare malignancy in the spine of a second brother, Michael, now 9. He has apparently overcome the disease through lengthy treatment.

Despite the series of tragedies, Stephen "took this all a great deal better than his mom and dad," said the boy's father.

"I'm really not worried," said Stephen, who turns 14 in May. "It's really an experience you have to put up with. I think I can face it.

"We're a strong family," he added.

A growth on his leg was discovered last week by doctors in Miami. Doctors said odds are it is bone cancer, but officials confirmation has not yet been made by attending physicians at Cincinnati Children's Hospital, where Stephen was transferred last week.

One doctor said Tuesday it might be one of several cancer forms or an infection that could be treated with antibiotics.

If confirmed as bone cancer, the doctor said chemotherapy or amputation would be needed.

The only other trace of cancer in the family was Southerland's mother, who was cured of breast cancer.

Stephen was always considered the healthiest of the three boys, according to Mrs. Southerland. "He never had any sickness."

When he complained of pain in his leg last December, his parents thought he pulled a muscle riding a bicycle.

While the Southerland's await the decision, Stephen fidgets, fighting boredom and a "hard as a rock" bed.

Stephen said the leg amputation performed on Edward Kennedy Jr., son of U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., "gives me more hope that I can make it and makes me feel it's not really that big a thing."

Body Recovered

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)— The body of Al Bojanowski of Elyria was recovered Tuesday from Salt Fork Lake. Bojanowski disappeared Monday night after he went to the lake to do some night fishing.

Chrysler Hikes Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced a retail price increase averaging $28 on its 1974 model cars.

The increase, effective Monday, is the first since price controls were lifted last December. It is the second increase by Chrysler since it introduced its 1974 cars last fall.

The increase averages seven-tenths of a per cent per unit and ranges from $15 for the Dodge Dart and Plymouth Valiant to $67 for the Plymouth Fury, Dodge Monaco, Chrysler and Imperial, Chrysler said.

In the announcement Tuesday, Chrysler said the price increase is necessary to offset "rapidly increasing costs of both labor and materials."

General Motors and American Motors would not comment Tuesday on Chrysler's latest increases. Both Ford and GM have hinted they may raise their prices before the 1975 model year.

James Dickerson Top Lottery Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— James Dickerson, 41, executive director of operations for the City of Cleveland, was named Tuesday as deputy director of the Ohio Lottery Commission.

The appointment to the $25,600-a-year job was announced by Director John Kirkland, who said Dickerson will take the post April 1.

Bizarre Threat By Group Foiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three Wooster residents charged with extortion after allegedly demanding free radio time with a threat to kill a mysterious hostage formed a nonprofit public service corporation last month, The Associated Press learned today.

The Alternative Political Action Committee Inc., chartered by the state of Ohio Feb. 5 to be a "problem solving" organization, would "establish an economic institution that employs those unemployed . . . care for those unemployable and educate those uneducated."

Larry N. Cooper, 26, one of those arrested by FBI agents Saturday for allegedly telling New York City radio station WABC they would kill a hostage if they weren't permitted four hours on the air, was acting president and agent for the corporation.

Gwendolyn Y. McCutcheon, 21, and Carol Holmes, a 19-year-old Wooster College sophomore, signed as cocharterers.

The FBI arrested the three without resistance Saturday after agents surrounded their Wooster apartment. The trio telephoned the radio station several times Saturday to demand the broadcast of a taped statement, or they would take the life of a hostage and commit suicide, the FBI said.

Agents did not find a hostage, and still refuse to disclose if there was an intended victim.

Cooper and Miss McCutcheon chartered two other corporations Feb. 20 with Wooster resident Peter Rosemond providing the third partner, the state minimum to form a corporation.

The other firms, Project 76-An American Affair Inc. and Larry N. Cooper Inc., had similar purposes and by-laws.

"They have very idealistic motives. They are not in any sense violent-type people. They are talking about reforming society," said The Rev. J. Barrie Shepherd, a minister on campus.

He spoke with Miss McCutcheon after she was arrested. He said she asked him to explain their intentions.

"They believe the system can work for the poor by working through the system," The Rev. Mr. Shepherd said. "Their hostage was the U.S. Constitution in an abstract sense.

"She felt that if the people in this country were forced to commit suicide if things were so bad, this very fact would prove the constitution was in grave danger.

"They don't share a commitment to violent solutions. It's not in any sense talk of the typical radical stuff like the Symbionese Liberation Army."

The SLA claims to have kidnaped 20-year-old Patricia Hearst, a day before the three formed their first corporation. The SLA has demanded a free food distribution program for the poor in San Francisco as a step toward the release of the daughter of Randolph Hearst, a West Coast newspaper publisher.

Nixon Recalls Saxbe Jab

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Nixon referred to a statement once made by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe while still a senator when he pointed out Tuesday night how even his supporters criticized him over unpopular decisions.

Answering questions before the National Association of Broadcasters, Nixon was saying a President should not think of resigning every time his popularity goes down in the polls.

He noted newspapers that had supported him and many senators and public figures criticized his decision to resume bombing of North Vietnam after peace negotiations broke down in 1972. And he added:

"As a matter of fact, one senator said the President has taken leave of his senses. I had no hard feelings about that, I made him attorney general."

Saxbe made the remark while serving as a Republican senator from Ohio.

Class A Ohio Cagers Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Larry Harris, Lorain Clearview's all-stater in football and basketball, was selected today as The Associated Press Ohio Class A Basketball Player of the Year.

The 6-foot-7, 200-pound Harris, a senior who averaged 29.5 points, 20 rebounds and six blocked shots, also made the All-Ohio first team in football as an offensive end.

The Class A state coaching title went to Gary Vaughn of Fostoria St. Wendelin, who lost all of his regulars from a 17-3 team last year. Despite losing six of his first seven players, Vaughn molded a 16-2 record this season.

The selections were based strictly on regular season competition and were made on recommendations from a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Harris, sought by nearly all of the nation's major college basketball powers, made 60 per cent of his floor shots and 76 per cent of his free throws this season.

He was promoted from the second team in 1973.

Starring with Harris on the first unit were 6-4 Frank Monterosso of Cincinnati St. Bernard and 6-3½ Mike Cross of Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe.

The two high-scoring seniors were the only players to make the Class A first unit for the second straight campaign. Monterosso, who scored 70 points in one game, averaged 34.7 and Cross 27.0.

Dan Zarlingo, 6-4 Lowellville guard with a 25-point average, moved from the 1973 third team to the first team this season.

Also named to the first team were 6-7 Mark Haymore of Cleveland Lutheran East, with a 25.9-point average; 6-7 Tom Kramb of Greenwich South Central, 22.9; 6-2 Greg Dulkoski of Adena Buckeye West, 28.0, and 6-1 Scott Ballinger of Marion Pleasant, 19.1.

Ballinger also made the second team all-state in football last fall as a quarterback.

Small Schools Start Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Class A coaches are optimistic about their team's chances in the 52nd Ohio High School Basketball Tournament except Charlie Huggins, the most feared mentor in the field.

"We have no talent," said Huggins about his Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South squad, the 1972 champion and the 1973 runnerup.

The Rebels, 20-4, will face 22-2 Lorain Clearview in the 9:30 nightcap Thursday as the small schools launch the three-day classic in Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Mount Blanchard Riverdale, 21-3, goes against Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe, 24-3, in the other Class A game at 7:30 p.m.

The Class AAA and Class AA semifinalists wait until Friday to begin their showdowns.

In Class AA, 24-0 Akron Manchester plays 19-6 Cincinnati McNicholas at 11 a.m. and Genoa, 22-1, faces Columbus Hartley, 19-5, at 2:30 p.m.

In Class AAA, defending champion Cincinnati Elder, 21-3, takes on Mount Vernon, 19-4, at 6 p.m. and No. 1 Canton McKinley, 24-0, plays Toledo Scott, 22-2, at 9:30 p.m.

The championship games all are Saturday.

Indian Valley South has been a remarkable team under Huggins this year. The Rebels had no regulars back from last year and are using a lineup with three players 5-foot-9 or shorter.

"We haven't been out-rebounded yet," Huggins said of his Tuscarawas County team, "but we haven't faced any Larry Harrises either."

Harris, 6-7 Ohio Class A Player of the Year who averaged almost 30 points and 20 rebounds a game, leads Clearview.

"I think we have a good chance because of the schedule we played," said Lorain Coach Bob Walsh. "We played seven AAA teams and 10 in AA. The only A team we faced was Mansfield St. Peter's."

Franklin-Monroe, from Darke County, also has an All-Ohio player in two-time first team selection Mike Cross, a 6-4 senior with a 27-point average.

The Darke County team lost in the Dayton Regional finals last year to Marion Pleasant, the eventual small school state champion.

"We got beat by Pleasant in the last 15 seconds," Franklin-Monroe Coach Phil Dubbs recalled, "and we have three starters back from that team." His team whipped Pleasant 64-52 in a tournament rematch this year.

Mark Smith, the coach of Riverdale, is unsure of his Hancock County team's chances.

"Since it's our first trip," he said, "I don't know. But this is the kind of team that can handle the pressure. It's unemotional."

The Thursday night Class A victors return for the title game at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Cleveland Now Has 2 Perrys

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry is happy to have brother Jim Perry aboard as a fellow member of the Cleveland pitching staff, but he has no intention of relinquishing his status as the Indians' top gun.

"Brother or no brother, Jim will have to fight me for No. 1," Gaylord said after the Indians acquired Jim from the Detroit Tigers Tuesday in a three-way deal that also involved the New York Yankees.

The Tigers sent Jim Perry to Cleveland and pitcher Ed Farmer to New York. The Indians shipped outfielder Walt Williams and rookie pitcher Rich Sawyer to New York while the Yankees dealt catcher Jerry Moses to Detroit.

In other spring training swaps, the Chicago Cubs traded catcher Ken Rudolph to the San Francisco Giants for rookie pitcher Willie Prall and the Cincinnati Reds purchased first baseman-outfielder Terry Crowley from the Texas Rangers.

The three-way trade put the Perry brothers — both former Cy Young Award winners — on the same team for the first time since Jim, 37, was a junior and Gaylord, 35, was a freshman in high school at Williamston, N.C.

Meanwhile, Dave Duncan, who will be catching the Perry boys, celebrated by driving in four runs with a homer and double in the Indians' 8-6 exhibition victory over the Oakland A's. Cleveland pounded Rollie Fingers for six runs in the sixth inning and two in the seventh, off setting Oakland homers by Vic Davalillo, Pat Bourque and Bert Campaneris.

Elsewhere on the exhibition trail, two-run homers by Richie Zisk and Willie Stargell powered the Pittsburgh Pirates past the Montreal Expos 4-1. In a rematch of last fall's National League playoff rivals, the New York Mets trounced the Cincinnati Reds 7-1 as rookie Bennie Ayala drove in three runs and Ted Martinez hit a two-run homer.

The New York Yankees pounded Luke Walker for three runs in the sixth inning and two in the ninth and beat their former manager Ralph Houk and his Detroit Tigers 6-2. The Minnesota Twins lost for the 12th time in 13 spring games, bowing to the Atlanta Braves 3-1 on rookie pitcher Jamie Easterly's three-run double.

Jim Barr hurled five shutout innings in the San Francisco Giants' 8-3 triumph over the San Diego Padres and Houston's Dave Roberts blanked the Kansas City Royals for six in the Astros' 4-1 victory.

Rookie Mike Reinbach's RBI double and a sacrifice fly by designated hitter Tommy Davis accounted for two eighth-inning runs that lifted the Baltimore Orioles past the Texas Rangers 6-5.

The St. Louis Cardinals used four unearned runs and Reggie Smith's homer to edge the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5. Ron Santo drove in two runs with a pair of doubles to lead the Chicago White Sox over the Boston Red Sox 8-4 and five California pitchers limited the Chicago Cubs to five hits and the Angels won 5-1.

Anglers Converge For Walleye Run

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Assoiciated Press

Hundreds of fishermen from around Ohio are converging on Fremont for the annual spring run of walleyes in the Sandusky River.

If the weather is right and the river isn't high, most will catch fish, although many will consider it a bittersweet experience.

Tales of fabulous fishing, mostly true, have spread far and wide in recent years.

In late March and through much of April, walleyes by the thousands migrate from Lake Erie into the Sandusky River and on to Fremont where their run upstream to spawn is blocked by a hydroelectric dam south of the city.

Fish are so thick in the river at times that wading anglers are not surprised to feel walleyes glancing off their boots.

But, if this all sounds too good to be true, it is—at least, so far as the serious sportsman is concerned.

For one thing, at the peak of the run, fishermen cast elbow-to-elbow in the most productive stretch of river in downtown Fremont. Add to that crowd up to 100 boats anchored in midstream and you get some impression of conditions that prevail, particularly on weekends.

What aggravates many firsttime visitors to the river, however, is discovering that the vast majority of walleyes—at least, eight in 10—are illegally caught by snagging.

Heavily weighted leadhead jibs retrieved in jerks across the rock bottom account for most fish taken.

The number of arrests has risen dramatically in recent years as the Ohio Division of Wildlife tries to cope with the situation. Last year as many as 21 game protectors from throughout the area patrolled the river over one weekend.

Dressed in plain clothes and posing as fishermen, they arrested nearly 50 snaggers in a two-day period in 1973 and about 100 over several weeks.

There was a move by some wildlife officials to close the river to fishing during the run, especially at night when the nosnag law is most difficult to enforce.

Other views prevailed and regulations will be unchanged from last year.

Heavy patrols are promised again over the next few weeks and numerous arrests seem inevitable.

The official World Series record book has Reggie Jackson of the Oakland As on the cover.

Despite trouble with his hands, Rusty Staub of the New York Mets batted .423 in the 1973 World Series.

Mets Hammer Reds, 7-1

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson had an ice pack on his head even before Tuesday's baseball game with the New York Mets. He felt worse by the time the game was over.

Tom Seaver and the Mets romped past the Reds 7-1 in a rematch of last October's National League playoffs.

What was to be a grudge match, turned into a dull mismatch as the Reds absorbed their fourth loss in five games.

And Pete Rose was a noshow.

The league's Most Valuable Player last season, Rose was a principal in the donnybrook which shook Shea Stadium. His collision with Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson triggered mayhem.

Instead of showing up for the first on-field reunion since then, Rose remained at the Reds' camp for a workout with pitcher Don Gullett.

"I'll wait until we play 'em at home, before the friendly folks," said Rose.

Harrelson shrugged off Rose's absence and, instead, wondered why no one had thought of hiring the two rivals for a commercial.

"Somebody missed the boat," said Harrelson.

His teammate Seaver wasn't missing much however, as the Cy Young Award winner of 1973 gave up one run in five innings.

Reds' starter Roger Nelson opened with three scoreless innings before allowing two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Anderson's headache worsened in the eighth when the Mets pushed over four runs.

"The Mets always give you a headache," said Tony Perez to Anderson.

One of the few brights spots in the loss was the continued hitting streak by catcher Johnny Bench, who lifted his spring average to .500 with two hits. And shortstop Darrell Chaney snapped an 0-for-19 slump with three hits.

The Reds travel to Vero Beach today to face the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Billie Jean Wins 2 Rounds

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Billie Jean King has moved into the third round of the $50,000 Women's Professional Tennis tournament with two easy victories.

Miss King ousted Ceci Martinez of San Francisco 7-5 6-2 in Tuesday night's second round.

Other survivors of second round action include Valerie Ziegenfuss, Julie Heldman, Pam Teegarden, Donna Ganz, Sharon Walsh, Elly Appel and Wendy Overton.

Purdue Defeats Hawaii, 85-72

NEW YORK (AP) — "We like to go to these types of tournaments and to be among the top-ranked," said Purdue's Coach Fred Schaus. "It helps people to know we're still alive."

Hawaii got a reminder Tuesday night that Purdue was still very much alive and kicking as the Boilermakers coasted to an easy 85-72 victory and advanced to the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

The Boilermakers, who in the opening round knocked off top-seeded and seventh-ranked North Carolina, will play Saturday against Jacksonville, which won a run-and-shoot battle with Maryland-Eastern Shore 85-83 on two free throws by George Scholz with 25 seconds remaining.

The Boilermaker effort in Madison Square Garden was in contrast to a 76-67 loss to the Rainbows earlier this season in Hawaii.

The Boilermakers rattled off 10 straight points to start the game and had another flurry of 12 straight later in the first half. By halftime, they led by 13 and had a 15-point bulge early in the second half, before Hawaii began to battle back behind Tom Henderson, who finished with a career-high 33 points.

Purdue, now 20-9, did lose Jerry Nichols, who was taken to the hospital for X-rays on his left knee after he fell hard in the second half. Frank Kendrick led the Boilermakers scoring at tack with 22 points.

Jacksonville found itself in a running battle with Maryland-Eastern Shore hitting 50 per cent and the Dolphins nearly 49 in the first half half which ended with the Dolphis ahead 51-50.

Butch Taylor was in foul trouble much of the second half and fouled out midway through the period after scoring 20 points and grabbing 14 rebounds.

Maryland-Eastern Shore, paced by Bill Gordon, who finished with 24 and Talvin Skinner, who had 20, came back to briefly take the lead and then Joe Pace tied the game 83-83 before Scholz sank his two free throws.

NIT quarter-final action continues Thursday night with Memphis State meeting Utah and Connecticut facing Boston College. Semifinals are Saturday afternoon with the championship and consolation contests Sunday.

Crusaders Top Cougars In WHA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A goaltender in pro hockey has enough to put up with. He's constantly assaulted by the puck and opposing players, not to mention the abuse of the fans after every mistake.

Gerry Cheevers of the Cleveland Crusaders reached his breaking point Tuesday night.

"I was just tired of getting hit all the time," the normally reserved goaltender said after the Crusaders 7-4 World Hockey Association victory over the Chicago Cougars.

So, when Chicago's Rosaire Paiement bumped into Cheevers with 9:49 remaining in the game, the goalie lost his cool.

In a flash, the two were fighting — an uncommon sight in the sport where the netminder is burdened with so much bulky equipment.

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Vancouver Blazers trimmed the Minnesota Fighting Saints 5-4. In the National Hockey League, the New York Islanders topped the St. Louis Blues 5-1, the Minnesota North Stars tripped the California Seals 6-3, while the Toronto Maple Leafs and Los Angeles Kings played to a 1-1 tie.

The fracas, which came with the score tied 4-4, earned Paiement and Cheevers double minor penalties and brought Grant Erickson a 10-minute misconduct for coming to the aid of his goaltender.

Blazers 5, Fighting Saints 4

Danny Lawson's goal with 1:25 left in the game ruined a third-period comeback by Minnesota and carried Vancouver to victory.

Bucks Beat Golden State

OAKLAND (AP) — George Johnson of the Golden State Warriors had a seven-game crash course before his test against Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

"I had a game plan, and it didn't work," the Warriors' young fill-in center said Tuesday night after Abdul-Jabbar scored 31 points in the Milwaukee Bucks' 111-100 National Basketball Association victory over Golden State.

"He's the best," added the 6-foot-11 Johnson, outclassed for the first time in his eight starting assignments since regular center Nate Thurmond was sidelined by a foot injury.

The Bucks clinched another Midwest Division crown with the victory, while the Warriors dropped into a virtual first place tie with Los Angeles in the tight Pacific Division race. Milwaukee is at Los Angeles tonight, Golden State at Seattle.

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, the Chicago Bulls whipped the Philadelphia 76ers 103-94, the Boston Celtics shaded the Houston Rockets 110-107 and the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Portland Trail Blazers 107-103.

In the only action in the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars clinched first place in the West Division by trouncing the Memphis Tams 118-103.

Johnson said his game plan was "to run and try to get Kareem tired."

Instead, the kingpin of NBA centers seemed to have an almost leisurely time of it as he tossed in 13 of 20 field goal attempts, mostly hook shots, grabbed 10 rebounds and blocked four shots. Johnson was limited to four points but got 11 rebounds.

Bill To Abolish Mayors' Courts Postponed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has postponed until next week a vote on a big bill that creates more than three dozen new judgeships and abolishes mayors' courts in Ohio.

Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, switched signals Tuesday night when the vote had been planned, saying the committee may want to hear additional testimony.

The abolition of mayors' courts has been proposed at least the last four legislative sessions, but unable to muster the necessary support in the face of political pressure on lawmakers.

Wilkowski and others wanting to do away with the so-called "speed traps" revived their efforts after the U.S. Supreme Court took away most of the mayors' courts' authority.

As a result of the 1972 ruling, the estimated 500 mayors' courts in Ohio have been limited to hearing only those cases in which the defendant pleads guilty. If he pleads innocent, his case has to be transferred to a county court or another court of record.

Wilkowski came up with the idea of putting the abolition in with the omnibus bill creating new judgeships, hoping to coax would-be opponents into supporting the entire package for other reasons.

The bill proposes to add three judges each to state appellate courts in the eighth (Cleveland) and first (Cincinnati) districts. Nineteen common pleas judgeships would be created, along with 14 municipal judgeships.

In other business Tuesday night, the Senate-House subcommittee labored over proposed amendments to a bill that would establish a state energy board which could declare states of emergency and make specific legislative recommendations to the General Assembly.

Chairman Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said, "We expect to have a substitute bill ready by next week."

He said the proposal would go back to the respective standing committees of the two chambers for their consideration, since the "ad hoc" panel lacks authority to act on measures officially.

The joint subcommittee had expected to hear from Michael Scanlon, director of intergovernmental relations for the Federal Energy Office, but his trip to Ohio had to be canceled.

Maloney said the federal official cited "some kind of minor crisis" in Louisiana as the cause of a schedule change, but offered to appear before the committee at a later date.

Carlton Dargusch Jr., counsel for the Ohio Association of Broadcasters, and William Oertel, executive director of the Ohio Newspaper Association, urged the energy panel to approve an amendment assuring that the proposed bill will not curtail the rights of industries and their other advertisers.

The measure, as written, would ban all advertising that suggested more use of electricity and other energy sources.

Dargusch said that to put such a restriction into the law would be wrong, since "it would be interfering with freedom of speech." He indicated his organization had no objection for a state energy board to have the power to impose such a restriction if a real crisis did arise.

In other developments, the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee finished hearing testimony on an embattled proposal to require a five-cent deposit on beverage containers. Manufacturers and big labor in Ohio both oppose the measure on grounds it would cost jobs and otherwise have an adverse effect on the state's economy.

Adding their voices to the chorus of opposition sounded on the bill last week were representatives of the Ohio AFL-CIO, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and a spokesman for an Ohio Glass Bottle Blowers Association.

The Senate Education & Health committee rejected 5-2 a bill that would take away a requirement for the teaching of oral language in schools for the deaf. Present law enables a teacher to switch to sign language after unsuccessful experimentation with the oral system.

No Charges In Shooting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police said Tuesday no charges will be filed in an unusual car-ramming and shooting incident on Interstate 75 in downtown Dayton.

They said the Monday incident began when James Burchett, 28, of Dayton suffered a seizure and his auto began ramming the rear of a car driven by Donald Rosenberger of Flint, Mich.

The Rosenberger car was forced into a rear-end collision with a truck, injuring the Michigan man's wife and 11-monthold daughter.

Rosenberger then pulled out a gun and fired four shots through the left side of Burchett's car, wounding the man in the neck and shoulder, police said.

Officers said Burchett told them he had no recollection of the incident.

SEC Chairman To Take Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman William J. Casey's name appears on eight pages of the criminal conspiracy indictment against John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans. Only the defendants are mentioned more often.

Thus it was as a crucial prosecution witness that Casey was expected to take the witness stand today at the trial of former Atty. Gen. Mitchell and one-time Commerce Secretary Stans. The trial is midway in its fifth week.

The indictment defines Casey as a prime target in a conspiracy by Mitchell and Stans to impede an SEC fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco, in return for the latter's secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign.

Casey, whose name also figures in perjury counts against both defendants, resigned as SEC chairman early last year to become undersecretary of state for economic affairs. He is now president of the Export-Import Bank.

Two former secretaries of Vesco closed out Tuesday's trial testimony. They were Shirley Bailey and Helen Force.

Each testified that she played a part in the transfer of the $200,000 contribution to a Vesco associate, Laurence Richardson, who in turn paid the money to Stans April 10, 1972.

The government claims it was this information that Vesco, Mitchell and Stans sought to conceal from the SEC, thus obstructing justice. The two women eventually were subpoenaed to tell SEC investigators about the money.

The prosecution said the device hit upon by the defendants was to obtain a lawyer for the two women, who would tell them to take the Fifth Amendment before the SEC.

The late Walter Van Riper, one-time attorney general of New Jersey, was the attorney selected by a Vesco associate, according to the two women. They said the first and last time they ever saw him was the morning of their SEC appearance.

The witnesses said Van Riper asked for an adjournment, pleading that he needed more time to familiarize himself with the case. When the request was denied, he replied that he must reluctantly direct the two women to take the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify, the witness stand account continued.

The government contends that under a smokescreen over adjournment, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Force were able to withhold testimony about the $200,000.

Saltcreek Grange Meets

Saltcreek Valley Grange held the final meeting of March Tuesday evening with 22 members present. Francis Fraunfelter conducted the business session which included reports by officers and committee chairmen.

Announcement was made of the death of the National Director of Womens Activities, Mrs. Alta Peck, of Connecticut.

On March 30, the Saltcreek Grange will perform the opening and closing of the organization at the county-wide meeting of the granges for the annual session of degree presentation. This meeting will be held at the Grange and 4-H building on the fairgrounds.

On Sunday afternoon, the officers of all local Grange bodies will meet for a conference at the Pickaway County fairgrounds to plan the activities for the spring and summer.

Saltcreek Valley Grange will be guests of Mt. Pleasant Grange on April 10, when they provide the literary program in the exchange directed by the lecturers.

Hosts for the evening refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar DeLong and Mr. and Mrs. Don DeLong.

LaFatch Faces Bribery Trial In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Anthony P. LaFatch, 67, a retired Akron real estate developer, is scheduled to go on trial in U.S. District Court here Monday on charges in connection with an alleged $50,000 bribery attempt.

LaFatch was indicted on six counts by a federal grand jury last fall.

He is accused of demanding a payoff from John Vogel, chairman of Realty National Corp., to assure that the Ohio Commerce Department would approve a $10 million stock sale.

The Commerce Department has denied that LaFatch influenced approval of the stock sale, although Commerce Director Dennis Shaul has admitted giving LaFatch information about the sale.

Tank Car Blazes In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A stream of fire poured out of the ruptured railroad tank car and into a 15-foot pool of flame to form a blazing, billowing column 40 feet high.

Firemen stood 1,000 feet away, helpless except for their efforts to keep the car cool by pouring water onto it from stationary hoses.

Officials, fearing the car, which contained 32,000 gallons of ethylene would exploded, evacuated 3,500 workers from nearby industries.

But as flames continued to consume the liquid, a petroleum derivative used in the production of gasoline, the chances of an explosion lessened.

Firemen from Columbus and townships near the accident, just outside the western city limits, remained on the scene overnight.

Officials said the fire was expected to have burned itself out by 4 or 5 a.m. today.

The trouble began Tuesday afternoon when the Union Carbide Co. tank car en route from Columbus to Charleston, W. Va., derailed at the Penn Central-Phillipi Road crossing.

A valve broke off in the derailment and a spark apparently ignited the spilling liquid, Franklin County sheriff's deputies said. Several hours later a seam in the tank car ruptured, causing a much larger fire.

The tanker was the only car to leave the tracks. Other cars, some of them also tankers, were pulled away from the burning car.

Officials said there was no means of extinguishing the fire.

Firemen placed hoses on tripods to continuously spray water on the tank car and moved back a safe distance from the fire.

The water kept the car's temperature down so pressure wouldn't build up, officials said.

Police evacuated workers from about 10 industries in the area, including a Westinghouse plant where employes on the second and third shifts Tuesday and first shift today lost work.

There are no homes in the area.

Also worrying officials was the presence nearby of a tank farm where the Marathon and Texaco had eight million gallons of refined petroleum products stored.

Traffic was detoured a halfmile in each direction of the accident.

Power in the area was turned off, but that generally affected only the industries which had shut down.

Later in the evening, an explosion expert brought here from Toledo by the Penn Central Railroad used meters to read the gas content of the air around the tanker.

"We're getting zero on our explosion meters," Larry Baggerly, a division superintendent for the railroad, said late Tuesday night.

The cause of the derailment was not determined immediately. No one was injured.

CASH CLOSES GRAND OLE OPRY— Country singers Johnny Cash and Maybelle Carter, right, end the final show at the Ryman Auditorium of the Grand Ole Opry with a hymn. The show will move to new quarters in Nashville.

Ad Council

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with The Department of the Treasury and The Advertising Council.

Income Tax Refunds are ready-made savings.

Your income tax refund is ready-made savings—ready to be tucked away as a nice lump-sum payment on tomorrow.

It's probably what you've had in mind all along, isn't it? Getting this far without missing the money, and then making sort of a giant step toward whatever it is you're saving for.

One of the easiest ways to make sure you really do it, of course, is to take your refund check and turn it into a Series E Savings Bond. (Or maybe several Savings Bonds!) Now E Bonds earn 6% interest, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity of only 5 years (4½% the first year). Your money is guaranteed safe—Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen. And, speaking of income tax, you may defer the payment of Federal tax on your E Bond interest until you cash your Bonds or they finally mature. (And the interest is exempt from state and local income taxes!)

So don't miss such an ideal opportunity to add to your savings. Turn your tax refund check into growing Savings Bonds dollars today. You'll be doing something nice for your future.

Morgan State Top Team

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Nat Frazier of Morgan State will beat the bushes a little later this year in search of basketball talent, but he figures the delay will prove profitable.

Now when he goes recruiting, Frazier has a couple of new selling points to offer prospects.

The Bears last week won the National Collegiate Athletic Association's College Division tournament, and Tuesday they were voted the nation's No. 1 small college team in the final Associated Press poll.

Frazier was told of the balloting in New York, where he went to watch intrastate rival Maryland-Eastern Shore play Jacksonville in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night.

"Now if they can win the NIT, it would really be something," Frazier said in a telephone interview from the hotel room of John Bates, coach of Maryland-Eastern Shore. "It's too bad that Lefty lost."

He referred to Lefty Driesell, coach of the University of Maryland's fourth-ranked major college team, which dropped a 103-100 overtime decision to No. 1 North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference title game and failed to reach the NCAA playoffs.

Maryland-Eastern Shore, a predominantly black branch of the university, finished first in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics poll, and lost only to Morgan State prior to being invited to the NIT.

Morgan State, led by 7-foot Marvin "The Human Eraser" Webster, posted a 28-5 record this season. The Bears dropped two 15-point decisions to UMES, one in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference championship game.

In the final AP poll, Morgan received 23 first-place votes and finished with 636 points to easily outdistance runnerup West Georgia, the NAIA champion with a 29-4 record, which had eight first-place votes and 496 points.

Kentucky State, 28-5, won four of its five games last week and retained third place while Alcorn State — formerly Alcorn A&M — with a 29-6 log, jumped to fourth.

Fairmont State, 28-3 and last week's leader, slipped to fifth after splitting two games. Fairmont State and sixth-ranked Tennessee-Chattanooga, 21-5, were the only other schools to receive first-place votes.

Gardner-Webb, 25-3, slipped three notches to seventh after losing to West Georgia. Southwest Missouri, 21-9, Tennessee State, 22-6, and St. Mary's, Tex., 24-9, rounded out the Top Ten.

Assumption, 22-7, held No. 11, followed by Augustana, Kentucky Wesleyan, Old Dominion and New Orleans.

WFL Draft Has Variety

NEW YORK (AP) — Monday's World Football League professional player draft had a little bit of everything: one team selected a priest, another took a former pro basketball player, and a third chose the sport's greatest active rusher — in the 39th round.

It seemed almost like a boxing match — each of the 40 rounds lasted about three minutes, followed by a one-minute rest. There were murmurs when teams took heavy-hitting pros like Larry Csonka, Bubba Smith and Alan Page, and there were laughs when former National Basketball Association star guard Richie Guerin was chosen in the last round by the Birmingham Americans.

Mostly, there was the frantic, business-like atmosphere of Wall Street at noon. The floor of the giant hotel ballroom was littered with cigarette butts, torn papers and, possibly, tornup hopes. Men who had entered the room attired nattily in the most fashionable suits had shed their jackets and ties before the first round had concluded.

By the time Buffalo Bills star O.J. Simpson was selected by the Southern California Sun — after some six hours of dickering and 463 choices — giant urns of coffee had long since been emptied. Nearly hidden in the clutter of brief cases and press releases, the assemblage of a football league had begun.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Not everyone will say what he really means or make his best impression now, so give others the benefit of the doubt and most will do the same for you.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You are always ambitious, and this day will open new areas for you to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, so be patient.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): What you want and what you actually need may be widely different. Be realistic about your affairs and don't put the cart before the horse, falling witlessly into traps.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): In a defensive position, be circumspect in voicing opinions, in your approach to others. On the offensive, be gently persuasive rather than argumentative.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Superior quality of workmanship and tact in all matters advised. Balance things; gear endeavors in keeping with high hopes. Results can be gratifying.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Organize your program so as to eliminate time-wasting confusion. A good activity day for those born under this Sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your capabilities may not need improvement as much as they need the right exposure. Try to discuss the situation with interested persons.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Others are watching your example now. Some may be uncertain until YOU act, so be fully aware, and determined to present the proper image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may receive several suggestions. Accept only those worth their salt. But be careful not to overlook the helpful through miscalculation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Poor scheduling could distract, send you completely off the tract in some cases. A favorable period for capitalizing on new ideas, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good Uranus influences favor innovations and clever strategies. A fine period in which to put over unusual ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Opponents of your ideas may have a point or two. Try for clarification. Some differences can be avoided, others ironed out.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a great spirit of enterprise, a gregarious personality and outstanding ingenuity. You are ambitious and strive hard to attain your goals, but sometimes are too materialistic in your aims. For you, the reward for effort is more important than the effort itself. Try to find more joy in the means of achievement. You would make an excellent business leader, educator, musician or politician. Birthdate of: Johann S. Bach, composer.

Sponsors Bring Art Works

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A plan which will enable a small but important art museum in Southeast Florida to import six outstanding exhibitions of world-famous art, was announced here.

The plan was developed by J. James Akston, who serves on the boards of museums in New York, Washington and Palm Beach. He is also a trustee of the Norton Gallery and School of Art in West Palm Beach.

He formed a group, the Palm Beach Sponsors Committee Inc., recruited from prominent local art patrons and collectors, businessmen and socialites. They are providing funds for a three-year program of exhibitions, to be capped by a giant sculpture show in 1976. Akston donated $100,000 through the Ziuta and Joseph James Akston Foundation. He expects to raise an additional $400,000 through 40 more pledges of $10,000 each.

The committee pays all expenses including organizational work. The museum hangs the show. The first to be seen is American Pioneer Color Abstractionists owned by Vincent Melzac of Washington, in two parts — Washington Color Painters and New York School Painters.

Saves Gas

NEW YORK (AP) — Mileage charts and detailed area maps are turning out to be the best friend of the "gasless-Sunday" driver, according to veteran road atlas publisher Rand McNally. The company's 1974 road atlas includes point-to-point mileage charts for the United States, Mexico and Canada. It also details historic, educational and recreational sites to help careful drivers plan their trips and pick their gasless Sunday destinations in advance.

There are records of polo having been played in Iran, Persia, circa 525 B.C.

Views On Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should cable-TV operators pay broadcasters and others copyright fees for TV shows the operators pick off the air? It's a question that's been kicking around in Congress since 1971.

It's still there today, despite a Supreme Court decision this month that cable-TV companies don't have to pay such fees for TV shows they import from distant cities and provide subscribers in their own communities for a monthly charge.

The ruling was viewed in the cable-TV industry as a major victory. And you'd think the major industry group — the National Cable Television Association (NCTA) — would be more than happy to let the ruling answer the copyright question for good.

But NCTA president David Foster says otherwise. On the day the ruling came, he allowed himself a brief cheer, then insisted his group still wants Congress to make cableTV operators pay copyright fees, even though it'll cost them hundreds of thousand of dollars annually. "We have always felt that as a matter of qualifying cable to become a first-class member of the communications fraternity, we should accept this responsibility," says Foster, whose group represents 1,300 of the nation's 3,000 cableTV systems.

"This has been a difficult position for the cable industry to come to," he noted. "There are still many cable operators who don't feel they should pay copyright fees."

However, he added, "quite candidly, a whole lot of our regulatory problems, I think, will either go away or be minimized once we've got the copyright issue behind us."

In 1971, the National Association of Broadcasters, NCTA and copyright owners came to an agreement — sponsored by the White House Office of Tele-communications Policy — to jointly support legislation that would, among other things, make cable-TV liable for copyright fees.

"We still feel that's the way to do it," said NAB president Vincent Wasilewski, referring to the three-way effort.

But Wasilewski, whose group represents 531 commercial TV stations, was skeptical about how hard Foster's association would press Congress for copyright legislation in the wake of the Supreme Court ruling.

But he conceded the NAB's pursuit of the legislation wouldn't be all that vigorous, either, because "this would not be our top-priority legislation." The big push, he said, is for pending legislation to increase the number of years a broadcast license can be held.

The cable-TV legislation — contained in an omnibus bill to update the nation's 65-year-old copyright law — currently is being considered by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee chaired by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Draft Lottery Held Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born Feb. 28 drew No. 1 in today's draft lottery for the nearly two million young men born in 1955.

The prime number was not picked out of the plastics drums holding the numbers until the standby lottery was almost completed.

Before that the young students had picked Jan. 5 as the No. 2, Feb. 16 as No. 3, Sept. 24 as No. 4, June 27 as No. 5, March 13 as No. 6, March 6 as No. 7, March 24 as No. 8, and Oct. 22 as No. 9.

About two-thirds of the way through the drawing the highest number, 365, was assigned to April 29.

The lottery was being held as usual in case it becomes necessary to resume inducting Americans into the Armed forces.

In remarks prepared for the second annual standby lottery to assign the numbers, John D. Dewhurst, deputy director of Selective Service said the purpose is "insurance — plain and simple."

Dewhurst, substituting for draft Director Byron V. Pepitone, who underwent heart surgery Friday, noted that no one had been drafted for 18 months as the military was being transformed into an all-volunteer force.

"The great experiment of maintaining a military force in peacetime of 2.2 million by volunteer means alone shows signs of achieving success," Dewhurst said.

All of the draft law remains in force, except for one sentence that gave the president authority to induct men. That sentence expired last June 30.

The only men involved in today's lottery are those who turn 19 this year. Most of them registered last year at their 18th birthday, as required by law, and were placed in a holding classification.

Only those who are assigned numbers 1 through 95 will be reclassified according to their current civilian status, to provide a standby pool of "readily inductible" men during 1975. None, however, will be given physical and mental exams or otherwise processed.

Those with numbers over 95 will remain in the holding classification and not hear from their draft boards again unless there is a national emergency requiring a change.

All men are in the prime callup group during their 20th year and drop into a lower classification each year until they reach age 26, when their exposure to draft liability normally expires.

Killing Of Brothers Pondered By Jury

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)— The killings of brothers Gary Collins, 11, and Larry Collins, 9, will be investigated by a special Scioto County Grand Jury that convenes Friday, Prosecutor Everett Burton said.

Franklin Broughton, 23, of Portsmouth, has been charged with aggravated murder and arson in the case.

The boys were found strangled and bound with wire in a deserted house that had been set afire.

U.S. Balance Of Payments In Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the United States had a 1973 surplus of $1.2 billion in its basic balance of payments with other countries, an improvement of $11 billion over a year earlier and the first surplus in the history of the basic balance index.

The country had a deficit of $9.8 billion in its basic balance in 1972, meaning substantially more U.S. dollars flowed out of the country that year than were returned to U.S. shores.

The Commerce Department said the biggest single improvement in the country's payments position was in the nation's foreign trade and exchange of services, which were in surplus by $6.9 million, compared with a deficit of $4.6 billion a year earlier.

The over-all surplus of $1.2 billion in the basic balance of payments was the first surplus since the government began computing the basic index in 1960. The best previous year was a $15-million deficit in 1961.

The two devaluations of the U.S. dollar — in 1971 and 1973 — have been the major factors in the improvement in U.S. trade with other countries because they have made U.S. goods cheaper abroad and foreign goods more expensive in this country.

But the devaluations also have had an adverse impact on inflation in this country, since Americans have found they must pay more for domestically produced goods, such as agricultural products, to keep them from flowing overseas to meet foreign demand.

Soviet Copter Held By China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today one of its helicopters made an emergency landing in China last week and the craft and its three-man crew have not been returned.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the Chinese had been asked to "see to it that the crew and the helicopter be found and returned to the Soviet side.

"But the Chinese authorities have not so far produced any reply to the statement," Tass said.

The Soviet Union and China are locked in an ideological war and disputes about their common border, where one million Russian troops are stationed.

Tass said the landing was made March 14 and the incident was reported to a Chinese frontier representative the same day.

Tass said the Soviet "frontier helicopter" flew into an area south of Beleshi in the Altai region to pick up a sick serviceman but lost its bearings in rough weather.

Nixon Takes Easier Stance On Relations With Europe

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — President Nixon says he believes the United States and its European allies will "work out the differences that we have in the economic and political fields."

Nixon's tone at his Tuesday night news conference was more conciliatory than his warning last Friday that transAtlantic cooperation "is not a one-way street."

The President said he would continue to oppose unilateral U.S. troop cutbacks in Europe, which he had posed as a possible threat during his Friday appearance in Chicago.

Speaking at a convention of the National Association of Broadcasters, Nixon also made an indirect appeal for Soviet help in settling tensions in the Middle East.

"There cannot be permanent peace in the Middle East if the Soviet Union is against it," the President said.

Earlier Tuesday, it was announced in Washington that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will reopen his drive for a military disengagement between Israel and Syria March 29 in Washington.

The disengagement talks are to resume with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan after Kissinger returns from a trip to Moscow to discuss strategic arms limitation negotiations.

The American secretary plans to deal with the Syrians separately later in trying to bridge the "very wide gap" that U.S. officials say divides the October war foes on how much captured territory Israel should yield in the Golan Heights.

At the news conference, Nixon said the United States will remain Israel's friend but that he believes "it is much better to have the United States as a friend of Israel's neighbors and thereby able to influence and perhaps restrain their policies."

Nixon said he is optimistic the Arab oil embargo will not be renewed, even though the Arabs said they would review June 1 their decision to lift the embargo.

On the U.S.-European cooperation issue, Nixon said he was happy with the initial response of French officials to his criticism of lack of progress in adopting a common set of economic and political principles with the United States.

The President last week ruled out going to any summit meeting with the Europeans unless there is agreement on new declarations of cooperation.

Urge Change In Miranda Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is urging the Supreme Court to permit use of some evidence gathered from suspects who have not been fully advised of their rights.

The issue, to be argued before the justices today, involves a facet of the court's controversial 1966 Miranda decision requiring police to inform suspects of their right to remain silent and their right to a lawyer, without cost if necessary.

If the full warning is not given, no statements made by a suspect may be used at his trial.

But if police are led to evidence by those statements, it should be used, the administration has argued in a friend-of-the-court brief submitted by U.S. Solicitor General Robert H. Bork.

Today's argument comes in a case from Michigan in which the state is trying to preserve the 1966 rape conviction of Thomas W. Tucker.

When arrested, Tucker was advised of his rights to silence and counsel but not of the avaiability of free legal help.

Tucker denied the rape, saying that he was with an acquaintance at the time it occurred. The acquaintance not only failed to support the alibi but offered damaging testimony for the prosecution.

Lower federal courts voided Tucker's conviction. Police found their witness only through Tucker's statement and therefore the testimony should be excluded, the courts ruled.

Bork's brief argued that neither the Constitution's protection against self-incrimination nor the need to guard against "third degree" interrogations by police require such a stringent rule of exclusion.

Instead, Bork urged adoption of an "intermediate rule" that would ban use of statements made by those not fully advised of their rights while allowing prosecutors to use otherwise legitimate evidence stemming from those statements.

Snow Falls On Final Day Of Winter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and freezing temperatures rolled over the central Rockies and adjacent Plains today, the last day of winter.

Spring begins at 8:07 p.m. EDT, but the message was misplaced in Lander, Wyo., where 4 inches of snow covered the ground. Valentine and Scottsbluff, Neb., both measured 2 inches of snow.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for the mountains of Colorado and Wyoming and for northeastern Colorado.

Stockmen's advisories were issued for the central high Plains because of snow and cold winds. Winds gusting to 40 miles per hour lashed Rapid City, S.D., before dawn.

Thundershowers spread from the lower Mississippi Valley to the southern Appalachians with more than an inch at Greenwood and Columbus, Miss., and Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Hail the size of marbles pelted an area near Birmingham, Ala., and winds damaged a cotton gin at Delhi, La.

Light rain sprinkled the southern Rockies and the middle Atlantic coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 7 at Butte, Mont., to 75 at Brownsville, Tex.

Teens Credited With Capture

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police have credited three Cincinnati teenagers with the capture of a 17-year-old robbery suspect.

Police said Terry Adams and Wayne Sturgill, 14, began chasing the suspect after he allegedly held up a north side drugstore. The pair was joined by Adams' brother, Jimmy.

When the suspect dashed down an alley and into the Adams' home, Jimmy followed him in and kept him cornered with a pool cue until police arrived.

Nuns Operate Bar In Hospital

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A community of nuns is managing Ireland's newest bar. It's also the country's first bar in a hospital.

"Medically, I think it is a good thing to have a bar in the house," said Sister Theophane Collins, the spiritual director of the new 150-bed hospital near Newmarket-on-Fergus, in County Clare.

The hospital is operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

Kiwanians Hear How To Prevent Injuries

SAFETY OFF THE JOB—Charles Brackett, right, safety supervisor at DuPont, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis meeting Monday. Brackett commented, in his speech concerning Safety Off The Job, that all injuries can be prevented. He was introduced by Doyle Painter, left, program chairman.

The Circleville Kiwanis Club met 6:30 p.m. Monday at Pickaway Arms with Fred Bower, president, presiding.

Guest speaker for the program was Charles Brackett, safety supervisor at DuPont. Speaking on the topic of 'Safety Off the Job', Brackett showed a movie entitled "You and Office Safety" stressing that it is the little things that cause injury.

"At DuPont," Brackett commented, "the philosophy is that all injuries can be prevented." "This can only be accomplished by safety training, establishing safety rules and recognizing safety hazards," continued Brackett. The local DuPont plant has not had a lost time injury since October 1969, yet 118 off plant injuries have occurred during that same period.

To improve off-plant safety, the company is working by a distribution of a family safety magazine, persuading employes to take safety training, literature, discussions at safety meetings, awarding employees with no off plant injuries and an open house at the plant regarding safety information.

The Rev. Eugene Flowers, pastor of the Good Shepherd United Methodist, presented a five minute Lenten message.

Other business included the election of Mike Wilson to the Board of Directors and Fred Bower for the Fastest Gun Contest.

Plans were announced for members to attend the Country Dinner Playhouse May 14 to see "Sunday in New York." Those wishing to go should contact Gene Dowler.

Conservation Fund Increase Promoted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to increase from $300 million to $900 million the annual authorization of the Land Water Conservation Fund Act was introduced Tuesday by U.S. Rep. John F. Seiberling, D-Ohio.

The act provides funding for the acquisition of park and recreation lands.

Plant Fruit Trees; Lower Food Budget

Your own apples, pears, peaches, cherries, citrus, plums, fruits of any kinds—all in beautiful, bountiful, healthful harvest from your own trees: this is the miracle that can keep happening for you year after year because trees you can plant now are perpetual food producers, permanent inflation fighters.

Since this is the time to add fruit trees to your landscape plan, authorities from the American Association of Nurseymen offer a few planting tips. The garden center or mail-order nurseryman who provides your trees will have valuable specific instructions, but these general suggestions will be helpful.

The first consideration, the nursery people point out, is the location of the new tree. It should be close to the home, for convenience and landscape beauty, but far enough removed from building structures to make sure limbs and roots will not interfere. Placement should be where soil drains well and where there is sufficient sun.

Once the appropriate location is determined, a hole should be dug large enough to accommodate the bare roots in their natural shape. In the case of balled and burlapped trees, the hole should be about twice the size of the ball.

Place the tree straight up in the center of the hole, making sure the soil fits snugly around the roots to avoid air spaces. Shake the tree gently up and down while backfilling the hole to help pack the soil firmly around the roots. The base of the tree should set about the same depth or slightly lower than it did in the nursery.

After planting is completed, water lightly (but don't soak). Future watering should be sufficient to moisten the root system during hot months. Avoid over-watering, because this can restrict the needed air supply for the tree.

Protect the trunk of the new tree from sun or wind damage. Strips of burlap, cloth, tree paper or foil wrapped in a spiral from the base to the lower limbs accomplish this. Loosen the wrapping as the tree grows.

While your fruit trees are feeding your family and friends and allowing savings, they help make your corner of the world a better, prettier place to be. If you have not been enjoying these very special benefits, the best of all times to begin is now.

Forestall Weeds

Not only are crabgrass preventers helpful in the lawn, but they can be applied at this time of year to shrub borders and garden areas which will not be cultivated. They should prevent the sprouting of annual weeds throughout spring.

Noise Abatement

Turf grasses and other green vegetation act as "acoustical blocks" to deflect, absorb and muffle undersirable traffic, street and community sounds.

Pollution Barriers

Lawngrasses not only look nice, but they can absorb pollutants such as toxic sulfur dioxide and ozone from the air. At the same time they release oxygen, humidify and cool their environment.

For A Promising Rose Garden

No question about it, the rose is by far and away America's favorite flower, and there are varieties to please anyone's taste. They come in all sizes, shapes and colors, and grow abundantly almost anywhere when they are properly planted and cared for.

This is a good season to put the roses in, and American Association of Nurserymen has identified seven simple steps to follow in the planting process. The nursery experts suggest that the plants be kept in a cool place out of the sun until they are put in the ground, and that they be soaked in water shortly before planting.

The first step — Clip off dead or broken roots or shoots.

Step two — Dig a hole 15 to 18 inches deep, depending on the size of the bush.

Step three — Begin to fill the center of the hole with fine soil until there is a mound on which to rest the center of the root system beneath the base of the plant.

Step four — Very carefully place the center of the roots on the top of that mound and spread the roots out over the soil. Work with the soil to form a firm packing around the roots, making sure to eliminate any air pockets.

Step five — Backfill the hole, packing it firmly against the roots. In cold climates the bud union (where the top and roots meet) should be about two inches below the ground level. In warmer areas, the bud union should be at or slightly above the ground level.

Step six — When the hole is about half full, add a little water, then complete filling the hole with soil, continuing to pack it down firmly.

Step seven — Water the bush generously.

Roses require nitrogen, phosphorous and potash as primary elements for their healthy growth, and these can be obtained from commercial fertilizers or from natural materials. Feeding should begin in early spring and be done as often as necessary. Sow the fertilizer two to three inches into the soil surrounding the plant perimeter, and water immediately afterwards.

Roses require a good soaking at least once a week, and rainfall is often not sufficient. At least an inch of water — enough to soak to the roots — should be given to the plant each week. A mulch is not a necessity for roses, but it can help protect roots from high temperatures in the summer and keep weeds at a minimum.

Further advice is readily available from AAN member garden centers or mail-order nurserymen.

Growing Lawns In Shade

Even those grasses recognized as good shade varieties find the going difficult if shade is heavy. The grass can be helped by raising the mowing height. Regular fertilization, deep watering, and avoidance of excessive wear also aid.

Fungicides should be applied if disease threatens; disease often makes greater inroads where shade keeps plants at less than full strength.

University Research Yields Grass Bonus

Homeowners are now experiencing a pay-off from the rather unheralded turfgrass breeding programs conducted for many lean years at university research centers. Select varieties becoming available for home lawns include these:

From Rutgers, where Dr. Funk and his students have accomplished outstanding hybridization work, come Adelphi, Bonnieblue, Galaxy, Glade, Majestic Kentucky bluegrasses and Manhattan perennial ryegrass. The Rutgers bluegrasses are notable for resistance to disease, low-growth, and a lengthy season. Most of them have an attractive dark-green color. Manhattan, too, is low-growing for a ryegrass, a deep green, and unusually hardy.

The University of Rhode Island, in keeping with the state's diminutive size (though not its turfgrass talent), is responsible for some of the dantiest of the fine turf varieties. Kingstown is a gem-like velvet bentgrass, the "ultimate" in delicately-textured turf. Exeter is a superlatively uniform colonial bentgrass. Jamestown is the most dwarfish of the nation's Chewings fescues, and exceptionally dark green as well.

Pennsylvania State University is well known for turfgrass research. Penn State gave America its first multi-line fine fescue, Pennlawn. Later came the outstanding Penncross creeping bentgrass, a synthetic hybrid from intercrossing in the field of three parental lines.

Pennstar Kentucky bluegrass is a delightful selection in the mold of Merion (a variety also "polished up" at Penn State from a Philadelphia find). Pennstar comes from European stock.

Pennfine perennial ryegrass is Penn State's most recent release, a beautiful narrow-leaf rye that is hardy and mows neatly.

From farther west comes Sodco Kentucky bluegrass, a blend of four bloodlines painstakingly selected at Purdue University in Indiana, but utilizing some Missouri breeding stock. Sodco is quite low, slow-growing, and compatible in blends.

State universities in Oregon and Washington have developed several varieties of fescue, bentgrass and bluegrass. But perhaps most notable from the far West is Nugget Kentucky bluegrass, a release by the University of Alaska. Nugget is unusually dense and dark green, a bluegrass innovation that has become the talk of the turfgrass world.

A Hint For Hedges

This is a good time to give your hedges their annual trimming to maintain their good appearance and healthy life. One suggestion from the American Association of Nurserymen is timely.

While your personal preference as to design and shape of the finished hedge should be observed, the bottom should be wider than the top. If an attempt is made to trim the hedge to a perpendicular form or with too narrow a base, lower branches are likely to die from lack of light and air, and practically nothing can restore new branches to take their place.

Create Backyard Wildlife Refuge

Your own yard can be a stage where wild animals are the stars and people are the audience. Colorful birds feeding their youngsters, fish weaving among the water lilies, dragonflies darting above a little pool, timid little outdoor creatures picnicking on the lawn—all this and more is a most rewarding gift nature has for you.

Any yard of any size—even a window box, if that's all the space you have—can become a wildlife haven with good planning and very modest cost. The simple basic needs are food, water, and protective cover, all designed for the kinds of guests you wish as backyard neighbors.

The American Association of Nurserymen has a few pointers on the subject—and suggests that further information is available from almost any AAN member garden center or from the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, Washington, D.C. 20036, which has published an authoritative article on the subject.

To meet the feeding requirements of wildlife in you urban setting, the AAN suggests a variety of vegetation—from berries to nuts—to meet year-round needs.

The wildlife's critical need for water can be met with a simple bird bath or ground watering device. (It's a good idea to keep this type of water source elevated to protect against cats and other predators.) However, the most desirable and attractive approach is a small pool with an area large enough to support plants that grow in water as well as around the edge.

Your animal tenants will need protective cover, and this will vary depending on the different species . . . rock piles or stone walls for some, brush piles or dense shrubs for others, evergreens and other trees or bushes for some. These additions to your landscape provide a home base, a source of food in some cases, and a safe haven for the birth and raising of young. All this can be arranged to meet the needs of wildlife guests while it is pleasing to your eyes as well.

Even if space allows only the preparation of a window box, it is possible to create a wildlife refuge in miniature by including those same three elements: food, water, cover.

The important need is to restore some balance of nature to a brick and asphalt enviroment. As anthropologist Rhoda Metraux has written, "Only when man has incorporated into the urban setting all that he once gained through living in nature will he be fully and faithfully urbanized."

Spring Seeding

Damaged portions of a lawn should be spot-seeded early to make the spring growing season as lengthy as possible. Seeding grass on frost-pitted soil is often effective.

But sloppy soils, unworkable as they thaw, make a poor seedbed. Wait until the ground dries enough so that its surface can be scratched with a rake, loosening the soil enough to catch the grass seed.

Don't Starve Turf

Nearly all professional turf managers and researchers agree that, dollar for dollar, a good fertilization and liming program will do more toward getting and keeping a lawn to be proud of than any other single management practice, according to the Fertilizer Institute, Washington, D. C.

Liming and fertilization is an essential part of an overall management program including proper mowing, irrigation or water control, weed and thatch control and insect and disease protection.

For proper growth, grass plants require adequate supplies of many nutrients, some in minute quantities. But calcium, nitrogen, phosphorus, (phosphate) and potassium (potash) in relatively large quantities are essential.

Calcium is necessary for cell and root formation and general plant vigor. In addition, calcium in limestone increases the availability of plant nutrients and the activity of soil micro-organisms through its effect on soil reaction (acidity or alkalinity of the soil.)

Nitrogen is necessary for general growth and for good green color. Phosphorus helps develop deep, healthy roots. Potassium is vital to many plant physiological processes and promotes disease resistance and winter hardiness.

A properly limed and fertilized turf is better able to withstand drought, has less weeds, is more resistant to insect and disease injury, and has a pleasing green color.

If you have questions about the amount of nutrients your lawn needs, talk with your local lawn and garden center specialist.

Perennial Plants Pay Off

A profusion of color and beauty, from spring through autumn, with plenty of blooms for indoor arrangements or table decorations—these are the rewards in store when you add perennials to your gardening plans. Perennials keep paying off year after year without replanting and this is the time to get started.

The choice you can make is wide as to colors, sizes, blooming times, location, landscape layout, and so one, so planning your perennial plantings is a fine opportunity to exercise your own creative flair. Your garden center or mail-order nurseryman can advise you about the right selections for your particular conditions of sunlight, soil, drainage, and flowering seasons.

As a general rule, the best results will be achieved by transplanting perennials you select from a reliable source, and a few gardening suggestions have been provided by the American Association of Nurserymen.

The first step is to prepare the soil by spreading organic fertilizer generously (about two inches deep) over the planting area. Work the material into the top eight inches of soil, then rake the area evenly.

Plant the flowers about 12 to 18 inches apart to give them maximum room for healthy growth. The hole prepared for each plant should be about twice the width and depth of the roots.

Place the plants in the holes, making sure the stem parts are standing up straight. Pack the soil firmly around them, then water the planting area thoroughly.
